LETTERS ENDORSING HIS TRANSIT PLAN POUR IN TO MILLER

MANY DEMOCRATS APPROVE

Ex-Controller Metz, Ex-Senator Dodge and Ex-Congressman J. M. Levy Among Them.

ONLY 3 MISSIVES HOSTILE

Manhattan and Brooklyn Real Estate Boards and Other Organizations Praise Recommendations.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 4.—Governor Miller's plan for redeeming and taking out of politics the New York City transit situation is winning popular support in the city, if the Governor's mail, growing in volume from day to day, may be taken as an indication.

Hundreds of letters and messages praising as wise and courageous the recommendations embodied in his message to the Legislature are reaching the Governor daily. W. Ward Smith, his secretary, said today that only three letters had been received condemning the plan and that the censure in these was based on the misconception that the Governor's policy would make an 8-cent fare necessary.

Among the writers are many Democrats who vie with Republican correspondents in voicing approval and pledging their support. Among the Democrats who have sent letters or messages are ex-Controller Herman A. Metz, ex-Senator William Copeland Dodge, ex-Congressman Jefferson M. Levy and Professor Leslie J. Tompkins, the latter a Tammany man.

Professor Tompkins, who lectures on law at New York University, devoted part of his letter to the objection raised against the plan on the ground that it involved a violation of the home rule principle. He wrote:

Says Governor Is Right.

"Allow me to congratulate you upon the stand you have taken with respect to the transportation problem of New York City. It is the first indication of light upon a very dark horizon that we have had for a long time.

"I have taught the subject of public utilities in New York University Law School for some years, and easily recognize the truth of your assertion that there has been a lot of loose thinking and loose talking in connection with the matter. A reference to the law of this State, as well as other States, shows you to be right in your law.

"I am somewhat amused at the yell that is being raised with respect to home rule. When you stop to consider that nine other States, to wit, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Illinois, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Colorado and Washington, have asserted that local authorities cannot bind the State, we are not alone in our misery. It is an interesting question whether that can be taken away from us which we never possessed."

Many civic and trade organizations have sent to the Executive Chamber copies of resolutions adopted at meetings held since the transit message was made public. The Board of Governors of the Real Estate Investors of New York today sent the following telegram:

"Your action in dealing with the traction problem deserves complete approval and support of all. We have this day adopted resolutions endorsing your stand and urging the Senate and Assembly to enact at the earliest possible moment legislation embodying your recommendations. Copy of resolutions will follow."

Organizations Support Plan.

A letter was also received from Lewis H. Pounds, ex-Borough President of Brooklyn, containing a copy of the following resolution adopted by the Flatbush Chamber of Commerce:

"Resolved, That the Flatbush Chamber of Commerce, acting through its Board of Directors, duly empowered to act in such matters, after careful consideration of all the questions and elements involved, do hereby heartily endorse the plan set forth in the message of Governor Nathan L. Miller to the Legislature, Jan. 24, 1921. We further obligate ourselves to do all in our power with citizens and members of the Legislature to co-operate with the Governor and make effective the proposals set forth in said message to the fullest possible extent of our influence and ability."

Mr. Pounds said that he attended meetings of three important organizations, at each of which resolutions endorsing the Governor's plan were adopted without a dissenting vote. At another meeting there were three dissenters when similar resolutions were voted on. All three were Democrats, actively identified with the Kings County organization of their party.

"I wish to say that in my judgment Kings County is going to be entirely in accord with your views and message to the Legislature on the transit question," said Mr. Pounds. "I except, of course, the Democratic organization."

The Brooklyn Real Estate Board, through William Raymond Burling, its President, sent the following telegram:

"The Brooklyn Real Estate Board, impressed with the fearlessness of the attitude with which you have approached the transit problem in the City of New York, after most serious and

Great Property Damage Done By Tehuantepec Earthquake

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5.—Considerable property damage was done by an earthquake during Thursday night in districts centring about the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, according to newspaper advices received here tonight.

It is believed that many lives were lost in the region shaken.

The earthquake shocks on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec were recorded on the seismographs at Fordham University and Museum of Natural History in this city and at Georgetown, Harvard, Chicago and other points about 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning. They were seen to be records of a shock of severity and were estimated to be about 2,200 miles south, and probably in Mexico.

LA GUARDIA HINTS AT TRANSIT SCANDAL

Hylan, at Two Crowded Gatherings, Continues His Attack on Miller's Traction Program.

F. H. LaGuardia, President of the Board of Aldermen, in an attack on Governor Miller's transit program at the Bronx County Court House last night, said

"I may have something startling for you in the way of news in the next forty-eight or fifty hours, and so that you will recognize it when it comes, I will say now that it runs into eight figures. Yes, it is connected with traction and it involves a high city official."

"Hope you get him, Mr. LaGuardia," shouted a man in the audience.

"Well, we will do our very best," Mr. LaGuardia replied.

Mr. LaGuardia left the Court House refusing to add to what he had said. He had previously spoken in Brooklyn and followed in the wake of Mayor Hylan to the Bronx.

The Mayor invaded the Bronx last night in his campaign against Governor Miller's traction program and spoke at two crowded meetings, in the County Court House, 161st Street and Third Avenue, and Public School 39, Longwood Avenue and Kelly Street. At both places he was helped out by other speakers, who condemned the Governor's program as an attempt to increase fares and deprive the city of home rule.

Mr. LaGuardia arrived at the Court House after 10 o'clock, where the crowd of 3,000 had previously listened to the Mayor, District Attorney Glennon, Assistant District Attorney Frank Oliver and other officials of the borough. Referring to the Governor's program, he said;

Will Fight to the Last Ditch.

"There is no straddling the fence on this proposition. Your representatives in the Legislature are either for or against this proposition. I am personally opposed to this scheme for depriving the city of its rights, and I will assert here that I will fight to the last ditch, no matter what course other Republicans take."

When he said: "Who is irregular now—Governor Miller or me?" the crowd roared its approval.

"We want to know that the power of control and of supervision of the city's business will remain with the people of this city," he concluded, "and this includes all contracts, Nos. 1, 2 3 and 4, and the $200,000,000 the city has invested in its subways. We must have the final say in these matters or we will know the reason why."

It was at this point, Mr. LaGuardia said, that he might have startling news involving a high city official.

The Mayor aroused enthusiasm by declaring that the city was ready to take over the Interborough and B. R. T. systems and operate them at a five-cent fare, applying the profits to municipal purposes such as the building of schools and hospitals and repaving of streets. He made an urgent plea that the city be allowed to operate municipal buses and said that if given the right the city in less than a year would have 5,000 buses in operation at a five-cent fare to supplement the subway and elevated lines.

The Mayor declared that the Governor's proposal would mean that the dual subway contracts "with their sole beneficial feature to the people of a 5-cent fare can be torn up without so much as asking the opinion or approval of the city." In addition to obtaining an increased carfare, he said, it meant "the dumping on the taxpayers of this city the obsolete, overcapitalized, broken-down surface lines owned by private interests by linking these lines up with the municipally owned subways which are now making a large profit."

The Mayor said that the City Administration was opposed to rural control of the city's transit system, and that it was in violation of the Home Rule

PRESIDENT DRAFTS REPLY TO APPEALS OF RAIL WORKERS

Chicago Executives Hear He Will Leave the Wage Issue to the Railway Board.

ACTING ON PAYNE'S ADVICE

INSIST ON A "SHOW-DOWN"

Executives Are Trying to Deceive Public and Kill Unions, Declares Lauck.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—President Wilson will reply tomorrow to the request of seven railroad labor leaders that he investigate the railroad executives' assertions before the Railroad Labor Board in Chicago that the railroads must readjust wages through abolition of the national agreements or face bankruptcy.

The President, it was stated at the White House tonight, spent part of the day drafting his reply to the unions and hopes to complete it tomorrow. The nature of the reply was not indicated, but it was understood to be based on recommendations submitted by Secretary Payne, who still acts as Director General of the Railroad Administration.

The reply, it was suggested at the White House, would take up points raised in both telegrams sent to the President this week by railroad workers through B. M. Jewell, President of the Railway Employes Department of the American Federation of Labor. The first message, received at the White House Tuesday, asked the President to investigate the statement by W. W. Atterbury concerning the danger of financial collaps of the railroads, and if the statement were found to be true to place the matter before Congress and ask remedial legislation.

The second telegram, received yesterday, was a reply to a telegram sent to the President by Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, Chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, who styled the first telegram of the unions "Plumb Plan League propaganda."

Leaders Deprecate Strike Talk.

Representatives of the railroad workers asserted here today that the Association of Railway Executives was using "guerrilla tactics" in the presentation of their case before the Labor Board and attempting by misrepresentation to deceive the public and wreck the unions.

Talk about the danger of a nation-wide strike was deprecated among responsible leaders, and the prediction was made that there would be no such calamity. On the other hand, it was emphasized that the workers would demand that the railway executives present a clear-cut case.

W. Jett Lauck, economic adviser for the railroad workers in Chicago, was in town today, and asserted that the railway executives were basing their case on a few roads which were not representative of the systems as a whole. He challenged W. W. Atterbury and his associates to lay before the Labor Board a general complaint for the railroads which they represent. Such an issue, he said, would be met by the railroad workers on its merits.

Developments before the Labor Board from now on promise to accentuate the charge of an organized effort to weaken the labor unions in the "open shop" fight. But the leaders here are talking "fight" rather than "strike."

"The railroad employes are not having an opportunity to meet the question of a wage reduction on its merits," said Mr. Lauck. "They would be perfectly willing to do this if the railway executives would submit the question of general reduction in wages to the Labor Board. The railway executives are leading the public to believe that they have done this, when, as a matter of fact, they have done nothing of the kind. What they have done is to select a number of roads which have been notoriously insolvent for one reason or another and have made them the basis for wage reduction requests to the Railroad Labor Board.

"This unprecedented situation has been complicated by General Atterbury's carefully staged appearance before the Labor Board Monday. He told the board that if they would abrogate the national agreements of the shop crafts and reduce the wages of unskilled labor, the railroads would not ask for a general reduction in wages. This, on the surface, would seem very sincere and put forward in behalf of the public interest. But to those familiar with the situation the real intent is at once apparent.

"General Atterbury knows that the railroad brotherhoods, or those employes

Descendant of New Jersey's First Governor, At the End a Watchman, Kills Himself

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 4.—Albert Gallatin Wallace Morris, 65 years old, descended from the first Governor of New Jersey, and with distinguished ancestry leading back to the first conqueror of Wales in the twelfth century, committed suicide in a furnished room at 277 Market Street here by slow strangulation some time yesterday or today.

Formerly in circumstances of comparative affluence, Mr. Morris at the time of his death was employed as a night watchman for the Central Railroad of New Jersey. His suicide was discovered when his absence from duty for two days was investigated. He had strangled himself with a belt, one end of which was fastened to his bed post and the other, adjusted as a slip-noose, encircled his neck.

In a work on genealogy entitled "The Morris Family," much bethumbed and containing numerous comments in Morris's handwriting, he had quoted from a remark of one of his ancestors, Sir William Morris, in an address to the British Parliament:

"I say to you, as was said to a young Prince as he was going to a charge, 'Remember your ancestry; remember your posterity.'"

Morris's ancestors, in direct male line, were found in the Revolutionary, 1812 and Civil wars, in the last of which his father, Major William Wallace Morris, served. Major Morris was a well-known figure in Newark thirty years ago.

British Proposal to Annul Allied Debt Rejected by America, Says Chamberlain

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—J. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking in Birmingham tonight, said that he would have preferred at the close of the war that the whole of the international debt of the allied and associated Governments should have been wiped out and that they should all have started with clean slates. There was no proposal for a settlement of the international debt among the allied and associated powers, whether of total remission or partial remission, to which the British Government would not have been prepared to be a party.

"We made such proposals," said the Chancellor, "but they were not acceptable to the Government of the United States. To make them again would be, I think, beneath our dignity and would render us liable to a misconception of our motives.

"In making them we sought no national advantage for ourselves. We proposed a solution in which we should have foregone claims larger than any remitted to us and we proposed it because we believed it would be in the interest of good relations among peoples, the rehabilitation of international credit and the restoration of international trade.

"Our great external debt was due to the obligations we undertook on behalf of our Allies. If we had only ourselves to consider, we could have been practically free of external debt at the present time."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (Associated Press).—Treasury officials refused to comment tonight on the statement of J. Austen Chamberlain that the United States Government refused to accept British Government proposals that the interallied debts arising from the World War be canceled.

No mention has ever been made in official circles here of any proposal officially tendered by Great Britain for cancellation of the interallied debts, but it was recalled tonight that Sir George Paish, the British financial expert, who visited the United States a year ago, put forward some such proposal while in this country. Sir George's mission was not regarded by the United States Government as official, and consequently his proposal did not receive official consideration.

In fact, so far as could be learned tonight, no officials here are aware that the British Government has ever, through any official channel, proposed a remission or cancellation of the British war debt to the United States. Great Britain's indebtedness of about $4,000,000,000 is far larger than that of any other of the allied countries, but this is explained by the fact that Great Britain herself was a creditor country and disbursed American funds to her other allies.

SAYS AUTO THIEF ACCUSED POLICE

TWO IN AUTO SQUAD NAMED

Grand Jury Continues Inquiry Into Charges of Grafting in Public Works Contracts.

Evidence directly linking automobile thieves and members of the police automobile squad has come to ex-Governor Charles S. Whitman in his inquiry into the Police Department. Mr. Whitman expects to present proof of collusion between the thieves and the men charged with the responsibility of preventing such thefts and recovering stolen cars to the Grand Jury within a few days, it was learned yesterday.

Information that members of the automobile squad, several of whom already are under indictment, were in partnership with the very men whom the city paid them to war upon was obtained by Frederick J. Groehl, a former City Magistrate and once more an assistant of the ex-Governor under whom he served when Mr. Whitman was District Attorney. Mr. Groehl got his evidence yesterday from a prisoner in the Tombs. This man, it was said, made a clean breast of things, at least to the extent of admitting that he had stolen automobiles and that two members of the police squad had assisted him in disposing of them.

The arrangement, so Mr. Groehl learned, was for the man in question to steal cars, then send word to the policemen where they could be found. The policemen, so Mr. Groehl understands, would recover the stolen property after they had received promises of suitable rewards from the insurance companies. The reward money then would be shared with the thief.

It was said in the Criminal Courts Building yesterday that Mr. Groehl would not have to depend upon the admissions of the man from the Tombs, whose uncorroborated testimony, as that of an accomplice, would be worthless. The understanding, it was said, was that Mr. Groehl had obtained independent corroboration which would justify his chief in asking indictments.

Not Arrested by Auto Squad.

At the same time it was learned that the man from whom Mr. Groehl got his information was in the Tombs, not as the result of activities of the automobile squad, but was arrested by a patrolman having no connection with that squad.

There was a further report yesterday that one of the policemen involved in this new phase of the investigation had made overtures to Mr. Whitman, looking to his appearance before the Grand Jury as a willing witness, provided he received complete immunity. It is not yet known whether Mr. Whitman will accept the offer, but the belief was that any guilty subordinate who might be in position to start the investigators safely along the trail "higher up" might expect to receive every reasonable consideration.

Mr. Whitman continued yesterday to present to the Grand Jury evidence regarding automobile graft, but did not ask for any further indictments. Thomas O'Connor and John Neun, members of the automobile squad, went to the Criminal Court Building in response to subpoenas and waited to be called before the Grand Jury, but were not asked to testify. Mr. Whitman said that he did not know whether O'Connor and Neun would testify or not.

Mr. Whitman said that others of the automobile squad besides Neun and O'Connor might be asked to testify, but that it would depend on developments how many members of the squad would be allowed to give testimony which would confer immunity on them.

Defends Owen and Horan.

Louis Fridiger, counsel for Owen and Horan, two of the indicted members of the squad, said yesterday that a deliberate attempt was being made to create prejudice against them, and asked the public to suspend judgment until the trials of the members of the automobile squad.

Mr. Fridiger said that a great injustice had been done to the automobile

HAS HIS OWN SPY SYSTEM

Will Come Home When Amnesty Is Declared—Sure Hidden $200,000 Is Safe.

Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Feb. 4.—Because Grover Cleveland Bergdoll controls the post and telegraph systems of Eberbach, I am forced to go to Heidelberg to tell the story of how by one of fate's ironies a man considered a slacker, or worse, in one country has become the hero of another. The incident of Bergdoll and his companions turning the tables on the United States Army operatives has caused a local bard to burst forth lyrically thus:

> As long as the Neckar flows into the Rhine,
> As long as the wind blows through the trees,
> So long will be honored by all Germans
> claimed as German born!

So Bergdoll, the hero of Germany, with his fists full of thousand-dollar bills, a mouthful of chewing tobacco and a brand new racing automobile, now owns the town. He has his own detective system and he controls the local police, press, post office and pulpit. I had good proof of his power when, half an hour after filing a message to The Tribune office, he brought me a copy, saying:

Expects Political Amnesty.

When I explained, he consented to talk freely about himself, liberally punctuating the interview with tobacco juice.

"I ain't got nothing against America, America is all right," he said. "The trouble is with that bunch of crooks and grafters who head our Government. Hell, I am going to stay here until the country is a fit place to live in. After March 4 I expect there will be political amnesty. Then I am going home, but not before I have fixed those d—n fools of army operatives who tried to kidnap and murder me. They are a fine bunch of boobs and fourflushers."

I asked Bergdoll whether he was homesick.

"Naw," he replied. "I have not got a sweetheart in America nor here, and I am having a good time. I've got money, and money will get you a good time anywhere. But I am living quietly. I never cared for the bright lights of Broadway, anyhow."

"I suppose you are worried about your mother being arrested, charged with complicity in aiding you to escape?"

"Naw," replied Bergdoll; "she can take care of herself. But lemme tell you something—I have committed no crime. I ain't a slacker. I am a conscientious objector, and consider myself a good American, and damned sight better than the bunch of crooks heading the country who brought it into war for commercial reasons."

Bergdoll was seconded in his remarks by Eugene Stecher, a former Pennsylvania National Guardsman, who let loose the usual flow of German propaganda about America entering the war in order to protect her loans to France and England, how President Wilson had arranged with England in 1916 to enter the conflict, and other stale arguments which even the Germans are forgetting nowadays. I asked Bergdoll if he was afraid of extradition.

Tells of Hiding $200,000.

"Hell, no," he replied. "First of all, I have not committed a crime. Secondly, there is no peace between the countries, and when peace comes they can only extradite for murder and such. And I don't believe another bunch of guys will try a kidnapping. I am safe here, but I have got a spy system which reports every automobile twenty miles away and every stranger arriving at the station. Everybody is for me here, which is different from America. # LAMONT IS INVITED TO MEXICO TO ACT ON DEBT REFUNDING

Government Takes the First Step to Meet Its Foreign Obligations.

OBREGON ANXIOUS TO PAY

Seeks Ideas of Bankers on Refunding All Debts and Starting Payment at Once.

TREASURY HAS A SURPLUS

Score of Banks of Issue Suppressed by Carranza Are Revived by President's Decree.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 4.—The first step in the settlement of Mexico's foreign debt was taken today, when the Government invited Thomas W. Lamont, the New York banker, to visit Mexico and start preliminary work on the refunding of the foreign debt. President Obregon is determined to comply with the promises made during the political campaign and after taking office to recognize all obligations of the Government and to make arrangements to settle Mexico's just debts.

President Obregon wishes to get the ideas of bankers on the possibility of refunding all debts and starting payment immediately. The Government is now spending less than the budget. The Treasury has a surplus; officials decline to state the amount, but the Government is straining every nerve to have a large amount for the first payment. Obregon recognizes the importance of showing the world the Government means to act, not merely to give promises.

Banks of Issue Revived.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 4 (Associated Press).—More than twenty Mexican banks which formerly had authority to issue paper money and which were closed during the administration of President Carranza yesterday received permission to resume business through a decree made public by President Obregon. The largest of these institutions was the Banco Nacional de Mexico of this city, in which there are heavy foreign investments.

Formal proofs of their right to reopen their doors must be filed by the banks with the Minister of the Treasury within thirty days, although this time may be extended officially to sixty days. Liquidation of the banks' obligations, including the payment of deposits made prior to April 15, 1913, must be paid as follows: All claims less than 2,000 pesos must be paid in gold immediately, and all above that amount must be paid in six years. All paper money must be redeemed in eight years.

Local bankers, when questioned yesterday, were unable to give an estimate of either the assets or liabilities of the various banks affected by the decree. They would not hazard even a conjecture as to the value of the paper money issued by them and now held in Mexico. Rumors that the decree was contemplated caused quite a flurry in banking circles, and the stock of the Banco Nacional rose rapidly during the last few days.

Eduardo Hay, Mexican Minister to Italy, has been recalled from Rome to assume the post of Under Secretary of Foreign Relations, according to a semi-official announcement here.

More than fifty members of an alleged "military ring" have been arrested in this city as a result of the discovery of forgeries and the alteration of important documents in the War Department. At least 10,000 departmental accounts have been falsified, says the Excelsior.

Railways Get Equipment on Lease.

Francisco Perez, Director General of the National Railways of Mexico, accompanied by F. P. de Hoyos, the company's general agent in New York, is touring the country in an effort to obtain equipment with which the increasing traffic on its lines may be properly handled, it was announced at the local offices of the company, 233 Broadway, last night.

It was said that Mr. Perez had succeeded in making contracts with several Southern railroad companies to obtain a considerable number of locomotives and cars under lease. So far thirty locomotives and 200 1,000-gallon tank cars were said to have been obtained.

This equipment, it was said, will help to relieve the traffic congestion existing from points on the border to Mexico City, although further efforts will be made to get additional equipment to improve the service. Business in Mexico was said to have increased so rapidly that the National Railways of Mexico needed assistance in handling the traffic.

Many American railroad officials took a trip through Mexico recently. As a result there was said to exist a better understanding between the National Railways of Mexico and some of the American lines.

RENO, Nev., Feb. 4.—An amendment to the Nevada divorce law which provides that every applicant for divorce must have been a resident of the State for six months preceding commencement of divorce action, was passed by the Assembly of the State Legislature this morning and now goes to the Governor for signature.

The amendment prohibits the "short term" class of divorce except for bona fide residents of the State.

HARDING WILL CALL ARMS CONFERENCE

WANT BUILDING TO GO ON

Favor Adding Airplane Carriers —Would Limit Armaments to Some Extent.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Formal announcement that President Harding would call a conference on disarmament was made before the House Naval Affairs Committee today by Chairman Butler at a hearing where high naval officers discussed the naval program, and two, Rear Admirals Sims and Badger, expressed themselves in favor of limitation of armaments to some extent by international agreement. Rear Admiral Fiske, retired, joined the other two in urging completion of the 1916 building program.

While this testimony was being given a sub-committee of the Senate Naval Committee was drafting a report disapproving the suggestion of Senator Borah for six months suspension of naval building by the United States, with Great Britain and Japan. The full committee is expected to adopt the sub-committee draft.

The announcement of Chairman Butler as to an international conference was brief.

"I know that the nations are going to be invited to send representatives to a disarmament conference in the United States," Mr. Butler said, while Admiral Sims was testifying. He gave no details of the plan, which will be part of Mr. Harding's project for preserving peace in place of the League of Nations.

The question chiefly debated, apart from limitation of naval armament, was whether aircraft were superior to battleships. All three of the Admirals opposed abandonment of the battleship at this time, but Sims and Fiske strongly favored expansion of the navy by the addition of airplane carriers. The view of the general board, as given by Badger, was that aircraft had not been developed sufficiently to justify the assertion that they were superior to battleships. The airplane carrier, he said, was perhaps about 10 per cent. superior.

Sims for Limiting Armaments.

Rear Admiral Sims was asked early in his evidence whether he believed there would be an agreement as to limitation or decrease in naval strngth.

"Not an agreement on great decreases generally," said Admiral Sims, "but on certain limitations."

He thought the Powers would accept a limitation, adding:

"It is no longer necessary for Great Britain to have a fleet like she now has. If Great Britain, the United States, and Japan were to cut their naval forces in half, their relative power would remain the same. I think the countries on the other side would welcome an invitation to meet and discuss the whole thing. I think something would come out of it, something in the way of an agreement on a limitation of armaments."

He did not believe there could be any complete abandonment of armaments, saying:

"Nobody is going to take his hand off his gun. He is going to keep it in his holster, anyhow."

Admiral Sims agreed with General Pershing that war with Great Britain was "inconceivable." He indicated that national policies would naturally determine the size of the United States Navy. If the country intended to rely on its navy for carrying out broad international policies, he held that its sea power should equal that of any other nation.

He thought it inadvisable to discontinue navy building here.

"I don't think the completion of this program will make us stronger than Great Britain," he went on. "It may make us stronger in capital ships, but in other things—submarines and aircraft, for example—they will retain supremacy. Our submarines, type for type, are distinctly inferior to those on the other side. In the air Great Britain is superior to an extraordinary degree.

Wants Airplane Carriers.

"So great now is the menace of airplane attacks against a fleet that when our ships now under construction are completed they will be of little use in contact with another fleet, unless adequately equipped with aircraft. We have got to be equal to the air force on the other side. I do not know whether the battleship some day will be knocked out or not."

As to the relative value of the airplane as compared with the battleship, he said:

"If we assume the airplane can do anything like it is claimed it can do, much less what it should be able to do in the future, its value cannot be overestimated.

"Assuming there is no successful means of opposing airplanes by guns and they can do what is claimed for them, should a battleship meet a 35-knot airplane carrier at sea only one result is possible. The carrier would be able to stand off 100 miles and send out airplanes to bomb and torpedo the battleship and destroy her.

"A fleet that has planes can carry out torpedo and bombing attacks at

PARIS, Feb. 4.—In a bitter debate on the reparations issue in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon Premier Briand declared that the treaty of Versailles was dead. It was a dead letter, he said, because the machinery it provided would not work.

The people of France, he said, had been too long deceived, and they might as well face the fact that the Paris Peace Conference had done a poor job. The only way he could see to get justice for France was to maintain the unity of the Allies in the effort to compel Germany to pay. M. Briand informed the Chamber that it must either approve his course whole-heartedly or get some one else for Premier.

After this declaration by the Premier the Chamber did not proceed to vote, but adjourned until next Tuesday.

M. Briand has made the issue clear-cut between himself and ex-President Poincaré, who stands for the execution of the treaty to the letter by force. If Briand succeeds, it means the entry of France into a new phase of after-the-war negotiations. If he fails, it means that Poincaré will be Premier.

M. Briand made his sensational speech in reply to one by André Tardieu, lieutenant to Clemenceau at the Peace Conference. Yesterday M. Tardieu began his attack on the reparations agreement of Jan. 29 and continued it when the Chamber met this afternoon. The galleries were packed, and thousands who crowded the Quai d'Orsay from noon on could not get inside but waited outside for the results. It was recognized that Tardieu was speaking for Poincaré, and interest was at fever heat.

Yesterday Tardieu had contended that in signing an agreement which needed the consent of the Germans Briand had made a mistake. Today he continued his criticism, taking the view that if Briand had stayed within the treaty provisions instead of fixing a forty-two year payment plan he could have got more for France. He accused Briand of accepting only 35 per cent. of France's due. He said the agreement would give France less than she could have got from the allied offers at the time of the Peace Conference. He declared that it would have been better that last week's conference should have broken up in discord, which it came so near doing, than that it should have made such a bargain.

"Are we going to consider the Treaty of Versailles as a scrap of paper?" he demanded as he closed his speech.

Calls Treaty Ideal, but Dead.

Then Briand took the rostrum. He stood there waiting until the applause for Tardieu had died down. He is an old and skilled parliamentarian, but one could see that he was aroused. His tame speech of yesterday was something written beforehand, to be submitted to the Cabinet. This time he was free. In place of the notes of yesterday was the clenched fist.

He began by saying that if France found herself in a painful position today it was not his fault, but that of the Government which held power just after the war and of which M. Tardieu was a member. That was the time to get justice for France, and not two years after the war, he said. Nevertheless, that was the task he faced. He declared that the Chamber was not bound by anything he had done and that it was perfectly free to reject the agreement if it wished to do so; but before that he had something to say.

"I have something to say about the treaty," he said, "for I cannot permit the country and Parliament to continue in the way of illusion and errors. The Treaty of Versailles is ideally perfect. We can find anything we want in that treaty. It has but one fault. Like the celebrated mare of Roland, it is not living. In order that it may live there is a piece of mechanism which must work. But this piece of mechanism is a dead letter, because it does not work. I refer to the Reparation Commission.

"This commission should fix the total of Germany's debt. Then it should record and accept payments by Germany. This commission has something to do with nearly every bit of the treaty. But for the last year there has been no accord in the commission. It has not even been able to agree on the amount of damages.

"The only treaty we have is an accord with our allies. I have thought it essential to maintain this accord, and therefore I submitted to the reduction of our claims. I could have ended the conference in discord, but it ended in accord."

M. Briand then denied M. Tardieu's estimate that he had given up two-thirds of what was due France. He declared that the allied experts estimated that Germany's exports might grow to thirty or thirty-five billion marks, gold, and of that the Allies stood to get 12 per cent. He said that [illegible] the worst he had reduced France's prospects only 30 per cent.

Rebukes Suspicion of America.

M. Tardieu had expressed the fear that other allies would make deals with Germany at the expense of France. To this M. Briand replied:

"Shall we believe that England, that grand country, or America, who came across the seas to take her place at our side on the field of battle, would have such intentions? I would not do our allies such injustice, and M. Tardieu should be ashamed of having insinuated it."

As to the penalties provided against Germany's failure to meet the allied terms, M. Briand said the Allies were in accord, but that was an allied affair, and there was no necessity of giving notice of them to Germany at this stage. That explained why the penalties were not mentioned in the note to Germany setting forth the reparation agreement of the Allies.

"Certainly we face a serious ten years," said M. Briand. "It is a difficult situation. We are face to face with reparations and pensions, and we must mobilize our credit."

He said that negotiations to this end were in progress, but it was not the time to discuss them. He would say, however, that every effort would be made to borrow as little as possible abroad and as much as possible at home. He estimated that in the next ten years French lenders would supply twelve or fifteen billion francs annually, and he hoped that with the German payments that sum would see France through. He said France would finish her reconstruction work in ten years.

"As for you, M. Tardieu," he said, "do you believe the country would follow you? Do you know where your path would lead France? If my route leads to an impasse, yours leads to worse."

This was recognized as a blow at Poincaré.

"I have done my best," said the Premier. "I reproach myself with nothing. If you do not believe me, say so frankly. If you do, give me a unanimous vote to go to the London conference."

M. Briand left the rostrum amid cheers.

Tardieu Wanted to Wait for Harding.

PARIS, Feb. 4 (Associated Press).—The French Chamber of Deputies today heard Premier Briand's explanation of the negotiations at the recent reparations conference in Paris and his assertion that the decisions reached at the conference were the best terms obtainable for France from Germany under the conditions obtaining at present.

The Premier requested the Chamber either to accept or reject the decisions as a whole. It was decided that all the Deputies who had indicated their desire to be heard should speak before a vote was taken on the question, and the discussion was postponed until next Tuesday.

Previously André Tardieu, former High Commissioner to the United States, had continued his criticism, begun yesterday, of the Government on the reparations agreement. His argument amounted to criticism of the allied agreement. All the arguments, he said, tended to show that France was in too great a hurry and should have waited a few weeks to consult the new American Administration.

The date of the conference of experts at Brussels over economic questions affecting Germany, postponement of which was announced yesterday, has been tentatively fixed as March 4 or March 5. The postponement was on request of the Germans, who preferred that the negotiations should not be resumed with the allied experts until after the London conference on the new reparations demands, set for Feb. 28.

THINKS GERMANY MIGHT PAY.

London Economist Calls It Possible in "Very Favorable Circumstances."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Discussing the Paris reparation terms, The Economist points out tonight that the allied statesmen had to consider mutually destructive aims. They had to exact the uttermost farthing of compensation and had therefore to encourage the recovery of Germany's productive power, but they also had to protect themselves against a war of revenge, which might make it desirable to check that recovery.

"The allied rulers have named a sum which seems at first sight impossibly huge, but is much smaller than it looks when allowance is made for the fact that it is payable over no less than forty-two years. It has a total of £11,300,000,000, but when the test of present value is applied it comes down to £3,756,860,000. Perhaps the allied statesmen considered that if Germany could be obliged to produce goods for sale abroad every year to meet their obligations on the tremendous scale proposed, there was no chance of her being able to spare anything for military equipment during the next forty-two years, and that in the meantime the victorious peoples would by means of the wealth so received be able to equip themselves or the League of Nations with so formidable a police force that no threat to the world's peace need be feared."

The Economist then asks "whether it is possible to expect Germany to meet the obligation of 300 millions a year which is demanded of her in eleven years and for thirty-one years thereafter." It might be, it says, under very favorable circumstances.

"The United Kingdom before the war had an annual surplus trade balance of 200 millions, and so it does not seem impossible that Germany at post-war prices could meet the semi-annual instalments."

The Economist's Berlin correspondent says:

"It is admitted in Germany that the progress of production may in the course of years be such that the present war burdens are hardly felt. Moreover, she could meet part—perhaps a large part—of the payments due by borrowing. By exporting, by long-dated promises to pay, she could spread her effort considerably. In any case, it is clear that the allied demands, if enforced in full, will entail a titanic effort on Germany which, if successfully achieved, will equip her with enormous economic strength and will react on the industries of the victors and of the neutral countries in a manner which will be resented by those affected."

PLEDGES SOCIALIST SUPPORT TO SIMONS

Mueller Says Majority Faction Backs the German Government in Indemnity Crisis.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—It is now pretty certain that Germany will send no delegates to Brussels, contending that it is no use to discuss ways and means by which the necessary sums are to be found, so long as the full amount of reparations is not definitely settled and the Government cannot give its promise to fulfill its obligations.

State Secretary Bergmann this morning gave the Cabinet a full report of the impressions he gathered in Paris, but THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent is informed that he was unable to add anything to elucidate the events that led to the fait accompli which proved such a stupefying surprise to Berlin. Apparently Bergmann, as well as Simons and the whole Cabinet, expected an entirely different result from the Paris conference.

As yet there are no signs of weakening on the part of the Cabinet, and, indeed, this time the Entente must reckon with Germany's refusing to play the game, whatever may happen, unless the regular Socialists alter their minds. But ex-Chancellor Hermann Mueller, who is regarded as their most active and influential leader in Berlin, assured THE TIMES correspondent this morning that his party would stand inflexibly behind the Government in this crisis, although it is considered inopportune for any of its members to join the Cabinet before the Prussian elections have been held.

The German proposals to be submitted in London, if Germany receives an invitation to the conference there, will contain exhaustive statistics to show the maximum that Germany can pay during the next thirty years. It is said that convincing evidence will be adduced that, unless these figures are made the basis for a final settlement, there is no hope for Germany's future, and no hope of the Entente's getting its money.

Among the German public one often hears the conviction expressed that America can and must interfere, because the Entente countries look to her to cash the German promissory notes.

In banking circles, however, the situation is epitomized thus:

"If the Paris program is the Entente's last word there will be no German promissory notes. If the Entente will listen to reason, however, and accept in London what Germany can honestly offer, neither America nor any other creditor will run any risk with her promissory notes."

Germans Balk at Coal Deliveries.

BERLIN, Feb. 4 (Associated Press).—The Reparations Commission has received from Berlin a note saying that Germany will not deliver the amounts of coal called for by the commission for the next six months. This is in reply to the notification to Berlin that Germany is expected to deliver 2,200,000 tons monthly, instead of the 2,000,000 provided for at Spa, and also to make up the 500,000 tons by which she has failed to meet the Spa arrangement.

This agreement, under which Germany received as a loan the difference between the German domestic price and the world market price for coal, and also an extra 5 marks gold per ton, expired Jan. 31. Germany having proved that in return for money she could approximately meet this demand, and her coal production having increased, the Reparations Commission added 10 per cent. to the amount demanded; but, naturally, payment for the coal is discontinued.

Without money coming in, Germany apparently looks at the matter in a different light, and is against turning over so much coal for no other purpose than to pay her reparations bill.

The German note says that German industry needs the coal and Germany cannot deliver more than 1,800,000 tons per month, and that only if the Spa payment arrangement is continued.

The question will be referred to the London conference.

FORBID CARNIVAL BALLS IN GERMANY'S EVIL DAY

Prussia and Other German States Thus Mark Their View of Indemnity Situation.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—In view of the "serious times" through which Germany is passing the Prussian Minister of the Interior has just directed all provincial Governors and the Police President of Berlin not to issue any more licenses for balls for the present carnival season and to restrict the entertainments for which licenses have been granted as much as possible. Although he would not prohibit dancing altogether on account of the great loss to those who have arranged such balls and whose living depends upon them, the Minister voices the hope that any excesses will be suppressed.

Much indignation having been expressed because the Press Ball, one of the principal social events here, was held Saturday, when the Entente notes arrived, the National Press Organization officials declare that it was a technical impossibility to recall 5,000 cards of admission at the last hour.

The Socialist Labor Party in Munich arranged a mass meeting last night, at which many thousand workmen passed the following resolution:

"We expect that the Bavarian Government will protest most energetically against any inclination on the part of the Federal Government to deviate from the view expressed in Dr. Simons's speech. The German people itself has the right to reply to the Entente's demands. We demand a plebiscite. We ask the German people to enter upon a national strike, if necessary."

Thousands then formed in line and marched through the streets, making demonstrations in front of the homes of the representatives of the Entente.

VIENNA DANCE FEVER REACHES NEW HEIGHTS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Feb. 4.—The dancing mania here is slowly reaching a climax before Lent puts a theoretical stop to its balls and "redoutes" are proclaimed by every means of advertisement, and each seems to vie with the other in surpassing in absurdity and cost.

Students' corps and various private societies are taking part in the fever. There is a hunters' ball under the name of "ball vom Grunen Kreuz." The ladies must attend in milkmaid costumes, the men in hunting outfits.

But the public subscription balls are the chief events. There is a bad boys' ball, at which the ladies must be dressed in short skirts and sailor hats and the men in knee breeches; this is going to be an immense event and has long since been sold out. The tickets cost originally 200 kronen (more than £8 nominal), but so great has been the demand for them that they now bring 3,000 kronen.

Then comes a ball with the descriptive name of "A Silly Evening With the Masters of the World" which has boldly perverted Karl Marx's trumpet call and taken as its motto "Silly Asses of the World Unite." The hall where it is to be held is to be ornamented with a silly castle, a silly mill, a silly cabaret and a silly restaurant.

There is to be a solemn procession for silly asses and then dancing to the accompaniment of a "silly ass" orchestra, which means an orchestra, playing all the usual dance music with variations, consisting after a certain point of mere increase in brazen noise. A few days ago a great opera redoute was held, the first for more than twenty years. This used to be the culminating point of the old Viennese social season, but now apart from the Diplomatic Corps it is attended mostly by the very new rich. A box in the first tier cost 20,000 kronen (more than £830 nominally).

Most of these balls have a good cause tacked to the end of the program, usually some charity, and all are alike in their dullness. They are attended almost wholly by unattached foreigners and the new rich.

UNEMPLOYED IN CHILE KILL TWENTY SOLDIERS

Storm Nitrate Plant With Dynamite and Guns and Later Assassinate the Manager.

VALPARAISO, Chile, Feb. 4.—Unemployed workmen at the San Gregorio nitrate plant in Antofagasta Province clashed with a military guard today and twenty of the soldiers were killed, according to advices from the district received here today. After the encounter the workmen, who outnumbered the guard, are reported to have proceeded to the office of Daniel Jones, the administrator of the plant, and assassinated him.

The authorities have taken steps to quell the disorders.

Having become dissatisfied with arrangements made to provide foodstuffs, say the dispatches from Antofagasta, the workmen on Thursday threatened to kill the administrator unless he gave up the keys to the commissariat. The attitude of the men led the garrison to take extra precautions for defending the stores, and reinforcements were sent for, but these failed to arrive before the clash.

The workers, who also suffered casualties, are alleged to have exploded dynamite and used guns.

Can Be No Approach Until South and West of Ireland Abandon "Horrible Methods," He Says.

BELFAST, Feb. 4.—Sir Edward Carson, who has been leader of the Ulster Unionist Party for eleven years, formally resigned his office at a meeting of the Council here today. Sir James Craig was unanimously elected as his successor.

In various speeches made on this occasion and later at a luncheon, the desire was expressed for a rapprochement with the south and west of Ireland. Sir Edward declared amid applause there could be no possible commencement of approach until the south and west abandoned the "horrible methods" which they had pursued in the past and were pursuing now. Reference was made to the possibility of the King or else the Prince of Wales opening the new Ulster Parliament when it is constituted.

Although no date is yet fixed for the elections, now that the future leadership of the Unionist Party is settled, the organization of constituencies in advance of the event is in preparation.

Intimating that steps must be taken to organize the women's vote the Duchess of Abercorn proposed that in proportion to the number of women voters in the local area they should have representation on committees of the Ulster Council and on county selection conferences. This proposal was adopted.

Sir Edward Carson in resigning his leadership said the reason was simply a question of age and energy. He felt himself unequal to the strain which would devolve upon the leader of the party in the new Parliament.

"At the same time," he said, "I am as enthusiastic about our cause as ever I was."

As their representative in the Imperial Parliament he might still be able to be of good service.

Commenting on the responsibilities of the Ulster Parliament, he urged them to insure that the Catholic minority should have nothing to fear from the Protestant majority.

"When we are represented as bigots," he continued, "intolerant toward those who differ from us in religion, I believe it to be false. What has driven us asunder is not religion itself, but the fact that a majority of those who differ from us in religion would not accept loyalty to King and Constitution. If they had I believe there never need have been acute differences between us at all."

Examining the possibility of a united Ireland, Sir Edward asked if the south thought they were getting nearer to Ulster by murder and assassination, by boycott of Ulster's trade and goods. No, Ulster might be won by argument, by sincere profession of loyalty, but it would never be coerced.

BELFAST, Feb. 4 (Associated Press).—The Ulster Unionist Council today elected Sir James Craig, M. P., leader of the party in the new Parliament to be set up for Ulster under the Irish Home Rule act. Sir Edward Carson presided over the Council session.

Sir Edward in handing over the reins of office as leader of the Unionist Party said a great chapter in history in Ulster had closed, that the great fight had gone through without a single act which would disgrace the Province.

"We have a clear record," said Sir Edward. "Let us preserve it."

Regarding talk of a United Ireland, Sir Edward said:

"Ulster can be won by sincere professions of the same ideals of loyalty to the throne, pride in the throne and acceptance of those principles which have made the country great throughout the world, but she will never be coerced. There can be no possible commencement of an approach between the North and the South of Ireland until the South and the West abandon the horrible methods they have pursued and now are pursuing."

Sir James Craig, in acknowledging his election to the leadership, declared that his policy in the future would be that of the past—no surrender to the disintegrating forces in Ireland.

LORD DUNSANY FINED.

Released by Court-Martial After Payment of £25.

DUBLIN, Feb. 4.—Lord Dunsany, poet and playwright, pleaded guilty today when brought to trial by court-martial on the charge of possessing arms and ammunition. He was fined £25, with the alternative of spending three months in prison. On payment of the fine the court released him from custody.

Lord Dunsany was arrested recently after a search of Dunsany Castle, in County Meath, had disclosed several shotguns and other sporting arms. It had been found that game was being shot on the Dunsany estate, and the military in consequence raided his castle and found the sporting weapons. The specific accusation against him was the keeping of firearms and ammunition not under effective military control.

Lord Dunsany in a statement declared his loyalty to the Crown. He said he had fought against the Sinn Feiners, the Boers and Germans. "My house was built as a stronghold to safeguard the power of the Crown," the prisoner asserted.

Counsel said Lord Dunsany had been wounded in the World War (he was wounded April 25, 1916), and had been punished by the Sinn Fein, and that it was unfair that he should be punished by both sides. He read a letter from a Government official complimenting Lord Dunsany for his propaganda work in the United States before that country entered the war.

In pleading guilty Lord Dunsany admitted the possession of arms, but said they were merely sporting weapons or curios.

THREE BOMBS THROWN AT A DUBLIN LORRY

DUBLIN, Feb. 4.—Three bombs, it is stated officially, were thrown at a military lorry this afternoon at the junction of Swing Bridge and the Custom House. Two of the bombs exploded. One civilian was wounded. Auxiliary police were promptly on the scene and a number of persons were held up and searched in the neighborhood of the outrage.

Two further deaths have resulted from the ambush at New Pallas Green, Limerick, on Thursday afternoon, bringing the death roll to eleven. Six of the victims were Englishmen, two Scotsmen and three Irishmen, the latter being members of the old R. I. C.

The general court-martial was assembled in City Hall this morning to try two young men for connection with the murders of officers on Sunday, Nov. 21, last. When the court assembled the President said a message had just been received from the convening officer that one of the witnesses for the prosecution had been wounded yesterday in an attempt to assassinate him. The court adjourned until the witness would be able to attend. The witness is the Major who was shot at in a Dublin café yesterday.

It is stated in the official review of the week's events that fifty-eight persons have been sentenced to five years penal servitude each for the offense of assembling at a dance with armed sentries. The dance party took place in a mansion at Bunff, thirteen miles south of Limerick, early on the morning of Boxing Day. The place was surrounded by Crown forces, shots were fired by Sinn Fein sentries and a policeman was killed. The fire was returned. Five of the sentries were killed and the 138 persons attending the dance arrested.

DUBLIN, Feb. 4.—In an official reprisal carried out yesterday the post office and a business house at Williamstown were burned. The burnings were on account of the ambush of Jan. 28, in which Divisional Commissioner Holmes of the Royal Irish Constabulary was fatally wounded, dying the following day. Five constables also were wounded in this attack.

Houses in the village of Kilbrittain, County Cork, were searched by the military today. Twenty arrests were made, and a young man, Patrick Crowley, was shot dead while attempting to escape from one of the houses.

The first attack on police barracks in County Armagh occurred last night. A strong force of Sinn Feiners made the attack and after a two hours' fight was beaten off.

BELFAST, Feb. 4.—Sentences of six years' penal servitude each were imposed today upon the eight men who were arrested on Oct. 25 last, when discovered on the Kingstown mail boat, wearing Irish Volunteer uniforms, on their way to attend the funeral in London of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork. The sentences, however, were made three years actually in each case, three years being remitted.

Three men who were found with revolvers at a recent dance in Kingstown were sentenced to ten years in prison, of which five years were remitted.

Daring attempts were made today to capture a naval officer engaged as a King's messenger in carrying important Government dispatches from Dublin to the mail boat at Kingstown for transmission to London. The first attempt, made near Trinity College, having failed, a second was made at Ball's Bridge. This also was unsuccessful, none of the shots fired hitting the officer and he reached the boat safely.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Daily Graphic says today that Secret Service agents have discovered a plot to blow up old Scotland Yard in London, which is being used as a recruiting depot for the Royal Irish Constabulary.

The plan, the newspaper declares, was for the conspirators to pose as recruits and leave their overcoats, in which powerful time bombs were to be concealed in the building, but, according to report, the courage of the plotters failed at the last moment.

Admiralty Ridicules Sinn Feiners' Account of the Sinking.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Inquiry by the Admiralty into the loss of the British submarine K-5, which sank with all hands off Land's End a fortnight ago, has failed to clear up the mystery which surrounded the cause of the sinking, as there were no survivors and the wreckage gave no clue, but the reports originating in Dublin, attributing the disaster to a new electrically-controlled projectile from an Irish sea craft were ridiculed today by Admiralty officials as fantastic.

"Numbers of governments would like to have a sea-fighting contrivance capable of the performances claimed for this Irish 'hush plane,'" was the comment of one of the Admiralty officials. He pointed out that the sinking had occurred more than one hundred miles off the Scilly Islands.

PALL MALL GAZETTE ABSORBS THE GLOBE

Merger of London Afternoon Dailies Due to the High Cost of Production.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Beginning next Monday afternoon, The Globe will be merged with The Pall Mall Gazette as The Pall Mall Gazette and Globe.

So passes the oldest London evening newspaper—it published its 39,000th number last July—which, with its pink sheets, was one of the familiar features of the streets and bookstalls. Started Jan. 1, 1803, by London publishers to punish The Morning Post for turning their long book advertisements off its front page to make room for small announcements, it has had a long and distinguished career. In early Victorian days it was the official Whig organ, and Lord Palmerston was said to give it exclusive news.

Thirty years later it was a pillar of Conservatism and became known for its literary features. Its "turnovers"—essays filling the last column of the front page and half of the first column of the second—were famous. Its "By the Way" was perhaps the first of paragraph columns, and its "leaderettes" set a new and crisper journalistic fashion.

But before the war it fell on evil days and changed hands with bewildering rapidity. Hildebrand Harmsworth was one of its owners for a short time. After the war started it bitterly criticised the Asquith Cabinet for its slackness, especially against German residents in England, and it was suspended for a fortnight for announcing in November, 1915, that on the eve of his visit to Gallipoli Lord Kitchener had tendered his resignation to the King on the ground that the Cabinet no longer supported him.

Since then The Globe has been an extreme Tory organ, but a mere shadow of its former self.

The announcement of its absorption follows immediately on the declaration by Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express this morning that "the general position of the newspaper industry is extremely serious" and that three metropolitan newspapers are for sale. The Express attributes this state of affairs to the high cost of news print and the fact that newspapers were obliged in 1919 and 1920 to make long-term contracts for paper at £15 per ton more than the prices ruling today. Even proprietors with their own news-print supply are hit because they were obliged to load up at the same period with high-priced chemical work and sulphite pulp.

Furthermore, The Express says, important newspaper flotations have been made in the last few years with excessive capital on which it is very difficult to earn dividends.

The Evening Standard tonight endorses The Express's statements and suggests that the obvious remedy would be an increase in the price of the morning newspapers. Such an increase in the cost of the penny newspapers to 3 halfpence, I understand, has been seriously considered and is merely held up pending the agreement of all proprietors to act together.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 4.—A special dispatch from Stockholm reports that a hundred Bolsheviki expelled from the United States have arrived at Gothenburg from where they are going to Libau on the steamer Soedra Sverige. Martens, former Soviet agent in the United States, had telegraphed he and his comrades would refuse to go on the steamer while the engineers were strikebreakers. At Gothenburg the Bolsheviki again protested, but finally they had to be contented with the Soedra Sverige.

Litvinoff, now the Soviet Minister at Reval, according to a message from there, is trying to make the town a Bolshevist propaganda centre. He has already started several Communist papers in different languages.

GENEVA, Feb. 4.—On June 15 last, THE NEW YORK TIMES announced that ex-Emperor Charles had brought to Switzerland large numbers of valuable crown jewels, adding that he had tried to raise money on them.

As a result of this announcement, the Austrian Government ordered an investigation which revealed that in November, 1918, while Charles was still in Austria, Count Berchtold, then Grand Chamberlain, insisted upon the Austrian Treasury handing over to him some of the crown jewels, alleging that these must be sent abroad for safe custody. Berchtold sent the jewels to Switzerland, and shortly afterward Charles followed them, at the same time taking with him more jewels of which the Austrian Government has no inventory as it has in the case of the jewels sent by Berchtold. The Austrian Government now wants to recover the jewels, the value of which ought to go to the Austrian War Cripples' Fund. Charles, however, refuses to hand them over.

As he still has personal property in Austria valued at 20,000,000 kronen the Austrian Government has said it must have the money for the war cripples whose fund is millions on the debit side, and has offered to submit the matter to arbitration. Charles refused this, although he promises that for the time being he will not sell the jewels.

As I cabled on June 14 last, Charles wanted the British Government to advance him money on these jewels, but it declined. Charles then applied to Spain and the Vatican for an advance and must have obtained advances from one or the other as for some time past he has apparently not lacked money.

Charles expects next Spring to return to Hungary and become its King again. Graf Apponyi, who visited Geneva a few days ago, said quite openly that Hungary could not begin to live again until she had a King. Since then Apponyi has left Geneva for Saint Moritz, where Archduke Max of Austria is staying. A monarchical council has just taken place at Saint Moritz, attended by Archduke Max Frederick, Archduke Eugene, Archduke Peter Ferdinand, Prince Windischgraetz, Counts Berchtold, Apponyi, Forgesch, Andrassy, Voltobini and others.

It was decided that no matter what consequences might result Charles must return to Budapest for Easter. Before this council Charles went incognito to Berne, where he had a long conference with some of his partisans at a small hotel.

At the Castle of Fra, near Geneva, where Charles has been a resident since his arrival in Switzerland, preparations already are being made for his departure. Ex-Empress Zita may not be able to leave until later, as an increase to the Hapsburg family is expected shortly.

To avoid having to pass through Austrian territory Charles may leave Switzerland by airplane.

CONFIRMS POLAND'S RUMANIAN ALLIANCE

Foreign Minister Expects to Conclude Treaty at Bucharest After Paris Visit.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—Poland and Rumania are negotiating a defensive alliance, which will include not only military affairs, but will contain economic and commercial features, Prince Sapieha, Polish Foreign Minister, told The Associated Press today.

"The treaty," he said, 'is now being negotiated, and I hope to conclude it definitely when I go to Bucharest after concluding my visit in Paris. It will be based not only on the Bolshevist danger to both countries but on their general common interests.

"We will soon sign a treaty with the Bolsheviki, and we thing they have no desire for another war," he declared. "We beat them at a time when their chances of success were far greater than now, and we are no longer afraid of an attack by them. However, we do not intend to demobilize our army, because this would invite another attack from Russia."

Prince Sapieha concluded by declaring Poland hoped to be brought closer than ever to France as the result of the present conferences.

It is said in Polish circles that President Pilsudski hopes that his visit here will form the basis of a military, economic and commercial agreement between France and Poland. The economic agreement is now being negotiated and its speedy completion is expected. The other arrangements are likely to take several months in the making, according to the Poles, during which time the French Prime Minister and other French officials probably will pay a visit to Warsaw, such as the Polish President is now paying to Paris.

President Millerand gave a banquet in honor of President Pilsudski and his colleagues at the Elysée Palace last night, Premier Briand, Marshals Foch and Petain and former President Poincaré being present. The Presidents exchanged cordial toasts.

Rumania-Soviet Peace Report.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—A wireless dispatch from Warsaw received here today said Rumania had been advised by the British Government to enter peace negotiations with Soviet Russia. Great Britain, the dispatch added, had offered its services as a mediator. It was asserted that Rumania had requested the Soviet Government to send delegates to Riga to draw up a program for peace negotiations.

BRITISH LABOR FOR TAX ON COUNTRY'S WEALTH

Committee Favors a Graduated Levy to Raise £4,000,000,000—Would Drop Food Taxes.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The joint committee appointed by the Labor Party to inquire into the cost of living issued its second interim report today.

In this it is pointed out that under present conditions 15 shillings out of every £1 of revenue will be devoted to the payment of obligations during the last war and in the maintenance of fighting forces in preparation for possible future wars.

The committee holds that a substantial proportion of the national debt should be redeemed by a graduated levy on all forms of accumulated wealth, and that the levy should be devised to raise at least £4,000,000,000. Persons whose possessions were valued at less than £5,000 should be exempt.

It also suggests that all taxes on foodstuffs and entertainment should be abolished and that taxes on tobacco should be reduced by half. Income tax allowances for dependents, the committee says, should be more generous and the exemption level should be raised. Larger death duties are urged. The committee is of the opinion that reduction of the national debt and of expenditure on armed forces are chief means of the retrenchment.

PREMIER OF GREECE RESIGNS HIS OFFICE

Rhallis Quits as Result of Row With Gounaris Over Going to London Conference.

ATHENS, Feb. 4.—The Greek Cabinet, which was formed on Nov. 18 by Premier Rhallis, resigned late tonight as a result of the controversy between the Premier and the Minister of War, M. Gounaris, as to which would head the delegation which will attend the conference in London late this month.

The belief prevails in some quarters that King Constantine will request M. Gounaris or M. Kalogeropoulos, Minister of Finance, to form a new Cabinet.

A number of adherents of M. Rhallis conferred with him htis morning in the endeavor to dissuade him from relinquishing the Premiership, but he expressed his determination to do so.

It is reported that M. Gounaris offered to resign in order that he might be free to exercise his influence on the majority in Parliament, but that M. Rhallis declined to accept the resignation, saying that he himself would leave office.

BAKER BARS CIVILIAN WORK.

Directs None Be Employed if Officers Can Perform Their Tasks.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—As a part of the War Department's economy program Secretary Baker issued an order today directing that in future no civilian be employed by any branch or agency of the department "unless it can be shown to the Secretary of War that the work involved could not or cannot be performed by the commissioned officers now authorized by law."

The order adds that if through lack of training the officers already commissioned cannot do the work immediate steps be taken to see that they are properly trained.

who are members of engine and train crews, are strongly organized and have such large resources that they would put forward every effort to see that no wage reductions should be made. On the other hand, he knows equally as well that many of the shop crafts and similar organizations have but recently developen their unions and that their powers of resistance are comparatively less.

"It is also a well-known fact in railroad circles that the opponents of unionism, of whom General Atterbury is the chief, have found it difficult to tolerate the new labor organizations.

"The clear purpose of General Atterbury, therefore, obviously was on the one hand not to arouse the brotherhoods by threatened wage reductions while he was engaged in attempting to have the Labor Board partially or wholly destroy the more recently organized unions."

Hear Wilson Will Not Interfere.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Following on the announcement from Washington tonight that President Wilson would reply tomorrow to telegrams from union leaders, asking him to take a hand in the wage controversy, railroad circles received confidential advices from the capital that the President had decided to accept the advice of Secretary Payne, who it is said, is opposed to any interference with the Railway Labor Board.

It was reported that the railroad executives had received reliable assurance that Mr. Payne had advised the President to adopt a "hands off" policy and make it plain to both unions and executives that they would have to deal with the Wage Board. The executives say they are satisfied that they will get a square deal from the board if Washington does not interfere.

While there was an increasing undertone of muttering from the railroad unions and the executives, the Railroad Labor Board went into secret session today to discuss the crisis.

A charge that the railroads have raised a $26,000,000 fund to combat labor organizations is expected to come out Monday when the labor representatives make their answer to W. W. Atterbury's plea for abrogation of the national agreements.

HARDING WILL CALL ARMS CONFERENCE

leisure. There is no doubt of the defeat of the fleet without them. We have got to put money and time behind the development of the airplanes, the aerial torpedo and the airplane carrier.

"If I were King and could do as I pleased, I would take six of the ten battleships now building and turn them into airplane carriers. I would gamble on the airplane that far. But I would not change the battle cruisers. They are essential in combating an enemy fleet."

Badger for Big Navy First.

Rear Admiral Badger, as Chairman of the Executive Committee of the General Board, said he favored limitation of armaments to such an extent as would not "tie our hands."

"More than that would deliver us into the hands of an enemy," he added. "Such an agreement as is proposed might well lead to the grave danger of new defensive and offensive alliances. The greatest danger would be for us to render our means of defense so inferior that should changed international conditions make a strong navy necessary we would find ourselves impotent."

Admiral Badger thought there would be no difficulty in getting a response to a call for a disarmament conference. He was not sure anything definite would come out of it, but it would be worth while trying.

"It would be unwise for the United States to adopt a policy of disarmament in advance of other nations," he went on. "When it is put into effect the United States should have a navy the equal of that of any other country. The 1916 program should be completed before any limitation of armament is agreed to.

"The battleship must remain the powerful unit, although the type must be altered to meet the advancements in science. The semisubmersible type of battleship may be the type of battleship of the future.

"The use of aircraft is inviting the attention of strategists throughout the world. No one at this time can foresee the possibilities of air fighting. It will be great. The navy provided with the best aeronautical equipment will be greatly superior to the one without it. For that reason the General Board recommended two airplane carriers."

Fiske Strong for Aircraft.

Rear Admiral Fiske extolled the accomplishments of bombing and torpedo planes during the war. Then he went on:

"The battleship of today is a capital ship. There is no reason why it will be a year hence. Let us go ahead and experiment in aircraft fighting. Give us two airplane carriers.

"Aviation is ahead of battleship. I may be considered extreme in saying that, but that is my opinion. The airplane carrier is superior in all around fighting powers to any battleship designed today."

Asked if he could alter the 1916 program what changes he would make, the Admiral said he would substitute ten airplane carriers for the ten battleships and continue building the battle cruisers.

General William Mitchell strongly urged the development of aircraft for sea fighting. He explained that the data about the bombing of the Indiana, over which there has been controversy, were obtained by army men who attended the experiment on invitation of Secretary Daniels.

MEMPHIS BANKER HELD IN BOND PLOT

THREE OTHERS IN CUSTODY

New York Chauffeur a Prisoner on Suspicion—Prominent Lawyer Go-Between.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 4.—It is believed by local police officials that all of the $466,000 worth of Liberty bonds stolen from messengers of Kean, Taylor & Co. in New York on Nov. 30 found their way to Memphis. The police have accounted for $225,000 of the stolen bonds, handled by local banks. Of the two batches put through the Union and Planters Bank and Trust Company, $65,000 involved in one transaction are known to have been stolen. In a transaction involving $190,000, $110,000 have been identified as stolen from Kean, Taylor & Co.

The discovery of a sale of $100,000 worth of bonds, of which $50,000 were identified as stolen, was made today. These were handled by I. B. Tigrett & Co., local bond brokers. This makes more than half of the $466,000 of the stolen bonds which passed through local banks or firms. Identification was made from the circular sent out by Kean, Taylor & Co.

Arrest of three persons now out on bail, another being held for investigation, and the questioning of a prominent local attorney were included in the developments today.

Those arrested are W. L. Huntley Jr., who resigned yesterday as Vice President of the National City Bank, charged with buying and receiving stolen property, released upon $10,000 bond; H. Diggs Nolen, charged with larceny and receiving stolen property, released upon $10,000 bond; Mrs. H. Diggs Nolen, larceny and receiving stolen property, released upon $5,000 bond.

New York Man Held.

Jacob K. Rosenburg, a chauffeur of New York, is being held for investigation, but no formal charges have been placed against him. Rosenburg was arrested in a local bank this afternoon when he gave Nolen's name as reference when he tried to rent a house. He was flashily dressed, and said that he formerly drove a cab in New York City.

Nolen has a police record. He served a term in Leavenworth when he was convicted in Omaha for using the mails to defraud and was sentenced for five years. He has been out about six or seven years. He is the proprietor of a drug store here, and his name several times has been linked with drug cases.

Representatives of the Attorney General's office in New York are expected here tomorrow and it is likely that the next twenty-four hours will see some important developments, according to a statement tonight by W. T. Griffin, Inspector of Detectives. Post Office inspectors are assisting in the case.

More Bonds Are Sold.

According to Inspector Griffin, $100,000 worth of bonds were sold by Nolen to Tigreet & Co. A prominent Memphis attorney, whose name the Inspector would not divulge tonight, is said to have negotiated the sale for Nolen. The securities were sold by Tigreet & Co. to a Nashville brokerage firm whose name has not been disclosed.

Inspector Griffin said that $50,000 of the bonds, which constitute the third sale of stolen securities in this city, had been identified as a part of the haul made from Kean, Taylor & Co. They were identified by numbers of the stolen bonds in possession of the Inspector.

"We have traced this sale directly to Nolen," said the Inspector. "At present it seems that Tigreet & Co. purchased the bonds in good faith and with no intention of wrong doing. I am not prepared to say whether the attorney who negotiated the sale knew that the bonds were stolen property."

Officials of the Union and Planters Bank and Trust Company issued a statement that the two transactions by them with Priddy, Williams & Co., bond brokers, came about in the ordinary run of business and that they had no suspicion the bonds were stolen.

Rosenburg gave his address as 2,848 West Thirty-sixth Street, Brooklyn. He carried a New York chauffeur's license.

Officials said tonight that they have the numbers and denominations of $95,000 worth of the securities. The numbers and serials follow:

$5,000 Denomination—A00017036, D00017034, E00017035, A00044226, E00035235, C00010735, E0004425, A00017006, C00044218, D00044224, A00024227; second loan. 4¼ per cent. $10,000 denomination 53528; third loan. 4¼ per cent. $10,000 denomination, 49743, 49444; fourth loan 4¼ per cent. $10,000 denomination, J100219.

There is no such address as 2,848 West Thirty-sixth Street, given by Rosenburg.

LAW BARS RECOVERY OF STOLEN BONDS

$160,000 of Liberty Issue Exchanged by Reserve Bank, Although Identified as Loot.

It became known yesterday that $160,000 instead of $90,000 of the $466,000 in Liberty bonds stolen on Nov. 30 last in Brooklyn from two messengers employed by Kean, Taylor & Co. of 5 Nassau Street were offered for exchange by the local office of C. F. Childs & Co. of Chicago to the Federal Reserve Bank, and that the bonds were exchanged, although the Reserve Bank officials knew that they had been stolen.

The $160,000 worth of Liberty bonds were forwarded to the local office of Childs & Co. soon after officials of their main office purchased $235,000 of the stolen bonds from the Union and Planters' Bank and Trust Company of Memphis, Tenn., on Jan. 28 last. It was said that three $10,000 bonds were sent to the Reserve Bank for exchange into smaller denominations on the day of arrival, and that these were accepted by officials of the Reserve Bank without being recognized as part of the bonds stolen in the hold-up.

Later that day, it was said, another batch of six $10,000 bonds were sent to the Reserve Bank by Childs & Co., but a clerk identified the bonds from their numbers.

The clerk called the attention of officials to the bonds, and an investigation was started which resulted in the discovery that the first $30,000 worth of bonds also were part of the $466,000 obtained in the hold-up.

The local office of Childs & Co. was notified and word sent to the Chicago headquarters. Thomas A. Conway, Vice President and local representative of Childs & Co., then got into touch with Kean, Taylor & Co. While the police and District Attorney Harry E. Lewis of Brooklyn were conducting a joint inquiry into the manner in which the bonds reached this city, it was said, the remainder of $70,000 received by Childs & Co. was presented for exchange to the Reserve Bank and accepted.

It was explained yesterday that the Reserve Bank officials held that they had no right to refuse to recognize Childs & Co. as the legitimate owners of the bonds as these were not registered, and there was no evidence that the officials in the Chicago office had known that the bonds were stolen.

It also was said yesterday that there was little likelihood that the police or District Attorney Lewis would take steps to compel Childs & Co. to return the equivalent of the $160,000 in stolen bonds to Kean, Taylor & Co. It was pointed out that Chapter 43, Section 96 of the Negotiable Instruments law, passed in 1909, protected the purchaser of stolen negotiable bonds and certificates in this State when bought in good faith and at a fair value.

The law was enacted to protect brokers dealing in what is known as "Street certificates" and negotiable bonds, such as unregistered Liberty bonds and other Government bonds. "Street certificates," it was explained, are certificates of stock signed in blank by the authorized officer of the corporation issuing the stock and endorsed by at least two reputable Stock Exchange houses.

Saul S. Myers, counsel for the surety companies in their hunt for more than $3,000,000 worth of securities stolen several years ago from brokerage houses by dishonest messengers, said that the law obviously was an outgrowth of the promissory note law adopted in England more than one hundred years ago. He said that this law is in force in almost every civilized country.

District Attorney Lewis refused to discuss the progress made in the investigation being conducted by himself and Inspector Coughlin, head of the Detective Bureau, into the alleged connection of certain frequenters of the financial district with the robbers in the disposal of the remainder of the $466,000 in bonds stolen from Kean, Taylor & Co. But he intimated that the police were hopeful of making arrests here in connection with the disposal of $235,000 worth of bonds to the Union and Planters Bank and Trust Company of Memphis.

During the afternoon Vice President Conway, head of the local office of Childs & Co., called on Mr. Lewis and was closeted with him for two hours. Mr. Lewis would not comment on the visit.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 4.—Five bandits kidnapped Willis H. Thornhill, 56 years old, a negro United States mail messenger, at the Missouri, Kansas & Texas station in St. Charles at 6:45 o'clock tonight and escaped in an automobile with a registered mail pouch said to contain about $100,000. After obtaining the pouch and forcing the negro to conceal himself in the bottom of the automobile, they drove over the highway bridge across the Missouri River at a terrific rate of speed and arrived in St. Louis three-quarters of an hour later.

Thornhill was forced out of the automobile in St. Louis. He was warned that he would be killed if he reported the robbery to the police within an hour.

The negro told the police that he was seated in his wagon waiting for a St. Louis bound train when five men in a large touring car drove up. All five, armed, got out of the machine and ordered him to throw up his hands. He complied and was ordered to get out of the wagon. Two of the men got into the wagon, took out the registered mail sack and threw it into the automobile.

W. H. Kansteiner, Assistant Postmaster at St. Charles, said the pouch contained heavy shipments of money from St. Charles banks to banks in St. Louis.

REPELS ROBBERS WITH GEMS

Philadelphia Jeweler Uses Tray as Shield, but Is Shot.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—Throwing a trayful of diamonds in the face of two bandits who entered his store, and using the heavy metal tray as a shield to defend himself against their bullets, tonight saved William S. Sturmey, a West Philadelphia jeweler, his gems, if not his life.

A bullet fired by one of the intruders pierced the tray and entered Sturmey's body four inches below the heart. He is now in a hospital in a serious condition, but physicians say his chances are good for recovery. The doctors declare that death would have been instantaneous had not Sturmey broken the force of the bullet with his improvised shield. After the shot the bandits fled.

ADOPTS 'TRIPLETS', CALLS THEM HER OWN

FOOLED EVEN HER HUSBAND

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Feb. 4.—One of the most amazing stories of mother love that the world has known came to light in Atlanta this morning when Mrs. F. E. A. South of 23 Weyman Avenue confessed that the "triplets" supposedly "born" to her on New Year's Eve were not her own; that twin girls "born" to her four years ago were not her own and that she has reared altogether eleven children whom even her husband believed she bore, when in reality they were all adopted secretly because of her great desire for babies.

Mrs. South's husband, who is a clerk in a grocery store at 129 Decatur Street, at first laughed when he was informed of his wife's confession and then was indignant, declaring it was an "infernal lie."

"If she made such a statement, it was because some sinister influence was at work on her," he declared. "They all are my children, and my neighbors will testify to the fact."

While Mrs. South deceived her husband, deceived her children themselves, deceived the newspapers and the public, in fact, deceived everybody but herself and the institutions from which she procured the babies, she has committed no wrong in the eyes of the law.

"I don't like movies, I don't like theatres, I don't like to go out—the greatest thing in my life is children," she declares. "That is why I did it—because I love children and because I wanted to give them the best raising I could, especially the little nameless waifs in the maternity hospitals who have no chance in the world."

Mrs. South declared the reason she deceived her husband with triplets "born" on New Year's eve, but in reality procured from a maternity hospital, was because the women in charge of the "cradle roll" at St. Paul's Methodist Church, of which she is a member, had agreed to educate as missionaries the first triplets born to a church member.

"I have raised all my children to be good men and women," declared Mrs. South, "and I saw here a chance to have three little ones brought up to go out and teach the Gospel to the heathen."

Mrs. South says she is the daughter of a Methodist minister, now dead, and that her mother is dead also. She is now 52 years old. More than ten years ago, she said, her yearning for children to take the place of her grown-up sons and daughters was so overpowering that she hit on the scheme of deceiving her husband with a "fake birth," and she succeeded in fooling him, she said. The plan worked so well that at annual intervals she adopted three more. These four babies she got from institutions the names of which she would not give. They now range in age from 5 to 13, and live at the South home, in complete ignorance of their true origin.

Four years ago she decided to have twins. She got them from the maternity home of Mrs. Mitchell, on Windsor Street, she said. They were boys, but both died. So, two years ago, Mrs. South got two girls from the Windsor street home, which she palmed off as "twins." And then, the last day in December, she procured three little girls from the home to serve as her "triplets."

Mrs. Mitchell, who conducts the home, admitted Mrs. South's statement regarding the "triplets" and "twins." The "triplets," said Mrs. Mitchell, were not really triplets, but were three little girls of three different mothers.

The "birth" of the "triplets" was first announced in the newspapers soon after New Year's. Their pictures were published with Mrs. South's and those of one pair of "twins." Hundreds of people called at the Weyman Avenue home to see them. The church people were extremely interested and the Associated Charities, to whom the case was reported on Jan. 11, sent out two loads of coal to help the family.

And then official Atlanta took note of the case. There was revealed the first inkling that the "triplets" might be bogus.

It was noted at the city health office that no certificate of the "triplets'" birth had been turned in. An inspector was sent to the Weyman Avenue home, and to him Mrs. South gave the name of a doctor. No such doctor could be found. The inspector was puzzled. He reported his findings to the city health office. An attaché of the office, having his suspicions and his own theory about the case, happened to mention it Friday morning to a newspaper reporter. "Say," he ended, "why don't you try that maternity home at 22 Windsor Street? I'm willing to bet the triplets came from there."

And this proved correct, if the statement of Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. South's confession are to be believed.

provisions of the State Constitution. He continued:

"It is a significant and striking feature of the Governor's proposal that the radical legislation planned is only to affect the City of New York. The program as to transit control and the radical change is not to be applied to the up-State cities. Such a scheme of legislation would be in contravention of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Federal Constitution in that it would deprive the City of New York of the equal protection of the laws as guaranteed by that amendment. There would be no reasonable basis in law for such discrimination between the City of New York and the other cities and localities of the State.

"The subways do not need an increased fare. They are a paying proposition. On the subways for the year ended June 30, 1920, the company earned above all operating expenses, taxes and fixed charges $2,630,953.75. These profits have been much more than consumed by deficits on the elevated line, on which the Interborough, under a lease with the Manhattan Railway Company, guarantees a dividend of 7 per cent. on $60,000,000 capital stock, of which a portion is water. It was never intended that the profits of the city-owned subways should be used to help a private corporation pay unwarranted dividends.'"

The Mayor declared that municipal operation had been a success, as had been proved by the operation of an abandoned line on Staten Island, where a 5-cent fare was charged. Another municipal line, he said, would be in operation on the Williamsburg Bridge by March 1.

"The opposition of those who are determined to prevent municipal ownership and operation of the transit system is united," said the Mayor. "How important it is that the people should be equally united in the protection of their rights. Let us stand together on this question and we will surely win. If the sixty-two Assemblymen and the twenty-three Senators will stand together they can stop any legislation which has for its purpose an increase in carfares. It is a duty resting upon these legislators. You should demand that they do their full duty."

At both meetings the Mayor's speeches were read by Francis P. Bent. District Attorney Glennon declared that the Bronx stood shoulder to shoulder with the Mayor in his fight. He said the traction people were not in any immediate need of funds and added:

"The Mayor has the right angle on the antics of the gentlemen who occupy offices in the shadow of Wall Street and who could as conveniently style the Mayor a hero if he would agree to their demands instead of heaping vitriolic abuse upon him. It is because the Mayor wants to be true to the people; it is because he has stuck to the things he promised to stand for when elected that all these villainous attacks are made on him."

UNREST IN FORMOSA THREATENS JAPAN

Leader Warns That Outbreak May Come—Charges Attempt to Enslave Islanders.

TOKIO, Feb. 3 (Associated Press).—The island of Formosa, which was ceded by China to Japan in 1895, is threatened with disturbances as serious as those which have occurred in Korea within the last two years, Rin Kendo, a prominent Formosan, declared at a public meeting held in his honor at Hibiya Park here yesterday.

Kendo said that the Formosans had arrived at the conclusion that the Japanese were attempting to enslave them.

The meeting followed the appearance of Kendo and Sai Kiejo, another prominent Formosan, before the Japanese Diet, in which they presented a petition for the reorganization of the Japanese administration of the island. Kendo said that the discontent had resulted in the formation of four groups: First, those who wished to keep aloof from the Japanese as much as possible; second, those who sought to leave Formosa in search of a more agreeable place in which to live; third, those who sought to utilize what he called the maladministration of the island as a means of exciting the Formosans, especially the Chinese element there, and fourth, those who sought to curry favor with the Japanese as a means of feathering their own nests.

He concluded with the statement that feeling against the Japanese was growing daily, and that unless reforms, including the extension of self-government to the island, were forthcoming, the situation would become serious.

Count Tanaka, the Minister of War, announced in the Japanese Diet today that it was the Government's intention to reinforce the garrison in Korea with another division of troops. He said that the initial cost of this operation would be 39,000,000 yen (about $19,500,000 normally), and that the maintenance of the force in Korea for one year would cost 1,800,000 yen.

TOWN NEEDS A DOCTOR.

West Stockbridge, Mass., Without One and Will Offer a Subsidy.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 4.—The town of West Stockbridge has no physician, but it wants one and is willing to pay to have some one at hand to write prescriptions and to administer them when need arises.

The demand for a doctor was shown in the town warrant that appeared today which included as one of the articles for voters' consideration: "To see what money will be appropriated to induce a doctor to settle in the town."

The balmy breezes of the Berkshires have proved so healthful to the residents of the little hamlet on the New York State border that deaths are few and sickness so rare that physicians have found little call for their services. The last member of the profession to practise there was Dr. Eugene Hull, who lost his life in the war.

WOMEN PLAN FIGHT FOR LEGAL EQUALITY

TO URGE INDUSTRIAL RIGHTS

Move Will Also Be Made to Protect Suffrage in Any International Government Set Up.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Abolition of coverture laws creating legal inequality between husband and wife will be one of the first items on the program to be adopted by the National Woman's Party at its convention here Feb. 15-18, according to statements of members of the Woman's Party in Washington. The correction of laws working to the disadvantage of women in industry and other fields of activity will also probably be included in the program.

Resolutions already passed by the National Executive Committee and Advisory Council of the Woman's Party, to be submitted to the convention for consideration, limit the program to the removal of such legal disabilities and to the protection of women's equality under any international form of government. The resolutions read:

"Resolved, That the women here assembled now consecrate themselves, the political freedom having been won in the United States, to see that this freedom is not lost in any international Government that is established, and to work for the removal of all remaining forms of the subjection of women."

Efforts will undoubtedly be made to have the Woman's Party add many items to this program for constant appeals from organizations with legislative programs, varying from better roads to better babies, have been coming in to the party since the suffrage campaign was successfully ended. At the convention itself the work of the many organizations will be laid before the members of the Woman's Party. The community centre organization will be described by Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, a member of the board of directors. Julia Lathrop, its chief, will explain the program of the children's bureau. The problems of women in industry will be presented by Miss Mary Anderson, chief of the woman's bureau of the Department of Labor, by Miss Ethel Smith, Legislative Secretary of the Women's Trade Union League, and by Mrs. Florence Kelley, General Secretary of the National Consumers' League. Women's programs for peace will be presented by Miss Mabel Kittredge, President of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, and Mrs. Henry Villard, President of the Woman's National Peace Society. Lydia de Vilbiss of the United States Public Health Service will speak on the health program for women. The National Council of Women, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Federation of College Women's Clubs, the W. C. T. U., and the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will also have speakers.

Additional lines of work have been suggested by members of the party for consideration by the convention. The endowment of motherhood, adequate appropriations for the protection of mothers and children, a comprehensive educational program, larger appropriations for the protection of health, birth control, the abolition of war—these are a few of the topics which will inevitably be up for discussion during the three-day meeting.

Preceding the Woman's Party convention there will be held in the rotunda of the Capitol a national memorial service to the pioneers in the woman's movement, in which thirty-six other women's organizations will take part. The representative of each organization will be accompanied by a flower girl and a banner bearer, and will lay a wreath at the base of the memorial statue, which has just been completed by Adelaide Johnson, representing the three leaders of the woman's movement in America—Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott. Jane Addams will preside at the ceremonies. Speaker Gillett of the House of Representatives will receive the statue on behalf of Congress.

DOUBLE FARE UPHELD.

Court of Appeals Sustains Decision in Flatbush Avenue Case.

The decision of the Appellate Division that the Brooklyn City Railroad Company had the right to charge two fares on the Flatbush Avenue line was affirmed yesterday by the Court of Appeals. No opinion was written. An order of the Public Service Commission directing the company to cease making the double charge was reversed.

Vincent Victory, assistant to Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien, who had charge of the case, said yesterday:

"The decision is important because it may open the way for double fares on many of the surface lines in Brooklyn which claim the right to charge one fare under a franchise granted in one of the old towns and another fare under a franchise granted by another town."

The Public Service Commission yesterday heard the application of the Brooklyn City Company for permission to double the fares on the Broadway, Fulton Street, Smith Street and Wilson Avenue lines. The hearing will be continued on Feb. 18. A recent application of the company to charge a double fare on the Graham Avenue line was withdrawn.

LETTERS TO MILLER FAVOR TRANSIT PLAN

careful consideration of your proposals, has and does unqualifiedly endorse your proposals, and assures you that you may call upon us for co-operation to the fullest possible extent."

Only Way Out, Says Parsons.

William Barclay Parsons, who as chief engineer of the Rapid Transit Commission in 1894 designed and constructed New York's first subway, said in a letter:

"With the rapid transit situation I have been connected, perhaps, you know, from the very beginning. The whole question has now become so muddled that the only way is the one that you have pointed out—have a disinterested committee appointed to ascertain and state fully the facts."

Ex-Controller Metz's telegram read:

"Heartily approve your view that the transit situation is not a question of politics. Since the passage of the Rapid Transit and Public Service Commission laws the State has had jurisdiction, subject only to concurrence by the Board of Estimate in certain specific matters. A divided jurisdiction has always made possible agitation for or against one of the bodies for political purposes. It ought to be abolished and a condition created that would be free from political influence or local advantage to limited sections."

Republican National Committeeman Charles D. Hilles wrote:

"I think your message to the Legislature on the subject of transportation conditions in Greater New York entitles you to a vote of commendation and thanks from every student of the subject in New York. I do not know what would constitute a just and equitable fare, but I constantly hear complaints from persons who are forced to pay two fares, and in some instances three fares. It is clear that they feel that they are being penalized in consequence of the controversy between the city authorities and the railroad receivers. The question is an acute one in this city at this time and an equitable and expeditious solution of it would give great relief."

Saxe Offers His Support.

Former State Tax Commissioner Martin G. Saxe, who of late has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Mayor, wrote:

"Your plan, as I see the situation, is the only plan that I have heard suggested which has any merit whatever. This question is a non-political question. It is of supreme importance to the people of New York City and to all who do business in New York City that this problem be settled once and for all at an early date. I shall be glad of any opportunity to aid in bringing about the adoption of the plan which you recommend."

Haley Fiske, President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, wrote:

"I read with the greatest interest and admiration your message to the Legislature and your subsequent interviews on the subject of the traction situation in New York. Your views seem to me sound and sensible as well as original, and if carried out they will meet the situation. The hopeless muddle of the local authorities has, of course you will recognize, endangered the interests of security holders, of which this company is one. You have shown the way out. All success to you."

William F. McRae, also of the Metropolitan Life, in another letter pronounced transit conditions in New York City today "simply shocking, indecent and barbarous."

"They should not be allowed to exist in any civilized community, no matter whether it violates 'home rule' or any selfish or political war cry. 'Home rule,' that modern invention, is like many other such—a mere catchword and humbug. I feel certain that all decent American citizens will applaud and support your efforts to change and improve these demoralizing conditions."

Endorsed by Prominent Men.

Edward Reynolds, Vice President and General Manager of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, wrote:

"It may interest you to know that the comment I have heard in many quarters is somewhat to the effect that, assuming the Governor is absolutely sincere in his desire to remove the question from politics, it is refreshing to have some one appear who seems to have a clear idea of what is desired and how to bring it about and has the courage to approach the matter without hesitation. It is my own personal opinion that you are right, and I think you will solve the problem."

Frederick C. Noble of New York City wrote:

"I am heartily in accord with your policy of vigor as being the best means of jolting the public conscience to a point where it will back a just settlement of the situation."

"The people I come in contact with think you are perfectly right and that you have solved the problem," wrote Fred Sterry, manager of the Hotel Plaza.

Ralph M. Easley, Chairman of the Executive Council of the National Civic Association, sent a telegram saying, "Personally, I am heartily with you."

"'I am heartily in accord with your views on the transit question," telegraphed Marc Klaw.

Burt L. Fenner, a member of the firm of McKim, Mead & White, architects, wrote:

"I am very much impressed with the sanity of your plan for solving the transportation problem."

Joseph B. Mayer of New York City sent this telegram:

"I congratulate you most heartily upon the masterful way you prepared your message to the Legislature, and it is a pleasure to note not only the courage but the ability to place a tremendous program in such a clear and comprehensive way, and the only way to bring the traction matter to a successful result. You deserve not only the support but the thanks of every well-thinking person."

Says Party Should Support Plan.

Justice Squiers of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, sent a letter reading in part:

"It is most refreshing to have an Executive who can lift the transit problem of this city above the level of politics. I do not mind saying that you are the first Executive that has done this since the dual contracts were signed, and offered an intelligent, comprehensive and constructive plan for dealing with it. While I am a good Republican, I am disgusted with the attitude taken by some of the members of the Republican Party from this city. You deserve and are entitled to the united support of your party. The voters can be trusted if they are given the facts. I am in full accord with the views expressed by Munsey in this morning's New York Herald, which, I believe, expresses the views of the intelligent people of this city."

Ex-Justice Randall J. Le Boeuf of the Supreme Court, who assisted in the drafting of the Public Service Commissions law when Charles E. Hughes was Governor, sent this telegram:

"Hearty congratulations on your Public Service Commission message. It is the first practical suggestion in many years of a reorganization, through which the commission may perform its intended functions."

Oliver C. Semple of New York, another expert on Public Service Commissions law, wrote:

"The transit plan given by your message is right and admirably expressed. I am glad you think well of the idea of having the regulatory authority in one main commission, which shall not be bound by municipal contract provisions. The exception in giving to the Transit Commission of New York City regulatory authority over transit will do no real harm and ought to help exceedingly in the present situation.

"It is indeed refreshing to have an executive at Albany possessed of rare courage and vision who, in the solution of momentous problems of State and city, first determines the fundamentals."

Endorsed by Real Estate Board.

Stephen H. Tyng, President of the Real Estate Board of New York City, sent this telegram:

"Your straightforward and courageous statement concerning the transit subject and particularly the recommendation that the matter shall be solved without ulterior motives, either political or otherwise, has made a deep impression on the Real Estate Board of New York. We feel confident the people of New York City, the real taxpaying citizens, will support you unqualifiedly. Any problem approached from so high a standpoint cannot fail of solution, and this board is prepared to support such measures as may be found necessary to carry out a program divorced entirely of improper influences, either political or financial."

William B. Judson of the Brooklyn Board of Trade wrote:

"May I venture to register the hope that continued pressure, political, personal and selfish, will not bend your resolution that this city of ours shall eventually obtain the concentrated business management for its transit lines essential to proper operation and the early development demanded by our rapid and constant growth."

Ex-Senator Dodge wrote:

"I was elected on the Democratic ticket, but found myself unable to agree with the Democratic Party in its endeavor to pursue the so-called 'vote-getting' tactics by appealing to certain classes and disregarding the business interests. I, therefore, declined renomination, and moved out of the city and joined the Republican Party. My regret is that I am not in the Senate at the present time to back you."

Ex-Congressman Levy wrote:

"I feel confident that the people will endorse your views on the rapid transit problem in New York City. Your statement was clear and concise, and no fair-minded person or Legislature can refuse to take such action as will protect the citizens' interests as well as the traveling public."

Charles S. Aronstam, a former Brooklyn Progressive leader, sent this telegram:

"I applaud your courageous and intelligent message on the local traction situation. We have suffered so much from cheap demagogy, petty politics, on this vital question that your message is a refreshing and most welcome relief. The thinking public are with you and will support your endeavors."

Two letters from clergymen were made public. One, from the Rev. D. E. Sprague, Vice Chairman of the Baptist Religious Education Commission, said that the Governor's plan "has the strongest appeal to the masses."

The other, from the Rev. John L. Budford of Brooklyn, said:

"I do love to see a public officer big enough to propose a plan which may be unpopular but which I believe to be fair."

Richard Butler, ex-Assemblyman and labor leader, sent this breezy comment by mail: "You're a political Babe Ruth. You got on to their curves and put the Hylan battery on the Fritz. Why don't Hylan get after his Commissioner of Sewers and fish out the ballots of yours that were deposited in the sewer instead of the ballot box? I guess there must have been a bunch of hyphenated Republican watchers looking out for your interest.

"Look out for any home rule that comes from Fourteenth Street; that's where our Mayor graduated from and where he learned the golden rule."

"You will live by the enemies you make; you are right on the traction question of Greater New York," wrote Asbury Lester of New York City.

FLIER FIGHTS FIRE IN PLANE OVER CITY

QUENCHES BLAZE HIMSELF

Aviators With Smoke Bombs Showed Possibilities of an Enemy Attack.

While fifteen army airplanes were conducting an exhibition "bombing raid" over the city at noon yesterday a smoke bomb exploded prematurely in one of the planes and an observer, Lieutenant E. C. Black, was painfully burned as he fought a small fire with an extinguisher. He succeeded in confining the blaze to a small area in the fuselage, and neither he nor the pilot, Lieutenant Ulysses G. Jones, was in serious danger.

Thinking that the fire would spread rapidly, and doubtless burn Black to death, if a sudden descent were made in Central Park or some other open spot, Lieutenant Jones turned his machine toward the home field at Mineola. It was fifteen minutes before he had reached ground there, and by that time Black had extinguished the fire.

Lieutenant Black's burns were painful but not serious, and medical officers said that he would be ready to fly again in a few weeks. He was resting easy at the camp hospital last night.

According to some of the officers at Mitchel Field, the demonstration was made to prove the assertion of Brig. Gen. William Mitchell of the Army Air Service, that an enemy could bring a fleet of aircraft to the harbor entrance on mother ships—while the American Navy wasn't looking—and then rake all of Manhattan into the East River. Others in the recruiting service were inclined to believe that the Air Service also needed recruits. Anyway, there was a lot of noise in the air.

Apparently, the planes were shooting smoke bombs at everything in sight, and the list of targets compiled by the officers included some conspicuous skyscrapers, docks, Brooklyn Bridge, Times Building, Grand Central Terminal, Central Park and the old Granite State training ship at Ninety-sixth Street and the North River. The planes circled around Governors Island, up Manhattan Island as far as 135th Street and down Fifth Avenue.

GERMANY HAD AIRSHIP TO BOMBARD NEW YORK

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Germany had designed an airship with sufficient power to carry twenty tons of destructive materials and intended to use this craft to destroy New York, Brig. Gen. William Mitchell testified before the House Naval Affairs Committee today. This ship was the L-72, and was completed and ready to make the trip when the armistice was signed. It was taken over as a trophy by France.

"I believe it could have attacked New York City with success," said General Mitchell. "It was designed to fly at a height of 30,000 feet, thus making it virtually immune from attacks by airplanes on its trip here."

General Mitchell said that the army was now designing similar ships capable of flying at the 30,000 feet altitude.

HOG ISLAND SHIPYARD TURNED OVER TO BENSON

Ceremony of Surrendering Key to Shipping Board Marks End of Great War Plant.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—Hog Island today ceased its shipbuilding activities, so far as the present management is concerned, and the key to the vast yard was formally turned over to the United States Shipbuilding Board.

The ceremony of transferring the great wartime shipyard, whose fame encircled the globe, was simple and brief. M. C. Brush, President of the American International Shipbuilding Corporation, which operated the plant as the agent of the Shipping Board, with a few other officials, walked out of the main gate and closed it. Then he handed to Frederick Morris, authorized representative of the Shipping Board, a key symbolizing the turning over of the yard. The key was four feet long, made in the woodworking department of the plant, and painted a silver color.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—How strawberry shortcake, hot rolls and other delectable morsels will be prepared in the White House after March 4 was demonstrated before an admiring throng of fellow church members tonight by Inez McWhorter, veteran negro cook of the Harding household.

For the benefit of all aspirants in the high art of culinary who could not view the operations, Inez demonstrated in front of a movie camera, mixing the dough and later applying the strawberry trimmings to the cake crust with those deft and facile fingers which ever mark the consummate artist.

GERMANS PRAISE BERGDOLL AS HERO

ists supporting me because my grandfather was a revolutionist in 1848, and the Nationalists support me because I did not fight Germany. I have a bundle of letters of congratulations. I also got a letter from a fellow asking a job in our brewery, and from guys wanting to sell inventions. They think I have got millions."

I asked Bergdoll if anybody but himself knew where the $200,000 in gold was hidden in West Virginia.

"I would be a fine simp to trust anybody," he replied. "I got the gold from the Treasury in Washington. I put one over on the officials. Nobody seems to know that Federal Reserve notes demand gold payment. They refused to pay until I insisted. I obtained $60,000 to $70,000 each trip, and then buried it in two iron boxes which are safe until my return. Stecher was chased by West Virginia moonshiners while seeking the hiding place."

Thus Bergdoll talked. He is very proud of himself, but is living in the quietest manner with cousins in a country hotel, eating at the family table, learning to talk good German, enjoying pigs' knuckles and sauerkraut, drinking beer, automobiling, and especially playing the romantic rôle of a persecuted martyr and watching the high roads for the approach of enemies.

SENATE BILL RAISES SUNDRY CIVIL COSTS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, carrying appropriations amounting to $410,921,107.81, was reported to the Senate from the Committee on Arpropriations today. As reported the bill carries a total net increase of $28,437,415.50 over the House estimates.

The Smoot resolution which prohibits smoking in buildings of the executive departments or Government establishments is included, without change of phraseology, in the bill. This section, if passed, will make it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $50 for any person to carry a lighted cigar, cigarette or pipe, or any form of lighted tobacco, in "any building in the District of Columbia which is owned, rented, or leased by the Government of the United States and used by any executive department or independent establishment of the Government."

The Senate committee added an appropriation of $496,000 to begin the erection of an Archives Building for safeguarding the important records of the Government. Many priceless records have been destroyed by fire or otherwise in years past, and the proposed building is to be proof against damage by fire or any other means.

Increases over House estimates voted by the Senate Committee include $18,806,000 for the Treasury Department, $17,500,000 of this amount being for additional hospital facilities for the care and medical treatment of sick and disabled veterans of the World War, and $750,000 for pay of the Coast Guard Service.

Other items increased or inserted by the Senate include $75,000 for the Council of National Defense, $340,000 for the Interdepartmental Hygiene Board, $363,000 for the Lincoln Memorial Commission, $200,000 for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, $10,000,000 for the Muscle Shoals Nitrate Plant, $82,000 for the Bureau of Mines, $25,000 for fighting forest fires, and $10,000 for artificial limbs for disabled soldiers.

Decreases from the House estimates voted by the Senate include $240,000 for public buildings under the jurisdiction of the Treasury Department, $175,000 in the Alien Property Custodian item, $100,000 from the Federal Trade Commission estimate, $300,000 from the Interstate Commerce Commission, $30,000 from the Railroad Labor Board, and $50,000 from the Tariff Commission estimates.

SEEKS TO RELIEVE SENATE BILL JAM

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—President-elect Harding has become alarmed over the possibility that Congress will fail to pass all the annual supply bills before he assumes office, one month hence, and as a result of this feeling the Republican Steering Committees of Senate and House met today to consider the situation, but did not reach a definite conclusion as to action.

Mr. Harding is supposed to have been perturbed by a statement of Senator Penrose that it was not necessary to pass the supply bills before March 4, when the present Congress ends. The appropriations carried in these measures do not become available until July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year, and Senator Penrose argued that there would be plenty of time for the new Congress, which President Harding will call in extra session for late March or early April, to act on the supply bills.

This does not accord with the views of Mr. Harding. When he visited Washington in December he told Republican leaders, and emphasized in a talk with newspaper men, that he would like "to have the decks cleared" of appropriation bills and other general legislation of the present session, so that there might be no obstacles to taking up proposals he would submit at the extra session.

At the rate of progress in the Senate the prospect of "clearing the deck" for the new President is not rosy. The emergency tariff bill has started a filibuster that has wasted much time.

While the House has passed all except four of the supply bills, and expects to send the remaining four to the Senate by Feb. 14, the Senate has passed only one supply bill, that for the District of Columbia. The Post Office bill was reported from committee several days ago, and the Sundry Civil bill was reported today. The other bills, passed by the House, are in Senate committees.

Senators Penrose and McCumber, Chairman and senior Republican member, respectively, of the Committee on Finance, have indicated that they will keep the tariff bill before the Senate until it has been acted upon. As the effort to obtain a closure rule failed, there is no means of stopping debate. It is said now, however, that opponents of the bill may consent to a vote, which probably means its passage.

A rumor was in circulation today that if the bill was passed President Wilson might approve it or permit it to become law without his signature.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 4.—According to messages from Helsingfors the Bolshevist butchery of political adversaries has again taken on speed. Officially Moscow in the last half of December "only" shot 118 persons, while from Jan. 1 to 10 there were 347.

At the same time the killing of the "Whites" interned at Jaroslav, Saratov, Samara, Kasan and Kursk has started. It is reason enough to have been in prison or suspected.

SAYS SENATE PLAYS POLITICS IN ARMY

BRINGS RETORT FROM LODGE

Remarks That Col. Roosevelt and Gen. Wood Were Kept Out of France.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Charges by Senator Robinson of Arkansas that the Republicans in the Senate, by refusing for the first time in the history of the United States to consider the nominations of officers promoted to general rank are not only following a cowardly policy, but also permitting politics to govern them, occasioned a lively debate just before the Senate adjourned this afternoon. Senator Lodge denied the charge and countered with the insinuation that the Wilson Administration the Committee on Military Affairs, rehad for political reasons refused to let Theodore Roosevelt go to France and had kept Leonard Wood at home.

The Senate was just ready to adjourn when Senator Wadsworth, Chairman of quested unanimous consent for the reference to the committee of the nominations of all army officers of the grades First Lieutenant to Colonel, inclusive. There are several thousand such nominations pending before the Senate, all of them made under the provision of the Army Reorganization act passed last year. Senator Wadsworth also asked unanimous consent for the reference of the nomination of Major General Frank McIntyre to be Chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs. There was no objection and both motions of Senator Wadsworth were carried.

When Senator Wadsworth announced that the nominations of the officers below the grade of General would be confirmed, Senator Robinson arose and asked if the Senator was in a position to say whether any action would be taken at this session on the nominations of twenty-two officers to be Brigadiers and eleven others to be Major Generals. Senator Wadsworth replied that, while he personally had no objection to the reference to the committee of these nominations, he was informed that a motion to refer them would not carry, as he knew several Senators would impose objections.

"Well, I want to say," said Senator Robinson, "that, as far as my information goes, this is the first time in the history of the United States that a course such as this has been pursued in the Senate of the United States. Here are brave, efficient officers, who served their country well and gallantly in the greatest war of history, and they are refused even the pitiful opportunity of having a hearing before a committee. It is a sad day for the country and for the Senate when politics is permitted to play a part in a situation such as this."

"I deny that politics has anything to do with this," replied Senator Lodge, "and so far as these officers are concerned, I do not know whether they are Republicans or Democrats. A new Administration will be in office in four weeks, and I think that Administration is entitled to look over that list. I do not charge politics, but I do know that Theodore Roosevelt was kept out of France and Leonard Wood was kept at home during the war."

Senator Swanson of Virginia interrupted and made a plea for the reference of naval nominations now pending before the Senate to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

It is understood that another effort will be made to have the nominations of the general officers referred to the Committee on Military Affairs within the next week or ten days.

LINDSEY WEEPS OVER OFFER

Overcome When Denver Film Men Ask to Pay $500 Court Fine.

Special to The New York Times.

DENVER, Feb. 4.—Moved to tears by what he said was the first time in his public life that he had received an offer of help from other than "the kids" of Denver, Judge Ben B. Lindsey wept this afternoon at a meeting of the Rocky Mountain Screen Club when resolutions were passed, urging that the Judge permit the moving picture men to pay a fine of $500, which the United States Supreme Court says he must pay or go to jail.

Beween sobs the Judge thanked the members for their interest and tried to reply to the offer of assistance, but was so overcome that he could not speak. It was finally agreed that a committee be named to wait upon Judge Lindsey and receive his answer.

SAYS AUTO THIEF ACCUSED POLICE

squad in the publication of the statement that 9,000 automobiles had been stolen in a year and only twelve persons punished.

"The fact is that Owen and Horan made fifty-two arrests last year," he said, "and in one single case, that of Whalen and Shields, they got back twelve stolen cars.

"Another thing is that the list would not show interstate cases handled in the Federal courts. Owen and Horan, who have operated together as a team, sent four men to Atlanta in one case last year. On July 8 they became suspicious when they saw an old automobile with a new license number on it. With no further evidence they hailed the car. The men in it tried to escape, and were run down after a sensational chase. The detectives found that the car had been stolen the day before in New Jersey and that the new license number had been issued several days before from the Secretary of State's office, to be held in readiness for the gang to use on the stolen car. They broke up the auto bandits who operated through a pull in the State office, and sent Robert Rogan, an employe of the Secretary of State, to Atlanta for fifteen months. The others, including one man of considerable family influence, were sent to Atlanta, and the Federal Grand Jury adopted a resolution commending Owen and Horan. They recovered a total of three cars that time.

"Neither of these two men has ever accepted a cent of reward which was not authorized by the Police Commissioner and made a matter of public record."

Public Works Inquiry Continues.

The investigation of alleged grafting in city contracts relating to sewers and other public works in Brooklyn and Queens continued yesterday, but no further evidence was placed before the Grand Jury. Mr. Whitman refused to discuss the report that a prominent politician was under indictment. Arthur M. King, an associate of Mr. Whitman in the investigation, repudiated yesterday the statement attributed to him that a member of the Board of Estimate was involved. It was said that the investigation was being impeded by the disappearance of an important witness.

One of the charges said to be under investigation is that of collusion between officials and contractors to throw some large contracts to a high bidder. Another charge is that cheap materials were substituted in violation of the specifications in some costly public work.

The additional Grand Jury, which would ordinarily have ended its term, was continued for another month yesterday by Judge Crain in General Sessions at the request of Mr. Whitman. It will meet again on Tuesday.

A stipulation was made public yesterday in which Mr. Whitman consented to grant absolute immunity to John S. Armstrong of the automobile squad from any prosecution growing out of his disclosures regarding grafting or other offenses growing out of automobile thefts and recoveries.

PATIENT LEAPS FROM HOSPITAL TO DEATH

WAS IN LOW SPIRITS

Male Nurse, Coming Into Room, Saw Him Climbing Over Sill and Tried to Save Him.

Franklin W. Olin Jr. of 1,128 State Street, Alton, Ill., son of F. W. Olin, President of the Western Cartridge Company, committed suicide last night by jumping from the third floor of St. Bartholomew's Hospital, 217 East Forty-second Street. Mr. Olin, upon whom an abdominal operation had been performed six days ago, was killed instantly. He was 30 years old and an architectural engineer.

Accompanied by his father and mother, who stayed at the Waldorf-Astoria to await his expected recovery, Mr. Olin came to New York and went into the hospital two weeks ago. The operation was performed by Dr. John W. Draper and Dr. F. H. Cotton, specialists in gastro-intestinal diseases, and was considered successful.

Mr. Olin had a private room in the hospital and was attended by three men nurses, one of whom was constantly in attendance. The nurse on duty last night left the room momentarily and returned in time to see his patient climbing over the window sill. The nurse jumped forward, but was too late to check Mr. Olin's fall to the hospital courtyard.

J. W. Fiske, Superintendent of the hospital, and members of the staff found Mr. Olin apparently lifeless when they reached him. He was taken inside the hospital and unsuccessful efforts were made to revive him. Mr. Olin Sr. said at the Waldorf-Astoria last night that his son was depressed because of the operation.

$15,000 PAINTING LOST ON WAY HERE

Ryder's "The Barnyard" Disappears From Its Case on Track Trip From Washington.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—"The Barnyard," a foot-square picture valued at $15,000, has been missing for three months, after disappearing when it was sent from Washington to New York in a motor van with many other valuable paintings. "The Barnyard" belonged to what is known as the Phillips collection, which was established by the late Duncan C. Phillips of this city. A reward of $500 has been offered for the recovery of the painting and advertisements to this effect have been placed in English and foreign language newspapers in Washington and New York. "The Barnyard" was painted by A. P. Ryder.

E. B. Hopwood, the broker who insured the painting, said at his offices at 55 John Street yesterday that the paintings were to have been sent by express, but through an error came all the way in a furniture van. Circulars have been distributed over the entire route traveled by the van, he said, but no trace has ever been found of the painting.

JURY IN A FIGHT; HELD OUT 89 HOURS

Brandished Knives at One Point in Murder Case of Dr. Winnes —No Verdict.

HARLAN, Ky., Feb. 4.—More than eighty-nine hours after they began to deliberate the jury trying Dr. H. C. Winnes for the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, school teacher, was dismissed at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Circuit Court Judge Davis. The jury stood 11 for acquittal to 1 against.

The twelve men fought in the jury-room shortly before noon today, and three of them were brandishing knives when a Deputy Sheriff burst into the room and disarmed them. The Court had just finished cautioning them against allowing personal feeling to enter into their deliberations.

When they came into court this morning Judge Davis asked if the division was over the evidence. The foreman replied that it was not, and said that the trouble was simply that all of the jury did not weigh the evidence the same way. Judge Davis talked to the jury for half an hour, urging that they make every effort to reconcile their differences and calling attention to the hardship and expense that another trial would entail.

'WIVES' SPRING TRAP ON ALLEGED BIGAMIST

Detectives Shoot at Fugitive in Chase Over Roofs and Down Stairs.

Two women who said they were the wives of Benjamin Rosenblaum of Montreal yesterday gave detectives information that enabled them to arrest him on an old charge of bigamy. He attempted to resist arrest and several shots were fired in a chase over tenement roofs near Avenue C and Fourth Street.

According to the detectives, Rosenblaum is accused of contracting other marriages after he and Frieda Spitzer were wedded at 71 Mangin Street on Aug. 4, 1917. He left his first wife, they said, and married another woman. On Jan. 18, 1920, Rosenblaum is said to have contracted a third marriage with Johanna Benjamin of 893 Union Avenue, the Bronx. He disappeared again, and Miss Benjamin told the District Attorney some money and jewelry were missed.

The wives overheard Rosenblaum make an appointment for a certain time and place. They notified detectives, who were at the appointed place and made the arrest after the exciting chase.

GEDDES TO HANDLE DEBT.

Lord Chalmers Not Entrusted With Proposals for Conversion.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Negotiations relative to an adjustment of Great Britain's debt to the United States are in the hands of Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador in Washington, and the proposed trip to America of Lord Chalmers, Permanent Secretary of the Treasury, was merely to facilitate the conversations. This was the explanation given here yesterday for the postponement of Lord Chalmers's visit to the United State during the absence of Ambassador Geddes. It was declared illogical to suppose that he was in a position to offer any proposals relative to the negotiations, since the Government had deemed it desirable for him to remain here until the return of Sir Auckland to Washington.

AMERICAN COAL SOLD AT LONDON DOCKS

Incident Moves the Press to Warnings Against British Miners' Wage Exactions.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—There is no truth in the statement circulated in an afternoon paper that the South Metropolitan Gas Company has found that the miners' demands made it cheaper for it to try American coal, and that the company would soon be using it in supplying gas to householders in South London.

What happened was that a cargo of American coal arrived in the Thames Tuesday morning and was bought by the Gas, Light and Coke Company. There was only one cargo, and there was no contract for any other.

Commenting upon the subject, the shipping correspondent of The Morning Post says:

"The sale of a cargo of American coal in the Thames is significant. It is a stray cargo, no doubt, but the fact that it has been possible to dispose of it may well give pause to those who have been forcing up wages in our own mining industry. The time is not very far gone when the mere mention of the possible competition of American coal with ours in European markets was openly mocked at. In fact, in the course of one of the coal debates in the House of Commons during the war one of the more moderate of the miners' leaders, face to face with the argument that greatly enhanced wages here would give a chance to Pocahontas coal in Europe, brushed it aside by the light-hearted exclamation that he had heard that 'old wheeze' before.

"However, the situation has so developed that a cargo of American coal is now being discharged in the Thames at a time when the coal pits in South Wales have been shut down because there is no effective demand for their output."

VILLA GETS INTO A FIGHT.

Led Attack on Old Enemies, Now Rebels, Mexico City Report Says.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 4.—A local paper reports that the Arrieta brothers, supposed to be in revolt in the State of Durango, were attacked and defeated and two Arrietas captured.

According to the report Pancho Villa accompanied General Martinez in the fight, being unable to resist the opportunity to take revenge on his personal enemies. Villa led the attack with his own staff officers, it is said. The Arrietas were at the start of the revolution companions of Villa, but afterward joined Carranza. In several fights Domingo Arrieta defeated Villa.

This report of the fight and capture of the Arrietas is unconfirmed and officials deny knowledge of it.

VERA CRUZ, Feb. 4.—General Perez, who has been at the head of an incipient revolt near Minatitlan, in the southern part of the State of Vera Cruz, has reached an agreement with General Guadaloupe Sanchez, commander of Government forces here. Official announcement of this agreement was made yesterday, and it was said that fighting between regular troops and the followers of Perez was "unnecessary."

Newspaper dispatches received from the district of Minatitlan, however, state that there has been fighting there.

Suspect in Jewel Robbery Freed.

Magistrate Max S. Levine yesterday in the Yorkville Court discharged Don Collins, 33 years old, who said he lived at the Stanley Hotel, Broadway and Forty-seventh Street, who was arrested several months ago on suspicion of being connected with the hold-up of Oscar Kookas, a jewelry salesman, in his apartment at 100 West 116th Street, on Aug. 7 last. Kookas was robbed of jewels valued at $43,265. He was unable to identify Collins as one of the bandits.

TO DIE FOR AIDING SLAYER.

Accomplice Gets Death Sentence, Actual Murderer 20 Years to Life.

Edward J. McNally, 22 years old, of New Brighton, S. I., was convicted of murder in the first degree by a jury in St. George yesterday and sentenced by Supreme Court Justice Callaghan to be executed in Sing Sing for the killing of Walter Jackowski, night manager of a restaurant in Richmond Terrace, Mariners Harbor. By a queer freak of justice McNally is to suffer more severely than the actual slayer, the court having insisted on each of four occasions when the jury returned for instructions during its eight hours' deliberation that he must be found guilty in the first degree or acquitted.

The Justice gave similar instructions when Anthony Paoluccio and Frank Escobacci were tried together a few days ago. The jury in their case was unable to agree, and after it had been discharged the two defendants pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree. They were sentenced to twenty years to life in prison. One of the Italians did the shooting. McNally's lawyer will appeal.

NO LIMIT ON WINE FOR HIS PATIENTS

Kramer Leaves to Judgment of Each Physician Quantity to Be Dispensed.

DRY FORCES FEAR FLOOD

Wholesale Liquor Dealers Allowed to Sell to Wholesale Druggists Under New Ruling.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Prohibition leaders received a shock today when they heard that John F. Kramer, Federal Prohibition Commissioner, had sent to all Federal Prohibition Directors a letter in which he stated that the quantity of wine physicians might prescribe in the future would be left to the "sound and honest judgment" of the practitioner.

Physicians were directed in the instructions to use "extraordinary care" not to abuse the privilege, but there were some who saw in this ruling an opening which might release large quantities of the wine now in storage.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, refused to make any statement further than to say that it had been the position of the league that physicians could prescribe neither beer nor wine as a medicine, and must restrict their prescriptions to spiritous liquors such as whisky and gin.

The Volstead act specifies the amount of spiritous liquors which may be dispensed by a physician. This placed a reasonably effective check on the supply. It does not, however, cover the dispensing of wines as medicines in like manner.

"Drys" to Be on Watch.

There are large quantities of wine in the country, and the fear of the prohibition leaders, such as Mr. Wheeler, is that it may pour into the mouths of receptive patients in streams of unseemly proportions. They expect to see very determined efforts on the part of the anti-prohibition elements to get the wine supply into circulation.

Mr. Kramer made public copies of the letters containing the directions to Federal Prohibition Directors after a conference with William W. Williams, Internal Revenue Commissioner. He had no comment on the statement, which read:

"Some confusion has existed as to the quantity of wine (vinous liquors) that may be prescribed by a physician in his practice for medicinal purposes. In order to remove this confusion you are advised that until further orders physicians may prescribe in their practice such quantities of wine (vinous liquors) as they, in the exercise of their sound and honest judgment, deem necessary in the particular case, if they in good faith believe that the use of wine (vinous liquors) as a medicine by the person for whom it is prescribed is necessary and will afford relief to him for some known ailment. The quantity to be prescribed is thus placed in the sound discretion of the physician and they should use extraordinary care not to abuse the right given them, and the directors should guard this matter most carefully to the effect that the said privilege be not abused by any physician."

Reports were soon going around that the ruling marked the beginning of a general loosening up in the prohibition laws as regards the consumption of wines and beer. This was most emphatically denied at the Internal Revenue offices here. It was stated that no general policy which would release quantities of wine was contemplated.

The order, however, created endless speculation and no little hope in the hearts of many. Organizations such as the Anti-Saloon League are planning to watch the happenings of the next few weeks very carefully and to begin a sturdy fight against the continuance of the order if the quantity of wines released under it seems to indicate abuse. It also may be determined by the dry forces to test the legality of the order, but no definite plans were announced tonight.

Can Sell to Wholesale Druggists.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (Associated Press).—District prohibition directors were instructed by Commissioner Kramer tonight to permit wholesale liquor dealers to sell the liquor in their possession to wholesale druggists.

Attorney General Palmer's recent opinion prohibits the wholesale dealers from selling liquor, but prohibition officials declared an exception had been made to permit the dealers to dispose of their stocks already withdrawn from bond. A change in the regulations was necessary, officials said, as wholesalers are not permitted to sell liquor to wholesale druggists under ordinary circumstances.

Acquisition of the wholesale dealers' available supply of liquor by the wholesale druggists, it was indicated, may enable the prohibition forces to keep the present ban against withdrawals of liquor in force for some time, as it would postpone the exhaustion of the stocks necessary to meet the needs of retail druggists.

Representatives of a number of former distilleries conferred today with Commissioners Williams and Kramer on the status of liquor stored by a distiller who had since gone out of business as a manufacturer. Commissioner Williams said that new regulations would probably consider such liquor his property as a manufacturer within the meaning of the Attorney General's opinion and its sale would be legal.

More than 250,000 gallons of whisky and automobiles worth $1,000,000 are now in possession of the Government as a result of its campaign against illicit commerce in liquor, according to Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon League.

To guard this and other property seized by the Government in enforcement of prohibitioon, the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, reported today to the Senate, set aside $200,000, as requested by Mr. Wheeler.

The seized liquor and automobiles, according to the testimony of Mr. Wheeler before a Senate Committee, made public today, are to be sold by the Government. In some cases, Mr. Wheeler told the committee, Federal Marshals had refused to take care of the confiscated evidence.

That prohibition enforcement has been "50 per cent. effective in some places," was stated by Mr. Wheeler. He said that no good reason had yet been found for transferring prohibition enforcement from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice.

PROPOSES A 'DOUBLE' HOME.

Dr. Reeve Offers to Divide With Wife Control of Their Child.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 4.—Dr. Oscar Charles Reeve, at one time connected with St. Luke's Hospital, testified before Supreme Court Justice Young today that it would not be safe to give his wife, Mrs. Grace Fischer Reeve, a church soloist, the custody of their 7-year-old daughter Delora. He said that his wife had "nervous tantrums."

Dr. and Mrs. Reeve are separated and the latter is trying to obtain possession of the girl through a writ of habeas corpus. Dr. Reeve said that ever since his wife underwent a serious operation, she had a habit of screaming at the top of her voice and then throwing herself on the floor. His wife, after calming down, he said, would try to talk to the spirits of her departed relatives.

A negro maid testified that because of the nervousness of Mrs. Reeve Dr. Reeve slept in his clothes in a chair every night for two years.

Dr. Reeve said that if his wife would go with him he would have a double house so that she could have one part and he the other and they could divide conntrol of the chield between them. The hearing will be continued Monday.

BROOKLYN WOMAN WINS FEDERATION ELECTION

Mrs. Richard M. Chapman Chosen President, Defeating Miss Mary Wood of Manhattan.

After a spirited campaign for President of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, Brooklyn's candidate, in the person of Mrs. Richard M. Chapman, won, and Miss Mary Wood, standing as the Manhattan choice, was defeated at the election at the Hotel Astor yesterday. In the eighteen years of the existence of the federation Brooklyn has had only one President heretofore. It was rumored after Mrs. Chapman was nominated that Brooklyn felt so strongly about this that if the Brooklyn candidate did not win the Brooklyn clubs might resign from the federation in a body.

Both women are Republicans, and Mrs. Chapman, after working hard for suffrage, has, as her campaign literature stated, "organized and worked for the Republican Party with telling force." Miss Wood has worked as a part of the Republican organization. Mrs. Chapman is a member of the League for Women Voters. Miss Wood is not. It was said by those opposing Miss Wood that she would bring politics into the club. Others said that had nothing to do with it at all; that Miss Wood represented the progressive element, but that the federation, with its 300 clubs and thousands of members, preferred a conservative policy.

"All my life I have been interested in women," said Mrs. Chapman after the election, "and I shall give the best service that is in me to the interests of the federation. I shall not think of making any radical changes. Politics, I believe, should be kept out. I am interested in the philanthropic, social, civic and esthetic phases of the federation. I believe in political clubs as members of the federation, but I do not believe in bringing politics into the federation at the expense of anything else, or to divert its energies from any of the many splendid channels in which it has been working already."

It was a strenuous day for the federation. It has always been an all-day meeting, but yesterday the program was so prolonged that, before the end had been reached by an hour or so, the President, Mrs. Harry Lilly, announced that fifty men were at the door waiting to get in and prepare the room for another meeting. More than a thousand women were then hustled from their comfortable quarters in the grand ballroom on the eighth floor. An attempt was made to squeeze them into the small nimrod room, and this being impossible they turned into the north ballroom on the same floor. The program went on, and Mrs. Lilly, the retiring President, received a past President's diamond pin, the Honorary President and founder of the federation, Mrs. Belle de Rivera, presenting it.

It was not until 9:15 P. M. that the weary vot ecounters gave out the result as follows:

First Vice President—Mrs. STANLEY LYMAN OTIS.

Second Vice President—Mrs. CHARLES D. HIRST.

Third Vice President—Mrs. HELEN W. RITCHIE.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. JAMES McCULLAGH.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. WILLIAM WHITTAKER.

Treasurer—Mrs. FRED HIXON BALDWIN.

Historian—Mrs. OTTO KEMPNER.

The first announcement had been 309 votes for Mrs. Chapman for President and 240 for Mary Wood. A second count showed the Wood votes something more than that.

It was late in the evening when the final announcement was made to what was left of the federation. It was then camping out in the eighth-floor corridors of the Astor, having been driven from one room to another as persons who had engaged the different rooms came to claim them. The women sat in such chairs as they could find. Some sat on the floor, some went out to dinner and others had coffee and rolls served to them as they sat around.

Mary Wood, who was receiving congratulations from her friends upon the great amount of work she was escaping for the next two years in losing the Presidency, said:

DIED IN HIS PAPER 'DUGOUT.'

Body of Aged Man Found in Room Filled With Waste Paper.

With his hall bedroom filled from floor to ceiling with packages of waste paper, Theodore Greesley, 70 years old, was found dead yesterday at 129 Chrystie Street in a dugout he had hollowed out in the mass of paper near the foot of his bed. Mrs. Alice Bernard, from whom Greesley rented a room, had not seen Greesley for two weeks and called a policeman, who forced the door, having difficulty in entering because of the mass of paper.

Greesley, who, apparently, had come to the end of his financial resources, kept a diary which contained a minute chronicle of his movements, including his lunches on the Bowery and the buildings he visited. Mrs. Bernard, who said Greesley had been with her for six years, told the police that he had said he formerly kept a butcher shop in Paterson, N. J., but failed because he extended credit during a silk workers' strike. Since coming to New York, he had earned a living by odd jobs of painting.

Dr. Isaacson of Gouverneur Hospital said the man had been dead for two weeks.

RESENT MILLER'S ATTACK.

League of Women Voters Reports Gain in Members Since Speech.

Governor Nathan L. Miller's recent attack upon the League of Women Voters as a "menace" to our form of government has proved a stimulus to the campaign for new members, started this week by the league, according to a statement issued yesterday by the New York State League of Women Voters, of which Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip is Chairman. The organization will launch a State-wide campaign of education to inform "misguided individuals laboring under such misapprehensions as Governor Miller appeared to be at the time of his Albany speech as to the actual program of the league."

At the headquarters of the Republican Women's State Executive Committee it was said that the resignation of Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, the Chairman, from the League of Women Voters was not caused by the Governor's speech, but was tendered three weeks before that. Mrs. Livermore, it was said, did not approve the league's policy or program and resigned for that reason.

FOUR NAMED BY PRESIDENT.

Assistant Coulston Nominated to Senate for Patent Office Chief.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—President Wilson today sent to the Senate the nomination of Melvin H. Coulston of New York to be Commissioner of Patents. Mr. Coulston is now First Assistant Commissioner of Patents.

The nomination of Spencer Edward Burroughs to be Registrar of the Land Office, Susanville, Cal., also was forwarded.

Reappointments of Major Generals George O. Squier, to be Chief Signal Officer, and John L. Chamberlain, to be Inspector General, for another four years also were transmitted.

PLANNING PROFIT SHARING.

French Employers and Workmen Meet to Frame a System.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—The first organized effort to introduce in France the system of sharing the profits of industrial enterprises with the workmen was made in Paris today, when representatives of the employers and workmen met to frame such a plan.

Deputy Godart, former Under-Secretary in the Ministry of War, in the opening speech cited several individual cases of French manufacturers who had adopted the system since the war with excellent results.

The employers and workmen formed separate committees to draw up tentative projects.

HACKENSACK RIVER NOW GIANT HIGHBALL

GAMING TABLES FORM PYRE

Inventory Ordered of Liquor Possessed by Permit Holders Except Wholesale Druggists.

To the alternate strains of the "Doxology" and Chopin's "Funeral March," whistled by the large crowd assembled to witness "the last sad rites," liquors valued at $2,500 were poured into the Hackensack River at Hackensack, N. J., yesterday afternoon. The cases were brought to the river's edge in wheelbarrows by the police and janitors of the County Court House, who opened them and emptied their contents into the stream at the signal of County Prosecutor A. V. Hart, who had charge of the ceremonies.

The liquor was seized recently in a raid on a hotel at Hasbrouck Heights. The owners were arrested on charges of violating the New Jersey Crimes act, which requires a license for the sale of intoxicants. Gambling machines which had been seized by the Sheriff were stacked up and burned at the same time that the liquor found its watery grave.

In compliance with instructions received yesterday from Prohibition Commissioner John F. Kramer in Washington, Charles R. O'Connor, State Prohibition Director, last night asked all permit holders other than wholesale druggists for an inventory of all liquor in their possession as of Feb. 1. The report is to be made in duplicate on blanks issued for this purpose, and the statement must be made under oath. Three days are allowed for the return of the blanks.

Federal Supervising Agent Daniel J. Chapin said yesterday that about three weeks would be required for the inventory of the liquors seized by prohibition agents and held in the Knickerbocker Warehouse. This is the first inventory of the confiscated liquors, which have an estimated value of about $2,000,000.

BAKHMETEFF PAID OUT MONEY ON CONTRACTS

Treasury Department Saw That Funds Drawn Went to Russia's Creditors Here.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—Boris Bakhmeteff, Russian Ambassador to the United States, in taking cognizance today of statements recently made before a Senate committee in Washington concerning $59,000,000 withdrawn by him from the United States Government loan to Russia, deposited in the National City Bank of New York, said that all the money had been used in the United States on Russian Government contracts.

"Every penny of this money was paid by me on Russian Government contracts in the United States," said Ambassador Bakhmeteff. "None of it was used either for the Russian Embassy in Washington or for any purpose other than toward the sums owing to American firms for supplies furnished to the Kerensky Government.

"I was able to draw this money by agreement with the American State Department, which in each instance checked the bill paid, under what I may call a gentlemen's agreement entered into after the Kerensky Cabinet fell. Although all the money was paid toward contracts, not all our obligations have been met, as $59,000,000 was insufficient."

The Ambassador added that he had made full explanations on the subject to a committee of the United States Senate.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—It is learned that State Department officials are not in sympathy with apparent efforts to injure the standing of the Russian Embassy in Washington by seeking to make it appear that that diplomatic establishment had unlimited access to American Treasury funds under the credits which were granted by the United States to the Russian Government.

It was stated in authoritative quarters today, in connection with insinuations relative to the application of credits granted to the Russian Government, that the State and Treasury Departments had so safeguarded the credits that the embassy could not play with these funds. At the State Department it was asserted today that the Russian credits were for liquidating Russian debts in the United States and that the embassy here had co-operated most effectively with the United States Government in clearing up contracts and protecting Americans to whom money was due. It was stated that practically all such contracts had been liquidated except a few odds and ends. The Treasury Department, it was declared, had placed credits for specific purposes and when it allowed the Russian Embassy to withdraw funds the Treasury saw that the money went specifically for those purposes.

The question of inquiring into the funds of a foreign embassy was raised at the department today. It is not improbable that the department may institute an inquiry to learn the sources of the attacks and the motives.

While the resources of the Russian Embassy here are known to be small, it is not thought that there is any idea of closing it. To close it is not the desire of the State Department.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—The Lithuanian Foreign Minister, according to dispatches to the French Foreign Office today, has given his consent to the holding of a plebiscite in the Vilna area to determine its sovereignty. The Lithuanian Minister has also asked the League of Nations to intervene and secure the approval and co-operation of the Poles.

MEN JOIN COOKING CLASS.

Pennsylvania State College Giving a Course to Twenty.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 4.—Twenty students, garbed in aprons of the butcher type supplied by the girl domestic art students started work today in the Pennsylvania State College kitchen laboratories, heretofore occupied exclusively by women. They are enrolled in the special cookery class for men, a new course which is being given by the Home Economics Department.

The course is aimed particularly toward the selection and preparation of foods for camping parties. Many of the men, however, have expressed a desire to obtain a more general knowledge of everyday cooking. Two hours of kitchen practice and one hour lecture will be the weekly program. More than eighty applications have been received for admission to the class.

NATION HAS NO TREASURER.

But G. F. Allen Will Continue to Look After Its Funds.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The United States Government tonight was without any properly designated official to take care of its money.

Guy F. Allen has been acting Treasurer since the resignation of Treasurer John Burke, Jan. 6, and has been nominated for the vacancy by President Wilson. His nomination, however, has not been confirmed by the Senate, and the period that departmental offices may remain vacant while the Senate is in session expired today.

Mr. Allen, however, officials said, must continue to carry on the duties of Treasurer in order that there may not be a complete stoppage of the Government's financial transactions.

ENOUGH of them remaining, possibly, to last until closing time at The Man's Shop today, when they will have found their new ownerships and reciprocate the natural feeling of pride.

Others suggest motor coats and travel ulsters—tans, greens and grays.

If the prices at which these hats originally appeared might be stated, you would have to hasten to make your selection.

All have been priced now at $4.75—in reality a fraction of their prices a few weeks ago.

In ribbons, bindings and inside trimmings they represent all that the highest-priced hat-maker could bring to his task.

Included in the assortment are the newest blocks in black stiff hats, as well as the soft felts.

Every hat is one of distinction, contrasting sharply with the ordinary, everyday hats one encounters.

It is an unusual opportunity to select one or two hats for future, as well as present use.

UNION MUSICIANS RIOT AT MEETING

POLICE RESERVES CALLED

Eight Men Arrested on Complaint of Directors—President Under Fire.

There was more than a mere note of discord in the ranks of the Musical Mutual Protective Union yesterday morning when rival factions engaged in a free-for-all fight at a meeting in the headquarters, 210 East Eighty-sixth Street. It required the reserves from four police stations to quell the riot, and eight of the alleged disturbers were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct.

There were 4,000 men in and outside of the hall, and few of them were passive onlookers in the general mêlée, according to the police. Clothing was torn, blows exchanged and chairs upset by the excited musicians as they argued.

The eight men were later arraigned before Magistrate Tobias in the Harlem Court and paroled for a hearing on Feb. 18. They were: Nicholas Mulieri of 53 East Ninety-fifth Street, Joseph Gargano, 218 Lafayette Street; Joseph McMahon, 153 East Eighty-sixth Street; William J. Hoffman, 1,656 First Avenue; Patrick McIntyre, 742 Third Avenue; Paul Hein, 315 East Eighty-ninth Street; William Kielgast and Joseph Porkney, both of 339 Fifth Street.

Versions as to what led to the fight differed, but this was the one told to Magistrate Tobias by Jacob J. Schwebel, counsel for the union: The meeting of the union, which has 9,000 members, had been called by the Board of Directors to discuss charges of neglect of duty and malfeasance in office which had been made by the board against Samuel F. Finkelstein, President of the union. Finkelstein, according to Schwebel, also sent out notices of a meeting to be held at the same time, intimating that it was the Board of Directors instead of himself that was to be tried. On Wednesday, Schwebel said, Finkelstein notified him that eight of the members of the Board of Directors, rated as insurgents, who were elected in October, had been expelled.

Yesterday when these Directors attempted to enter the hall they were stopped by the Sergeant-at-Arms and some friends of Finkelstein, according to Schwebel. In a few minutes the fight was on.

The complainants against the eight men arrested were the Directors. Supplementing his remarks in court, Schwebel said that dissatisfaction had been growing within the union for some time, centring around Finkelstein.

Finkelstein, who lives at 207 West 110th Street, said that the insurgents were trouble makers. He declared the Board of Directors had suspended him before any charges had been made against him. He said he appealed to the American Federation of Musicians and the parent body granted him a stay of judgment. The board refused to recognize the order and caused him to be ejected from one of the meetings, he said.

'CYCLONE' MILLER'S BABY BOY IN FOR 'GOOD TIME'

Judge Allows Major to Wheel Him in a Perambulator, Weather Permitting.

Major "Cyclone" Harry C. Miller will be a very frequent visitor at the home of his wife, Mrs. Edna Grace Miller, at Richmond Hill, if he takes advantage of all the privileges that were granted to him in an order handed down yesterday by Justice Faber in the Queens County Supreme Court. A little over a week ago the Major won a decision from Justice Faber in the action for a separation brought gainst him by his wife after she had discovered letters written to her husband by Maude Bigg, daughter of Major Sir Thomas Bigg of England, whom the Major met in France. Justice Faber allowed Mrs. Miller to keep the letters.

Then Major Miller applied for permission for Leonard E. Miller, their son, 2½ years old, to spend half his time with him and half with Mrs. Miller. This is the child whom Mrs. Miller said her husband called a "red head" when he saw him the first time on his return from France. The Major testified that he was so happy when he received the news of his birth in France that he let the whole camp know about it, that he was given a reception, and that after that he won the name of "Happy Old Man."

Inthe decision handed down yesterday Justice Faber decided that Major Miller could have the custody of his son every Saturday from 3 to 5 o'clock; every Sunday from 9 to 10 o'clock and every holiday from 9 to 12 o'clock, and that he could take the child out in a perambulator on days when the weather was suitable. For the privilege of seeing his son, Major Miller is required to pay his wife $10 a week for his maintenance. The Major said he would avail himself of all the privileges granted by the Court and would give his son a good time.

BIG STOCK SWINDLE LAID TO PRISONERS

Three Men Accused of Working as Salesmen, Selling Shares to Themselves and Getting Fees.

Three men were locked up in Police Headquarters last night charged with working a stock confidence game by which they are alleged to have obtained thousands of dollars' worth of securities in addition to liberal sales commissions.

They described themselves as David Rosenfeld, 42 years old, a stock salesman of 11 West Sixty-first Street, George O. Van Orden, 61 years old, real estate operator, of 608 East 163d Street, the Bronx, and William N. Ainsworth, 52 years old, a decorator, of 206 West 109th Street.

The men were arrested by Detectives August Mayer and Grover Brown of Inspector John D. Coughlin's staff. Complaints charging them with the larceny of $2,100 were made by Edward Z. Zadwick, a broker of 111 Broadway, and J. B. Murrow, another broker, of 353 Fifth Avenue. Zadwick said that he was defrauded of $1,200 and Murrow $900. Seven additional complaints were said to be in the hands of the District Attorney.

The scheme alleged to have been worked by the three men and disclosed by the police was as follows:

One man would advertise his services as an expert stock salesman, secure employment from a broker, and introduce one of his confederates as a prospect. The confederate, after "buying" stocks, would tender a worthless note in payment. A few days later the salesman, representing that he wanted to go out of the city to see a prospective buyer, would collect his commission.

Ainsworth was arrested at Broadway and Thirty-fifth Street. He admitted, the police said, that he had placed an advertisement in a newspaper a few days ago under the name of Cooper, in which he offered his services as an expert stock salesman. Van Orden and Rosenfeld were arrested at about the same time in the latter's apartment on West Sixty-first Street. The police said that they found in their possession brief cases containing thousands of shares of stock which, presumably, had been bought with worthless notes.

The detectives said that they found in the possession of Rosenfeld a bank book showing deposits of $2,000.

A CENTURY IN PRISON IS TOTAL OF 8 TERMS

Court Tells Youth Miller Will Not Be Sob Sister to Release Him.

Justice Cropsey, in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday, sent seven criminals to Sing Sing for long terms. The aggregate of the sentences was over 100 years.

Russell Brice, 27 years old, who said his home was at Green Bay, Mich., pleaded guilty to holding up Harold Anderson of 1,272 Sterling Place, on Nov. 7 last. There were seven indictments against Brice, charging assaults and hold-ups. As Justice Cropsey sentenced him to twenty years he smiled and was rebuked by the Court.

Brice was once a partner of Robert Eckert, the bootlegger, and was believed to have been in the automobile with Eckert when he was killed on Staten Island.

When the court sentenced Ralph Gabriel, 20 years old, of 18 Rochester Avenue, to fifteen years for the hold-up of a restaurant in Flushing Avenue, he remarked:

"Maybe some sob sister of a Governor will let you out before your time is up, but it won't be the one in office now." Then Justice Cropsey sentenced Angelo Vitale, 19 years old, of 50 Skillman Street, who participated in the robbery with Gabriel, to the same term.

Joseph Trusinski, 19 years old, of 211 Nineteenth Street, and John Farrell, 18 years old, of 206 Seventh Street, received sentences of twenty years each for holding up a man, and John Pugliese, 24 years old, of 105 Huntington Street, was sent to prison for ten years as a second offender for robbing a home. Vincenzo Bulone, 25 years old, of 118 Union Street, received an indeterminate term of from twenty years to life for shooting and killing a man. Charles d'Andrea, 31 years old, of 210 Union Avenue, received a five-year term for posing as a prohibition officer and extorting money from a saloon keeper.

Judge Gibbs yesterday in the Bronx County Court sentenced Samuel Leavitt, 36 years old, of 874 Longwood Avenue, and Samuel Smith, 29 years old, of 1,827 Bathgate Avenue, to maximum terms of four and five years, respectively, for stealing $26,000 from the Cosmopolitan Bank, Westchester and Prospect Avenues, the Bronx, on the night of March 11, 1919.

Abraham Leavitt of 1,333 Southern Boulevard, brother of one of the convicted men, was arrested soon after they were sentenced and held in $2,500 bail by Magistrate Max Levine in the Yorkville Court. He was charged with receiving the money stolen from the bank.

Frederick Matthias of 425 East Eighty-second Street, known as "Young Ketchel," was held in $10,000 bail for the Grand Jury by Magistrate Raphael Tobias, in the Harlem Court, on a charge of looting a home in East 116th Street. Joseph Alendorf, 19 years old, of Eighty-second Street, was held in similar bail on a charge of acting in concert with Matthias, and bail of $20,000 was demanded from William Wright of 270 East Fourteenth Street, who was held by Magistrate Douras, in the West Side Court, on a charge of robbing the apartment of Mrs. Margaret Hammon of 116 West Ninety-first Street.

NEW YORKERS FLEE AS BON AIR BURNS

JUDGE LOVETT AMONG THEM

Nathan Straus and Other Residents Shelter Men and Women Who Escape in Night Clothes.

Special to The New York Times.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 4.—The Bon Air, among the best known of Southern Winter resort hotels, was destroyed by fire which broke out early this morning, the structure being in ashes by 6 A. M. after burning two hours and a half. Only the servants' quarters were left standing.

Most of the 260 patrons were forced to leave the burning structure in scanty attire. Several who were caught on upper floors when the flames barred their exit were rescued by firemen. Many of the patrons threw their valuable possessions out of windows and recovered them later, but the greater part lost all their baggage. Among those who lost most of their personal effects were Judge Robert S. Lovett, President of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and Mrs. Lovett. None of the patrons was injured.

Staying at the hotel from New York were William Benedict, Edward A. Pierce, Louis Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ziegler, Hugh Hartshorne, Mrs. Frank Tilford and Miss Tilford, Miss L. B. White, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Turner Lynch, Albert S. Cox, Mrs. R. R. Crosby, R. N. Crosby, Mrs. Albert H. Wheeler, Mrs. G. H. Humphries, Mr. and Mrs. Van Duzen Burton, Mrs. Charles E. Tappan, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rubmore.

The season was at its height, nearly all of the 260 rooms being occupied. Many of the refugee patrons were cared for by the Partridge Inn, a nearby Winter resort hotel. Scores of families living in the hill section went to the fire and offered their homes to the homeless ones. Nathan Straus, who has a cottage on the hill, took in Sir Ashley Sparks and Lady Sparks of the Cunard Line. Dr. P. C. Comey took in Mr. and Mrs. Cabot Moss of Boston. Mr. and Mrs. John C. White went to the Partridge Inn. Mr. White was formerly Lord Mayor of Belfast, and is a brother of the late J. B. White, who, at his death, gave Augusta $500,000.

The Bon Air opened Dec. 15, 1889. It was built on the site of the home of the late W. H. Tutt. Its capital stock is $300,000, and all of the stock is owned in Augusta. The property, building and furnishings were valued at $1,000,000. The insurance was $550,000.

Twenty-five years ago C. G. Trussell, one of the most popular hotel managers in the country, and former manager of the Hotel Frontenac in the Thousand Islands, which also was burned down, became manager and made the hostelry known throughout the country. Leading men of America have sought it annually. William H. Taft has been an annual patron. John D. Rockefeller for years made it his Winter headquarters. Henry C. Frick, in life, was an annual visitor. Governor James M. Cox of Ohio spent much of his time there last Winter. Nicholas Murray Butler had reservations for this season. Warren G. Harding was a guest last year. Lord Shaughnessy of Canada left the hotel last week.

The general opinion is that the hotel will be rebuilt in time for next season. Nathan Straus has made an offer to aid financially in any amount to bring about prompt reconstruction.

It is believed the fire was caused by defective insulation at an electric switch box in a corner of the dining room. The building was a frame structure, and burned rapidly.

Two of the guests, Frank A. Lawrence of the Commodore Hotel, New York, and M. T. Wing of St. Johnsbury, Vt., who were ill with pneumonia, were removed to the University Hospital. A squad of twenty soldiers from the Augusta Arsenal assisted city police and firemen in assisting the patrons and caring for property.

MUST REPAY $100,000.

Court Rules Against New York Life Insurance Co. in Garden Deal.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court decided yesterday that the New York Life Insurance Company must repay $100,000 deposited with it by Garden Tower Corporation, which William C. Roberts organized in 1917 to take over a contract for the purchase of Madison Square Garden for $2,400,000. The purchaser refused to complete the deal because the title was not clear and the insurance company declined to refund the $100,000 cash payment.

The Appellate Division ruled that the mechanics' liens for $1,537 and $1,199 constituted encumbrances which the insurance company could have removed if it wished to do so and that the buyer was justified in refusing to complete the purchase because that was not done.

Alabama Miners Move Into Tents.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 4.—Families of 500 miners already have been housed in tents and 7,500 others will be established under canvas, according to announcement today at headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America here. It was estimated that 10,000 miners would need homes as a result of court decisions ejecting strikers from coal company property.

THE PROFITS TAX MUST GO.

Except here and there one of its original instigators and sponsors, the excess profits tax has no friends. It is almost universally agreed and conceded that these taxes, and the higher surtaxes, must be repealed. Opponents of the sales tax as a substitute for the present income and profits taxes have pointed to England in justification of their attitude. There is a country, they exclaim, old, experienced, wise in taxation, that retains the excess profits taxes imposed during the war. England herself destroys their argument. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Austen Chamberlain, announces the abandonment of the taxes which took 60 per cent of excess profits; save that upon concerns established before the war, the tax will be retained until the end of the seven-year period from the date when it was imposed. It means a serious loss of revenue; for the fiscal year ending March 31 last, the yield was £290,045,000, and for the current fiscal year the estimate is £220,000,000. It is an encouraging sign of improving fiscal conditions that Mr. Chamberlain proposes no new tax in substitution. The budget deficit has disappeared and England is reducing her obligations to foreign Powers. The excess profits tax, he says, had the single merit of bringing in a large revenue in time of war when the need was imperative. It was open to great objection; it was arbitrary, and it encouraged extravagance and discouraged enterprise.

A flagrant instance of the vicious character of the tax imposed upon corporations in this country is disclosed in the annual statement of Montgomery Ward & Co. of Chicago. With net sales in 1920 amounting to $101,745,270, the company shows losses of $7,855,278, including depreciation. Yet during this year of loss the Federal Government took from the company $860,326 in taxes upon business of the year 1919. Austen Chamberlain puts it mildly when he says the excess profits taxes discourage enterprise. They are deadening; they are beyond toleration. Even the lawmakers, who customarily view economic questions from the angle of politics, have been brought to see that they must be done away with.

HOSPITAL CARE OF WAR VETERANS.

In the middle of January, Surgeon General H. S. Cumming of the Bureau of Public Health Service reported that sick and insane men whose afflictions could be charged to their service in the war were breaking down at the rate of 1,000 a month, and that it had become necessary to care for them in "flimsy and inflammable" buildings. In a letter to Senator Ashurst, the Surgeon General said that the War Risk Insurance Bureau itself had 19,019 patients. He believed that within a few years, as the condition of many ex-service men would inevitably grow worse and new cases would occur, 30,000 beds would be needed. For the week ended Jan. 1, the number of sick and disabled patients reported was 22,292. The Public Health Service had 19,878 beds, more than half of them in unsafe structures. More beds were needed for general medical and surgical patients. Many of the broken-down soldiers suffered from tuberculosis, hundreds of them were insane.

When Senator Robinson, speaking in support of an amendment to the Sundry Civil bill appropriating $30,000,000 for the immediate relief of wounded and disabled soldiers, said that the continued failure of Congress to provide adequate "hospitalization" for disabled soldiers could not be condoned, he put the matter mildly. It is a reproach, and it would be a scandal if Congress were not so confused by multiplying demands upon it that the plight of the soldier is not well understood at the Capitol. The country will agree with Senator Robinson when he says:

> Congress may postpone consideration of tariff legislation and even the general appropriations until the next Congress, but it must redeem its obligation to former service men, thousands of whom might be relieved from afflictions and injuries which threaten them with lifelong suffering and with premature death.

Senator Smoot's proposal that $12,500,000 be appropriated for the relief of the unfortunate soldiers as a compromise should not be entertained, if the Surgeon General's report is accurate. Doubtless it is. This is not a case for half measures. Let the pruning knife be applied elsewhere, to estimates for the maintenance of sound and whole men in the army, if necessary. Veterans of the war must not die of neglect.

DUNSANY AND HIS SHOTGUNS.

The fact that Lord Dunsany has been convicted by a British court-martial of having some shotguns in his castle, "not under effective military control," is not of great importance even to Dunsany. He paid a fine of £25 rather than spend three months in jail, but he will not miss the money. In the tragedy of Irish rebellion and reprisal this is hardly even comic relief. But from the point of view of the British administration in Ireland the episode is very important indeed. It is only a symptom, but a significant symptom. It proves that the British rulers in Ireland are stupid; that they have no imagination; and in a situation such as they are facing stupidity is a more serious shortcoming than any amount of malice.

Dunsany is one of the three or four best-known men in Ireland. Anything that happens to him is bound to become known, and immediately, the world over. Incidentally, he differs from a great many of the present opponents of the British Government in Ireland in that he fought gallantly and was seriously wounded in the British Army during the war. Dublin Castle chooses by arresting and trying this man to announce to the world that it is a crime for a famous author, a veteran with an honorable record, a man who has never been publicly accused of any seditious enterprise, to possess a few fowling-pieces in his home. No doubt the men who had him arrested thought, if they thought at all, that this would merely prove that martial law was no respecter of persons. Perhaps it ought to prove that, but it is much more likely to convince a great many Irishmen that, if this sort of thing happens to a famous and innocuous person like Dunsany, much worse things are happening to the obscure and suspected. And while that may not be true, Dublin Castle has created the suspicion. If the men who are trying to "restore order" in Ireland have no more perception than this, there is not much chance of their efforts having any other result than that of making bad matters worse.

A SERVICE TO THE PUBLIC.

In the general satisfaction over the conviction of Brindell we should not forget the larger implications of the affair. It is not simply a case of one individual extortionist in the building trades being laid by the heels. That is but an incident in a great and complex undertaking. Mr. Untermyer, we are confident, would regard it as of but minor importance. To his skill as an investigator we no doubt owe it that Brindell's crimes were uncovered, and to his zeal and ability as a prosecutor that a conviction was obtained. But it is necessary to see the particular event in its relation to the whole campaign which Mr. Untermyer has been conducting.

He was the prime mover in the legislative inquiry into housing conditions in this city. To that work he has devoted his time and energy, without pay, in such a manner as to place the community in his debt. His aim was, first of all, to free the building trades from the extra levy upon it by grafting labor leaders and cowardly contractors. These needless costs have now been largely removed, for the time being at least, thanks to the relentless probing and exposure in which Mr. Untermyer is a master. He has really done a marked service to organized labor. It will be a great advantage to the unions in the building trades to get rid of the suspicion and aversion which have attached to them because they were believed to be the willing tools of crooked leaders, who mulcted the public at the same time that they feathered their own nests. And it is to be hoped also that Mr. Untermyer will have done something to give moral courage and a sense of civic duty to those big building contractors who meekly submitted to blackmail by Brindell and others. It was worse than blackmail; it was thinly disguised bribery by the builders, in order to get an unfair advantage, the expense of which they coolly proceeded to charge up to cost of construction. On every $20,000 they paid to grafters they themselves made $2,000 profit. Their offense was in many ways worse than that of the labor leaders; for by a little manly spirit and the payment of only a fraction of what they gave in bribes they could have exposed and frustrated the whole scoundrelly proceeding long before Mr. Untermyer set about doing so.

The total effect of what has been done by Mr. Untermyer ought to be not only a tonic to the morals of the building trades, but a positive impulse to their doing more and better work. The general feeling must be that we are now within sight of honest costs of construction. This should give an impetus all along the line. Hesitating builders ought to feel encouraged to go on with projected enterprises. Real estate investments will be regarded with more favor. The lending institutions can with more confidence advance funds needed to carry out housing plans. And, as has been pointed out many times, a sound and active movement in building at this time would be a great aid in financial and industrial recovery. It would give work to men now unemployed. It would make a market for materials, and mean freight to the railroads. It would mean better living conditions, and so better health.

It is large results of this kind that Mr. Untermyer has all along had in mind. The bringing to light of dishonest practices and the punishment of crooked men were only by the way, as it were, only means to the end. And it is the brightened outlook all around, as regards building and housing, that the public should keep in its thoughts when it reflects on the value of the work which Mr. Untermyer has done for the community.

PROTECTIONIST TESTIMONY.

The Times made mention the other day of the present opposition to high tariffs of that lifelong protectionist, Mr. A. B. Hepburn. There are plenty of other distinguished Republicans who share his views. Among them must be reckoned President Nicholas Murray Butler, who described himself in a speech before the Queens Chamber of Commerce, two weeks ago, as "a convinced protectionist of the school of Alexander Hamilton, of Henry Clay and of William McKinley." Yet he confessed that what now chiefly hampers American producers is the "demoralized world market." He added that "the time has now come to give up once for all the notion that American industry and trade can live on the home market, and that the home market is sufficient unto itself."

In welcoming such testimonies to the true economic faith, it has to be admitted that events have been more powerful than logic in bringing them forth. But that does not greatly matter. The war wrought, inevitably, changes of mental attitude along with the radically changed situation; and this altered view of high tariffs is but one of them.

THE MAYOR AND THE GOVERNOR.

Toward the end of his Administration, and at the opening of what is thought to be his campaign for reelection, the Mayor seeks to raise an issue between himself and the Governor. The Governor represents the entire State, including the city, more nearly than the Mayor represents the entire city. For the Mayor's Administration has divided the city, and there are in the city multitudes of dissentients from the Mayor's methods of administering his office. The Mayor's view is that the Governor is invading the city's right to home rule in the Mayor's manner. The Governor's position is that the city has the right to be relieved of misrule in the Mayor's manner.

It must be remembered that the city exists under a charter from the State as the basis of its right to home rule. New York is not a "free" city, with sovereign rights like the State's. The State is the superior, not the city, and the certain majority by which the Governor is Governor has a right to its opinion and to effectuate its opinion of the Mayor's misrule of the city. It is not the first time that the city has abused its privilege of home rule, and that the State has been under the necessity of rescuing the city from maladministration. Possibly the present Mayor's Administration is superior to those others of evil memory from which the city has sought refuge and rescue by "up-State." We would not beg the question against the Mayor by assuming that either his acts or his intentions are as evil as they seem to some immoderate censors. We concede that there is room for differences of opinion, and that the Mayor has a right to a popular judgment on his Administration. But surely he ought to seek approval of his Administration on the record it has made in comparison with the promises on which he gained official power.

His predecessor's extravagance was to be curbed, and better uses made of the people's money. What is the explanation or excuse for an increase of his predecessor's budget by more than $100,000,000? The debt charge on the taxpayers is $39,000,000 larger, and tax rates and valuations are correspondingly larger. But with all those dollars to spend the Mayor has not redeemed his promise to increase the public school accommodations for the children of the poor. So far from doing so, the city's largest budget does not include $27,000,000 for the schools, for which application is to be made to the Legislature. Memory is searched in vain for any comparable exploitation of the city's funds without return in service to the citizens. Such misrule is a greater affront to the authority which gave the city home rule than the demand that such misrule shall be corrected by the State's superior authority is an affront to the people of the city. If the Mayor will pardon us, we would rather hear him on the question of his maladministration than on such false issues as home rule vs. misrule, or eight-cent fares, which the Governor has not suggested.

THE LADY AND THE GHOST.

Nobody ought to blame the harmless little fiction by which a French journalist sought to get an interview with William Hohenzollern. A person who for years deluged the world with words can't be healthy on a diet of seclusion and silence. Suppressed cacoethes might well be fatal to him. So the journalist invented a monthly review to be devoted to an imperial renaissance and sent his goddaughter, evidently a very clever girl, to Doorn. We see her running about the village, asking questions at all the shops. "All lips are sealed." Dutch lips often are, and Miss Thiernesse's doubtless excellent German was wasted on unwilling ears. Doorn is sour to correspondents. So many have lingered there in vain. Photographing of the Kaiser is said to be prohibited. Probably he has used up all the films in Europe. Doorn has at least been made thoroughly Dutch and clean. A friendly butcher gives a tip. The visitor has the happiness of meeting in his villa Herr Kogge, sometime Secretary to the sometime Kaiser. "A pale, dry-looking sort of man, and behind his black-rimmed spectacles he looked like an owl." Thousands of Germans look like that, whereas millions of Americans are now unappeasably "dry-looking."

Herr Kogge touches us in our tenderest midst. He must have taken off his funereal "dimmers" and wiped them as he said mournfully: "We can't do anything. So fallen, how we are fallen!" Fallen, indeed, from the dithyrambic heights where Karl Rosner knelt by the Kaiser, who had faced successfully four years of film-fighting and never yet lowered his voice. Men in field gray stood by the imperial car. The great little man told them of "the German successes" and told Karl to tell them, too. "Tell it to your comrades. Tell them that they, too, may rejoice. Tell them also that I have told you, I, in the midst of the fighting."

The lady interviews the indigenes. Though the former divinity's shrine is hedged, his daily habits are familiar. Up at half past six, as soon as he has dressed he goes to the entrance of his garden, where carpenters and masons are building "a massive and frightful gate." Thus the exile has German art before him. Undoubtedly he gives valuable advice and directions to the builders. His powers as a sawyer have been overestimated. He saws a branch a day, presumably a small one, to be cut into slivers, each dispatched to faithful monarchists that they may bequeath it as a rich legacy unto their issue. William's place looks like a chicken yard, an appropriate site for a hero who has shown himself to be what the French call a "poule mouillée." Amid the perfume of flowers, dear to the violet-picking Kaiser that was, the girl wanders. At length two figures in long olive raincoats appear. One is tall, pale, the foil. The other—sit still, our hearts, sit still!

> That nose, slightly hooked! Those hard eyes, underlined with layers of wrinkles, and that left arm short and almost inert, the hand of which cannot be seen because it is always in the pocket of his coat!

Only the tall man will talk. He is skeptical about the new review. At last the little man, smiling as he hears how "precious" a few words of his would be, condescends to ask what word is wanted. "A word on the past, to begin with," is the sly answer. He speaks: "It was a beautiful dream, too soon finished, and now—" Then, as all the novels say, a strange thing happened:

> He stopped. His face changed. His color, already pale, became ghostlike. He looked at the ground. His mustache trembled; the phrase used last night by Kogge rung in my ears: "How we are fallen!"

"And now?" quoth the fair inquisitor. "And now—this!" was the answer, hurled through the fence of the clenched teeth and accompanied with what must have been a fine tragic "nervous gesture of the right hand."

A long process for a short interview, but worth going through. This ghostlike pallor, this uncanny shaking of mustache and beard in some unheard supernormal psychic wind, points as plain as day to a conclusion. It was William, so much as there is any William, that spoke; and yet it was only his ghost and double. Under the régime of enforced silence he, who was never anything but a voice, has faded. In a way common to ghosts there is a physical form and pressure to that part of the viewless air which he occupies. He can still gibber a very little. His 400,000 words a day for forty years are now shrunk to a few hundred. "So fallen, how we are fallen!"

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Lawyer and Layman Morality.

At all times and in all countries there has been something—and often a good deal—of antagonism felt and expressed for lawyers as a class. Of course, for almost every one there arises, sooner or later, at least one emergency for the meeting of which he is very glad to have the assistance of a lawyer, and not infrequently, after the help has been given, it is rewarded with the beneficiary's gratitude as well as with his money. Yet the antagonism as between class and class remains.

One of the reasons for this widespread and seemingly irremediable and irremovable feeling, and perhaps the most important of them, is the position taken by all lawyers with respect to their own rights and privileges when defending a client accused of crime.

The so-called layman usually makes up his mind as to the guilt or innocence of the accused as the trial of the case goes on, and often he reaches a fixed belief that the charges are true long before the trial ends. Then, if the termination is conviction, he remembers resentfully that the prisoner's counsel, who must have known the facts better than anybody else, vehemently protested the man's innocence. Not only that, but he savagely attacked the lawyers on the other side, did his best to impugn and discredit the prosecution's witnesses, and, should the case have had journalistic attention, he is more than likely to have denounced the papers for having calumniated a paragon of all the virtues and created an atmosphere of prejudice or hatred against him.

To the layman all this is proof that lawyer morality is different from other morality—that it isn't morality at all, but just the reverse.

Two Views of What Is Right.

There is, naturally, another side to this question—the lawyer's. He holds the layman utterly wrong in assuming or admitting that any man is guilty until after he has been convicted in court, and until after all the possibilities under the law of technicality and appeal have been exhausted.

Sometimes the lawyer goes so far as to say, with quite a straight face, that until all the facilities of legal defense have been utilized a man really is not guilty, no matter what he may have done, whether murder or theft. Other lawyers protest that all they do is to guard the legal rights of their clients and to see to it that they either are acquitted or convicted by due process. There may be lawyers who keep their activities strictly in accord with this second and easily defensible claim, but—well, not many of them are practicing in the criminal courts.

It is little wonder, therefore, that laymen tend to view lawyers askance, to say about them, occasionally, things that are unjust as well as unkind, and to deny to them the credit they earn and deserve for their many and great public services.

Daylight Saving Helpful.

Another ship with typhus cases on board has arrived in this port, and the fact that the victims were taken ashore and put in a Brooklyn hospital before the nature of their malady was recognized illustrated the truth of what Dr. Copeland said in Albany at the hearing on daylight saving as to the danger from epidemics to which this country is now exposed.

It also revealed, perhaps, that health inspections on shipboard are not always so careful as they should be, and also that there is need for a tightening of restrictions and examinations at the foreign ports of departure.

It is unnecessary to be either alarmed or excited, however, over the presence here of a few typhus cases. The disease, though most serious in itself, is one not particularly hard to handle when the proper measures are taken while the cases are few. Indeed, if everybody scrupulously observed, all the time, the well-known rules of domestic and personal cleanliness and hygiene, typhus would not spread any more than does yellow fever in a city where there are no mosquitos of the kind that carry it. But many do not observe those rules, and others cannot do so all the time, so the possibility of an extended infection exists here as elsewhere.

Distinctively a slum and filth disease, circumstances, especially those of war and after-war, may lead to the extension of typhus to places and persons that ordinarily would be quite safe from it. Its presence is therefore a legitimate cause of anxiety and an incentive to activity on the part of our health authorities. As Dr. Copeland told the legislators, among the best of defenses against this and other like maladies is the keeping as high as may be the general health condition, both of communities and of individuals. One way, the easiest and cheapest of all, is to make sunshine and the open air available to as many people as possible as long as possible. Daylight saving does that.

Airplanes at Least Can Glide.

Tests so far made by the French military authorities of the flying machine invented by the Argentine inventor Pescara have been directed only to determining that it is well constructed. That was demonstrated to their satisfaction, according to yesterday's dispatch in The Times, and next will come the conclusive trials—those of the machine rising into, traversing and alighting from the air in long flight.

Theoretically the "helicopter" idea is sound, but hitherto it has not worked well in practice. That, however, does not prove it impracticable, any more than did the innumerable failures with flying machines of a hundred kinds that preceded the success achieved by the brothers Wright.

Already it is confessed that the helicopter will lack one merit of the airplane. It has no planes at all and cannot glide, but, with engines stopped, drops like a stone. That will be a serious inferiority to the now regular airplane until "engine trouble" becomes much more rare than it is now.

Can a Nation Repent?

You have several times declared that Germany should repent before mercy is shown her. Granting that she has greatly offended, how is a national repentance performed or expressed? Is there any record in history of such a thing?

SONG.

I am not sad from Sorrow
Beyond Time's skillful healing,
Who, every day and morrow,
Some cherished pang is stealing
Till tears forego their duty!
But I am sad from Beauty—
From her my heartache borrow,
Who is herself so sad.
Like one who hath been banished
She speaketh of things vanished,
But, with this half-revealing
Of glories she once had,
Plants high immortal feeling
That urgeth to pursue
Her swiftly-homing pinion
Unto her lost dominion;
And there, with vision single,
Which her old scholars knew,
With utmost Good and True.

Thou, ever homeward turning
Past mortal eye's discerning,
Deny me not some clue—
I have been homesick, too!

Action of the Geneva Assembly Toward Carrying Out the Purpose of the Framers.

By DAVID HUNTER MILLER.

(Second and Last Article).

If my Republican Pro-League friend is wrong as to what happened at Paris, he is also wrong as to what has happened since. Here his difficulty appears to arise from a study simply of newspaper dispatches and from a failure to examine the records of the League itself, records which have been received in this country, including even the daily reports of the recent meeting at Geneva, although these latter are perhaps not generally available.

But surely at this time, when the Covenant has been in print for the better part of two years, it is rather late to refer to what "has been commonly said by newspaper correspondents" for an interpretation of the clear and precise language of Article XXVI. of the Covenant. That article says that amendments to the text are to "take effect when ratified by the members of the League" in certain numbers. Does any one doubt what the word "ratified" means? Is there any ambiguity in the expression "the members of the League"?

And when we read that the view that the Covenant means what it says in plain English, namely, that amendments must be ratified by certain of the members of the League, "had never been stressed before the Geneva session," one almost despairs of belief that accuracy is worth while. Did not "a Pro-League Republican" ever read President Lowell's paper published in June, 1919, where it said:

> "No doubt proposed amendments would be discussed by the Council, and probably also by the Assembly, but this is not obligatory, the only essential thing being that they should be ratified by the nations themselves as stated."

I notice the comments of the author of the papers I am reviewing, on the subject of the relations of the Council and the Assembly.

The fact is that the views of Mr. Balfour and the similar views of Dr. Van Hamel, which the author quotes, to the effect that the lines of division between the Council and Assembly should be established "by common understanding, by written conventions, by general practice," &c., were not abandoned at all, as "a Pro-League Republican" says. Nor did the Assembly demand any amendment of the Covenant. What it did do was to adopt a report of one of its own committees which substantially embodied the views of Mr. Balfour and Dr. Van Hamel, as Paragraph VI. of that report definitely shows:

> In the opinion of the committee it would not seem to be desirable or necessary to formulate in explicit language at the present time what are the precise functions which the Council and the Assembly are respectively expected to perform. In the report presented by Mr. Balfour and approved by the Council, the following conclusion is reached:
> "The moral I would draw from these broad considerations is that the less we attempt to formulate in explicit language the precise functions which the Council and the Assembly are respectively expected to perform, the better for the future of the League.
> "Let us substitute for any such formalism of our respective duties a resolve to deal with any difficulties between the Assembly and the Council not according to prearranged rules but according to the dictates of fact and common sense, treating each case as it arises on its merits."
> The committee recommends the Assembly to accept and act upon this conclusion.

That report is Assembly Document No. 159 and it was adopted by the Assembly on Dec. 6, 1920.

And while "a Pro-League Republican" is right in thinking that there was nothing revolutionary in the proposal of Mr. Rowell of Canada, an examination of the proposal itself shows that it amounted to nothing more than a statement of the obvious.

What Mr. Rowell proposed was this:

"Under the Covenant the members of the Council exercise their functions as such members as the representatives of their respective States, and they have no standing on the Council except as such representatives."

And in commenting on the proposal M. Viviani very naturally said:

"A representative could not have any opinion different from that of his Government, for one must either agree to represent one's Government or refuse to do so. A person who agreed to act as a representative must obey the instructions given in his mandate."

And what the Assembly voted was as follows:

"Under the Covenant, representatives sitting on the Council and the Assembly render their decisions as the representatives of their respective States, and in rendering such decisions they have no standing except as such representatives."

The unwisdom of relying upon cabled newspaper reports, necessarily hastily prepared, could hardly be better shown than by the comments made by Mr. Taft on the supposed view of Mr. Rowell, comments which are quoted by "a Pro-League Republican," though not approved by him.

But the view of "a Pro-League Republican" that Article XVI. of the Covenant was "repudiated at the first session of the League at Geneva" is erroneous.

And in considering this question it is hardly worth while to discuss reports as to what was said at Geneva in debate; but I must point out that Switzerland most emphatically, despite her neutrality, did not repudiate Article XVI. On the contrary, Mr. Motta, during the debate on Dec. 10, reaffirmed the duties of Switzerland in that regard.

But what is of importance is what the Assembly did, and did unanimously; of course, the Assembly did not decide that the fact as to whether a State was or was not in default under Article XVI. should be determined by the Council, for the Covenant does not say so; but the Assembly did adopt on Dec. 10, without a dissenting vote, a long report, much too long, indeed, to quote in full, looking toward the carrying into effect of Article XVI.

But I may at least quote a part of the resolution which the Assembly unanimously adopted, with a decision to consider the subject more fully in detail next year, upon receiving the report of an International Blockade Commission to be constituted for a study of the subject:

> (a) It shall be the duty of the Secretary General to call the attention of the Council to any facts which in his opinion show that a member of the League has become a Covenant-breaking State within the meaning of Article XVI.
> (b) Upon receiving such an intimation the Council, upon request of any member, shall hold a meeting with the least possible delay to consider it, and shall send a copy of the procès-verbal of the meeting to all the other members of the League.
> (c) As soon as a member of the League is satisfied, in consequence of the communication of the procès-verbal of the Council, that a breach of Covenant within Article XVI. has occurred, it is its duty to take measures for the purpose of carrying out the first paragraph of Article XVI.
> (d) These measures should include the breaking off of all diplomatic relations;
> (e) The prevention of any commercial or other intercourse between the residents within its borders and those residing in the Covenant-breaking State. For this purpose the necessary legislation preventing intercourse between the residents of the two States should be immediately passed, according to the Constitution of each member of the League; but relations which exist for purely humanitarian purposes may be maintained; and
> (f) Where the Covenant-breaking State has a seaboard, it will be necessary to institute an effective blockage thereof, and the Council should forthwith consider which members of the League can most conveniently be asked to discharge this duty.

Nor did Denmark report "itself constitutionally unable to contribute its quota of troops to the League forces destined for Vilna."

What Denmark did is told in Le Temps of Dec. 4, as follows:

"This invitation has been communicated by the Danish Government to the chiefs of the political parties of Parliament. The proposal has been accepted in principle, but in order to determine the questions which it presents a law must be voted by the two chambers. A bill will be introduced as soon as possible, perhaps early in December."

Whether America is to join the League or not remains to be seen. But in the meantime it will be well to have a clear view that the Covenant goes at least as far as public sentiment permits. Attempts to go further, by way of the International Court of Justice or otherwise, are doomed to failure in advance. Progress toward entry into the League will not be helped by partisan misconceptions of what President Wilson did or failed to do at Paris; but if the Republicans are any happier in thinking that there is something Republican in the fact that the Assembly at Geneva assumed that what the Covenant means is to be determined by looking at its text no one will begrudge them that pleasure.

Received With a Check.

Will you kindly forward the enclosed check to the Captain and Quartermaster of the Jersey boat which rescued the little dog. It was worth a great deal to know that there are men who stop in the rush and turmoil of city life to do a kind act and who do it as spontaneously as those men did. I would also like to thank The Times for bringing it to the attention of its readers in the delightful way it was written.

CHRISTINE C. WILSON.

Of the many interesting editorials and other articles which it has been my pleasure to read in The New York Times for a period of years which I hesitate to mention, I have not enjoyed or appreciated anything more than your recognition of the unselfish and heroic act of the Quartermaster of the ferryboat Edgewater in rescuing a dog. Let me say that I was one of those who witnessed this dog's plight, and while feeling the same impulse, lacked the courage and strength to do that which has received and deserved such commendatory mention.

The daily issue of The New York Times is as important as my breakfast, and you have added still another reason for my failing to understand why it has competition.

Governor Miller.

Your editorial article of Jan. 31 on "Governor Miller's Plan Gaining" is splendid; also the one headed "An Old-Fashioned Governor."

I venture to prophesy that as time passes the voters will find that in electing Nathan L. Miller Governor of New York they have placed in office a fearless, outspoken Executive of hard, common sense and sterling honesty; one who will give them a good, clean administration if the decent citizens and newspapers of the State will stand back of him.

It is encouraging to note that while your paper did not support him you are giving a public official the real help and encouragement a great newspaper can give.

TO PATCH PLYMOUTH ROCK.

Sculptor Decides It Can Be Restored to Its Original Appearance.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Feb. 4.—Plymouth Rock can be permanently patched in such manner as to restore virtually its original shape and to preserve it for posterity, in the opinion of Cyrus E. Dallin of Arlington, the sculptor, commissioned by the Pilgrim Tercentenary Commission to determine the best method of rejoining the rock which is now in three pieces. Mr. Dallin said today that he thought modern methods including the application of some of the principles of dentistry would bind the boulder together again so that it would stand for centuries. It is planned to restore it to its former place on the shore line and to the aspect presented when the Pilgrims made it the landing spot for their settlement.

The sculptor said he found the rock fully exposed probably for the first time since it rolled in on a glacial movement that made it the only boulder of any size on this coast for several miles. The under surface is rounded like other glacially worn rocks and having been covered probably by sand when the Pilgrims landed and by mud since, has a lighter appearance than the two exposed pieces into which the upper part has been broken. Mr. Dallin estimated that originally the rock measured roughly eight feet by six. It has been broken and chipped from time to time, relic hunters have carried off pieces and some of the original contour has been lost, but he thought it could be restored to approximate closely the rock as it stood 300 years ago.

WHITE NOW FACES DEMOCRATIC SPLIT

THEY WANT NEW CHAIRMAN

He Will Get Petition Within 72 Hours, It Is Said, Insisting on Full Meeting by March 1.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Instead of bringing harmony into the ranks of the Democratic National Committee, the action of George White, its Chairman, in naming an Executive Committee of sixteen members to meet in Washington Feb. 17 to give "counsel" on "an efficient organization of the National Committee" has threatened a wide-open split in that organization.

Many members of the National Committee demand a complete reorganization of the party management, with a view to putting it in position to take every possible advantage of the political mistakes that may be made in the Republican Party during the Harding Administration. With that end in view they are strongly urging that Chairman White call a meeting of the full membership of the National Committee to consider reorganization and to select a new Chairman who can devote his entire time to party affairs and put them in shape for success in the Congressional campaign of 1922 and the Presidential campaign of 1924.

Chairman White has so far refused to call a meeting of the full committee and is declared to be taking a stand in opposition to the movement for reorganization. The appointment of the Executive Committee of sixteen is regarded by the advocates of reorganization as an attempt to prevent a change in the Chairmanship and to hold the situation in the hands of men now in control of the national machinery of the party. Those identified with the movement for a change in Chairmanship and thoroughgoing reorganization, and who are calling themselves "progressives," are authority for the statement that postponement of the reorganization which they demand is breeding serious discontent and causing fatal delay to plans for putting the party in shape to take advantage of Republican shortcomings.

Leaders for Reorganization.

Thomas B. Love, of Dallas, Texas, Democratic National Committeeman from that State, is actively identified with the movement for reorganization. William Jennings Bryan is also giving it positive support. He has told "progressives" that he favors it. Both of the Democratic National Committee members from Nebraska, W. H. Thompson, and Dr. Jennie Callass, the woman member from that State, are doing likewise. Among the other supporters are understood to be Samuel B. Amidon of Kansas, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, Senator A. A. Jones of New Mexico, Senator Josiah O. Wolcott of Delaware, Patrick H. Quinn of Rhode Island, Robert C. Murchie of New Hampshire, Charles Boeschenstein of Illinois, Joseph Martin of Wisconsin, Mrs. Peter Olesen of Minnesota, and Mrs. Campbell Cantrill of Kentucky.

The declaration was made tonight that within the next seventy-two hours Chairman White will be confronted with a petition signed by at least a majority of the 108 members of the National Committee insisting that he call a meeting of the whole membership not later than March 1.

Presidential Candidate Involved.

Involved in the contest between the rival factions is the possible Presidential candidate in 1924. It is asserted that during the visit of former Governor Cox of Ohio to Washington last week conferences took place that have resulted in a political coalition between Mr. Cox, Attorney General Palmer and Senator Underwood of Alabama, one of the purposes of which is reported to be to keep down the McAdoo group within the party organization. Another object is declared to be to so shape party affairs as to make the East the fighting ground in the next national campaign, and base its activities on efforts to win States like New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Indiana.

There is said to be a strong sentiment in favor of Thomas L. Chadbourne of New York for Chairman of the committee. Daniel C. Roper, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and supporter of McAdoo, is also favored.

"HIC BIBITUR" OBEYED.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

MILAN, Feb. 4.—In a biographical sketch of the late Cardinal Ferrari, the Corriere della Sera tells an amusing story taken from his lips concerning a jovial parish priest of the Brianza district who had margined his liturgical office book at every few pages in red ink with the parenthetic phrase, "Hic bibitur" (pause here for a drink).

One evening the late Cardinal Primate of Lombardy arrived in the parish for his pastoral visitation and besought his host to lend him a breviary till his luggage had been unpacked. Thoughtlessly the parish priest hastened to hand him the "Hic bibitur" edition and left the Cardinal to his devotions.

Five minutes later his Eminence began an impatient summons on the bell placed at his elbow and kept up its jingle-jangle till the flurried priest reappeared in the doorway. Then the Cardinal with brusque emphasis demanded:

"Reverend rector, are rubrics made to be observed or are they not?"

"Decidedly, they are, your Eminence."

DUNNIGAN'S SENATE SEAT.

Recount in the Bronx Gives Democrat 11 Votes Over Taylor.

The State Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, of which Senator Schuyler M. Meyer is chairman, completed the recount of ballots yesterday in the Twenty-third Senatorial District, the Bronx, and announced that it would recommend the seating of the contestant, John J. Dunnigan, the Democratic candidate, to whom the recount gave a plurality of eleven votes.

Senator George H. Taylor, the Republican candidate, received a plurality of twenty-seven votes in the official canvass and obtained the seat. The recount gave Dunnigan 28,730 votes and Taylor 28,719.

Senator Dunnigan, who was waiting to learn the result in the Municipal Building, thanked the committee, composed of five Republicans and two Democrats, for its fairness.

In the contests in the Sixth and Seventh Bronx Assembly Districts the recount had progressed sufficiently to make it certain that the seats of Assemblymen Thomas J. MacDonald and Joseph V. McKee, Democrats, were not in danger. In the Eighth Bronx Assembly District contest Edward J. Walsh, Democrat, was leading Charles A. Conner, Republican, by 232.

BOLSHEVIKI PAINTED BY MRS. SHERIDAN

English Artist Gives Word Picture of Soviet Leaders Whose Busts She Made.

Radicals Applaud, Others in Audience Hiss, Remarks Favorable to Revolutionists.

Mrs. Clare Sheridan, the English artist who made busts from life of Lenin and Trotzky and told in her famous diary published in THE NEW YORK TIMES of her two months in Moscow, lectured and exhibited her work to a large audience at Aeolian Hall last night.

Her lecture, like her diary, was a succession of intimate pictures of the Bolshevist chiefs, incidents, anecdotes, conversations, fantastic and pathetic scenes in Moscow, skillfully told in a manner as personal as Boswell's "Life of Johnson."

Mrs. Sheridan gave very little of her own opinions and confined herself mainly to reporting what she had seen, whether the impression was good or bad. She said at the outset that it was impossible for any one to touch Russia without being branded a propagandist, and she gave Bolsheviki and anti-Bolsheviki about an equal chance to claim her. One of two good things she said about her hosts drew tentative handclaps from radicals who were numerous in the audience, and a hiss or two from the neighbors of the radicals.

On the platform were four busts executed by Mrs. Sheridan in Moscow—Zinoviev, President of the Third International, a big-headed man resembling Danton, who treated the sculptress with disdain; Djerjinsky, President of the Extraordinary Commission, otherwise known as the chief of the "Red Terror," a weeping and wistful man, with a great daily output of death sentences; Lenin himself and Trotzky, who appears in the bronze head to be the great man that Mrs. Sheridan regards him.

"I have been asked," she said, "if I thought a Napoleon would rise from the revolution with a new series of war, and I answered with perfect sincerity that I thought the Napoleon was already there, and that I thought the campaign would be a campaign of peace."

She said that Trotzky had performed a miracle of leadership in making an army out of the remnants of soldiery which he had found in Russia.

"But I am sure, thank goodness," she continued, "that he will not use his leadership as Napoleon did."

Again speaking of Trotzky, she said: "I might almost say his personality is one of genius. I would not call him a Bolshevik at all, but a force like fire or water that the revolution has made use of. I don't mean to say that I think he is insincere, but I think that, whatever course the upheaval in Russia took, Trotzky would be on top."

Mrs. Sheridan was less complimentary of Lenin. She said that H. G. Wells hit him off exactly in the phrase "the dreamer of the Kremlin." His mind was absolutely closed to any kind of information, she said. When she told him anything about England, which did not agree with his preconception, she said, he would reply:

"It isn't so. It isn't so."

Mrs. Sheridan talked in more detail of the Washington D. Vanderlip concessions and of her theory that Lenin made them, not to turn a Siberian principality over to American capitalists, but to create the fear of that thing in England. Mrs. Sheridan said that she lived a month in the same guest house with Vanderlip. He sought to keep the secret of his concessions, she said, but could not repress it for a whole month and finally chatted freely about his gigantic projects. At last he said, according to her account:

"I have told you too much and I will see to it that you don't leave this country before I do and tell it in England."

Lenin, however, she said, wanted to make sure that the story was quickly told in England, so he made it a large part of his talk with Wells.

"Wells was greatly impressed by Lenin in their interview," she said, "but was bored by the fact that Lenin would spend most of his time discussing Vanderlip."

10% WAGE CUT IN BAYONNE OIL PLANT

Tidewater Co. Follows Standard's Action—Crude Prices Reduced 25 to 75 Cents.

The Tidewater Oil Company posted notices yesterday at its plant in Bayonne of a 10 per cent. reduction in wages, beginning Feb. 15. The Tidewater's wage cut follows the action of the Standard Oil Company, which announced on Tuesday the withdrawal of a 10 per cent. bonus. Both increases were granted at about the same time, with the understanding that they were to be withdrawn when living costs had reached a lower level.

About 2,800 workers are employed at the Tidewater's plant, which is the second largest in Bayonne. The Tidewater Company is controlled by the Rockefeller interests. Many of the independent oil companies in Bayonne have already cut wages, and it is reported that the others will follow the lead of the Standard within a month.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Feb. 4.—The Prairie Oil and Gas Company today announced another 50-cent cut in the price of mid-continent crude oil, bringing the price down to $2 a barrel. This is the third 50-cent drop in ten days. Drilling operations in this field virtually have ceased since price cuts began.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—The new oil prices, which are effective immediately, follow: Pennsylvania crude, $4.75, a reduction of 25 cents; Cabell, $3.46, a reduction of 25 cents; Somerset, $2.75, a reduction of 75 cents; Somerset light, $3, a reduction of 75 cents; Ragland, $1.50, a reduction of 25 cents.

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 4.—Reduction of 25 to 75 cents a barrel in crude oils was announced today by the Magnolia Petroleum Company. New prices are: Augusta, Kan., $2 a barrel; Oklahoma, $2; Healdton, $1; Texas, $2; Corsicana light, $1.50; Corsicana heavy, 75 cents.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 4.—The Gulf Pipe Line Company today announced a reduction of 50 cents a barrel on North Texas crude oil. The new price is $2 a barrel.

ENRIGHT'S PENSION IN PERIL

Citizens Union Brings Suit to Prevent Him Getting $3,750 if He Quits

William Jay Schieffelin, head of the Citizens Union, filed a suit yesterday in the Supreme Court to prevent Police Commissioner Enright from paying himself $3,750, the pension of a retired Police Inspector. The proceeding took the form of a taxpayer's action, and it was alleged that in anticipation of the possible retirement of Commissioner Enright a bill had been put through the last Legislature which would enable him to quit on a $3,750 pension. He was rated as a Lieutenant when appointed Commissioner, but signed an order on Dec. 22 relieving himself as Lieutenant. The retirement pension of a Lieutenant is only $1,295.

The complaint alleges that the City of New York must contribute $2,000,000 to make up the deficit in the pension fund and that Commissioner Enright had made no payment to the fund since he was appointed Commissioner.

Their wedding is the culmination of a romance which began in Mexico during the war, when both were in the Intelligence Service of the Government.

PALESTINE MANDATE DRAFTED BY BRITISH

NEW LAND SYSTEM PLEDGED

Zionist Organization Recognized—Britain Takes Responsibility for Holy Places.

LONDON, Feb. 4 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—The following is a copy of the mandate over Palestine allotted to Great Britain by the Supreme Council of the Allies at San Remo. The text was submitted to the League of Nations for confirmation by A. J. Balfour on Dec. 6. It gives the San Remo resolution, embodying these terms of the Balfour declaration:

His Majesty's Government view with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people, and will use their best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of this object, it being clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine or the rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in any other country.

The text then continues:

BRITISH JEWS EXPECTED MORE

Their Organ Says Mandate Lacks Security for National Home.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The Jewish Chronicle, commenting on the Palestine mandate, says that in many respects it falls below Jewish hopes.

"Jews are invited and expected," it says, "to take a great part in the regeneration of Palestine, and to bring to work the best that is in them—materially as well as morally. Having regard to all the prevailing conditions, it is a gigantic task, and it involves much sacrifice. Do the terms of the mandate render that encouragement which only in the nature of things is essential if sacrifice is to be forthcoming?

"We fear that on the whole they fail lamentably in this respect. Although they form a recognition of Jewish nationality—public recognition of the right of the Jews to a national home in Palestine—they do not concede with anything like sufficiency the public security which Jewish nationalists rightly claim for the formation and maintenance of their Jewish national being in Palestine."

HARDING VISITS PALM BEACH

Makes a Five-Hour Stay and Plays Golf in Rain.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 4.—After a five hours' stop at Palm Beach, President-elect Harding's houseboat Victoria headed up the Indian River this afternoon for a virtually uninterrupted run to St. Augustine, where the President-elect will spend the rest of the month.

With good luck the Victoria will probably reach Daytona or Ormond Sunday and steam into St. Augustine Monday. Proposals to complete the trip by rail have been laid aside temporarily, and Mr. Harding has arranged to have his first appointments at St. Augustine put over from Monday to Tuesday.

The President-elect left the houseboat below Palm Beach this morning and came to the pier on the Sea Robin, a speed boat belonging to J. Leonard Replogle. He held an informal reception and then went out in a driving rain and played a foursome of golf with Mr. Replogle, Senator Frelinghuysen and Peter Finley Dunne. Later the party had luncheon at the cottage of J. F. Frazier of Chicago.

DIVORCES BRITISH CAPTAIN.

American Girl's War Romance Ends in Court.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 4.—"Love is blind and perhaps always will be," reads the annulment decision granted here today to Blanche D. Frazier Sheridan, who is wealthy, from Captain Donald M. Sheridan of the British Army. The court characterized the defendant, who is now in Europe, as a "seeker after what money he could obtain" and a "fraud and cheat, when she believed him an honest man."

Miss Frazier, who spends much time in New York, met Captain Sheridan in 1918 at the Ritz-Carlton. The officer courted her, and the two became engaged. Then, on the plea that he had orders to go abroad, he persuaded her to marry him. He even drew a will in favor of his fiancée, conveying to her his "entire income" of $25,000 a year if he was killed.

According to testimony, he did not sail for England, but went to New England and wired his wife from various cities that his remittances were delayed, and he needed money. His drafts were honored by her until the total exceeded $1,000. Then she became suspicious. Inquiry showed that the "Captain" was a Second Lieutenant, and that his "estates" in Scotland and Russia and his $25,000 "income" were non-existent.

SENATE MAJORITY CERTAIN ON TARIFF

Adoption of Four Committee Amendments Indicates Margin of 10 to 15 Votes.

13 DEMOCRATS ARE FOR IT

But Williams Says He Will Not Be Bound by Any Agreement to Fix Date for Vote.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The first test vote on the Emergency Tariff bill was had today when the Senate by a vote of 38 to 28 adopted an amendment to the bill increasing the duty on wheat to 40 cents per bushel. Later the Senate voted on an amendment to place a duty of 2 cents per pound on fresh and frozen beef, veal, mutton, lamb and pork, this amendment carrying by a vote of 39 to 27. In both instances Democratic support for the amendments carried them. Had the advice of the Democratic leaders been heeded the wheat amendment would have been defeated 35 to 31, while the meat amendment would have been lost by a vote of 34 to 32.

The vote on the amendment indicated that twelve, and perhaps thirteen, Democratic Senators are in favor of the tariff, while three Republicans are expected to vote against it. The Democrats who supported the amendment to increase the proposed duty on wheat were Gay and Ransdell of Louisiana, Sheppard of Texas, Ashurst of Arizona, Jones of New Mexico, Kendrick of Wyoming and Myers of Montana. Henderson and Pittman, who voted against the wheat amendment subsequently voted to impose the duty on meats. In addition to these nine Senators it is understood that Johnson of South Dakota, Smith of Georgia and Owen of Oklahoma, all Democrats, are in favor of the bill, while Senator Walsh of Montana announced on the floor today that he is undecided as to his position. Should he decide to support the measure this would mean thirteen Democratic votes, which would seem to assure the passage of the bill by a majority of between ten and fifteen votes.

Three Republicans Oppose It.

Senators Edge of New Jersey and Moses and Keyes of New Hampshire, Republicans, are expected to vote against the bill. Senator Edge was not in the Senate this afternoon, but the New Hampshire Senators were, and they were recorded against both amendments.

Senators Thomas, Simmons and Underwood assailed the proposed increase on wheat, which, they contended, means that just so much will be added to the bread bills of the American people. The supporters of the measure, however, stood firm and the amendment was adopted, thirty-one Republicans and seven Democrats voting in favor and twenty-six Democrats and two Republicans against it.

Opposing the meat amendment Senator Underwood charged that the bill had been reported to the Senate by the Committee on Finance without consideration or investigation. He asserted that there is no justification whatever for the meat tax.

The amendment that was under consideration when the Senate voted to adjourn places a duty of 7 cents per pound on cotton having a staple of 1⅜ inches or more in length. This amendment, Senator Thomas charged, is intended to transfer the business losses of the Arizona and California long-staple cotton growers from the pockets of those persons to the pockets of more than 105,000,000 Americans who are not in the cotton growing business.

Four Amendments Adopted.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (Associated Press).—The Senate got down to business with the Fordney Emergency Tariff bill today, and before the session which convened at 11 o'clock ended four amendments had been adopted. Votes on the amendments where a record was made showed supporters of the bill to have a majority ranging from 10 to 13.

The committee amendment to establish an import duty of 40 cents a bushel on wheat was twice adopted today. It was first taken up with only nine Senators in the Chamber, and accepted without a dissenting voice. Then, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, one of the bitterest opponents of the measure, discovered what had happened and forced a call for a quorum. He said he was under the impression the Senate still was considering a minor Indian bill.

After the quorum call and an hour of desultory debate, Senator McCumber asked for reconsideration of the wheat amendment, and it again was agreed to by a vote of 30 to 28.

The amendment, also from the committee, exempting from a tariff duty rice to be used in the manufacture of canned goods likewise was adopted. The committee amendments fixing duties of two cents a pound on fresh and frozen meats and of 25 per cent. ad valorem on prepared or preserved meats, and exempting from import duties all live stock imported exclusively for breeding purposes were approved.

The program of the leaders to attempt the fixing of a date for a vote went into the discard, temporarily at least, with the arrival of Senator Williams, who renewed his declaration that he would not be bound by any private agreements. Mr. Williams spoke heatedly of "machinations going on around here."

Carl Hauptmann, Author.

YANKEE VANGUARD TO LEAVE FEB. 15

RECRUITS FOLLOW LATER

Score of New Men Will Report at Shreveport on Feb. 27 — Huggins's Eye on Young Pitchers.

On Tuesday, Feb. 15, there will depart from this city quite unostentatiously a small group of citizens who, when they return early in April, will be public characters and cynosures of all eyes and conquering heroes and all that sort of thing. They will be the true harbingers of Spring—the first baseball birds to flit southward. Babe Ruth, Carl Mays, Waite Hoyt, Harry Harper, Ping Bodie, Jack Quinn and Wallie Schang will constitute this cluster, and they are going to Hot Springs, Ark., for about three weeks of outdoor exercise before moving on to Shreveport, La., to join the bulk of the Yankees' squad at the training camp.

These advance men of Miller Huggins's troupe will play very little baseball at Hot Springs—perhaps none at all. The weather is still rather cool there at this time of the year for such concentrated muscular exertion. Their program consists of hiking, horseback riding, mountain climbing and playing golf. This would cost a millionaire a very comely penny, but ball players are favored creatures, who scoff at such petty considerations as expense.

Manager Huggins will probably go to Hot Springs for a week or ten days before going to Shreveport. He expects to reach the training camp in time to welcome his recruit players, who are due there, a score strong, on Feb. 27, a week before the regulars are booked to make their appearance.

Infielders—Ray French, Nick McMillan, John Mitchell.

Outfielders—Walter Christensen, Nelson Hawks, Joseph Monson, Sid Agnew, A. H. Wingo, Joe Kelly, Camp Skinner.

Huggins's Eye on Pitchers.

From the array of twirlers mentioned Huggins is bound he will get at least one or two high-grade boxmen if he has to carve them out with a bowie knife. Some of the green material looks unusually promising. For instance, this chap Doyle won twenty-five games last season and lost only eight, and did really sensational work on the mound for the Greenville club of the South Atlantic League. He twirled one no-hit conflict and several in which he yielded only one or two safe bingles and no runs. He is considered one of the finest pitching prospects developed in the minors last year and several clubs in the big leagues were after him.

Ferguson, with the Jersey City team back of him—which was like starting twelve yards behind scratch in a dash—won 21 and lost 13 last season. Bill Donovan dug this pitcher up for the Yanks four years ago in Bloomfield, N. J., where he was playing semi-pro baseball. Hill said Ferguson had as good a fast ball as he ever saw, but he lacked control and experience and was farmed out. Now he is coming back with both these once lacking attributes in his bag, it is believed.

Sheehan comes to New York from the Atlanta club of the Southern Association where he won 26 games last year and lost 17. Godfrey twirled for Jeff Tesreau's Bears in 1920 and Aulbach, the left-hander of the bunch, is a semi-pro from Louisville. Le Pard has been playing semi-professional ball around this city, too. Johnson had a fine season with the Cedartown team of the Georgia State League, winning 29 and getting the short end of the decision in only 9. Clifford pitched for Rochester last year. He won 7 and was charged with 21 defeats, but is said to be a comer among young twirlers.

Both of Huggins's recruit catchers played semi-pro ball last season. Thole hails from St. Louis and did exceedingly capable work on the receiving end of the battery in 1920, it is said. Grassick performed at Woodbridge, but in the reaches of New Jersey, where he is listed as the boy who will make them forget all about Ray Schalk.

Mitchell in the Limelight.

Of the infielders, John Mitchell is, of course, the shining light—at this stage of the game, anyway—for Huggins gave up everything but his sweater for this youngster. He comes from the Vernon, Cal., club, which got in return for him Ernie Shore, Bob McGraw and Frank O'Doul, pitchers; Truck Hannah, catcher, and Ham Hyatt, first baseman. Mitchell was the infield prize that kept the major league anglers busy until the Yankees landed him.

Huggins got French from the Des Moines team late last season. McMillan, who was acquired from the Greenville, S. C., club, is strongly touted by such an acute observer as Bob Connery. The Yankee scout thinks him more promising than Joe Sewell, who filled the short field hole during the world's series for the Indians last Fall.

Christensen and Hawks, both reputed to be wonders in the outfield, were obtained from the Calgary club of the Western Canada League. Munson was taken over from the Raleigh, N. C., team, and Wingo from the Atlanta Southern Association club. Agnew was gleaned in Clarksburg, Pa., where he played industrial league baseball last Summer. Skinner is an acquisition from Cedartown, Ga.—that is, if he proves to be an acquisition at all.

Bobby Roth, the temperamental but highly skilled outfielder recently taken over from the Senators in exchange for George Mogridge and Duffy Lewis, is now recuperating at Mount Clemens, Mich., after an operation on his throat and nose. It is predicted that with the passing out of his highly esteemed tonsils, or whatever it was, Roth will react as the school children do after the same operation and become amenable to reason on and off the field.

LAWYER TO AID LANDIS.

L. M. O'Connor Named as Secretary of Baseball Commissioner.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Federal Judge Landis, Commissioner of Baseball, today appointed Leslie M. O'Connor, a young Chicago attorney, as his secretary. O'Connor will begin his duties tomorrow.

The new secretary, who is 31 years old, has had no previous experience in baseball, other than being an ardent fan and amateur player, and his selection was a surprise to followers of the game, who had expected that a man would be chosen from within the ranks.

GOLF FIXTURE AWARDED.

Western Association Gives Championship Tourney to Cleveland.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—The Western open golf championship today was awarded to the Oakwood Club of Cleveland for Aug. 24, 25 and 26, it was announced by Reuben W. Newton, Secretary of the Western Golf Association. This championship was held at the Mayfield Club, two miles from the Oakwood, two years ago, when James Barnes won the title, which he lost to Jock Hutchison last Summer at Olympia Fields Club.

The amateur championship of the Western association, to be held at the Westmoreland Golf Club, Chicago, will take place the week of July 11, Secretary Newton said. This event was originally set for July 18, but was changed to allow the national open contest at Columbia Club, Washington, D. C., to be held that week.

MAY PUT INTREPID IN OSTEND RACE

Willis Sharpe Kilmer Considers Entering Yacht for King Albert's Cup.

Special to The New York Times.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 4.—Willis Sharpe Kilmer, owner of the Yacht Intrepid, declared here today that he was not yet decided whether he would enter his boat in the Sandy Hook to Ostend race for the cup offered by King Albert of Belgium. Mr. Kilmer has been planning to take a trip to the South Seas in the Intrepid and she will leave New York Sunday night for Jacksonville to be put into commission. The craft was damaged by fire last October, but has been overhauled and is expected here in three weeks.

Mr. Kilmer declared that it was a "wonderful thing to have a race without any strings attached to it except to be there on July 4." He said that the contest ought to prove a great stimulus to sailboat racing in all classes. "The date is the best that could be selected," he said, "for a race of this kind because later heavier weather might permit only the bigger boats to compete."

Since the fire on the Intrepid Mr. Kilmer has made a number of changes in her, substituting solid spars for the hollow ones, which, however, he said, could be easily changed back. He has shortened the boom five feet and also the bowsprit and has had the sails of the scrapped schooner yacht Sea Call fitted to her.

Although Mr. Kilmer said he had not decided what he would do, it is understood that, should the New York Yacht Club, of which he is a member, indicate that it would like him to compete he would abandon his projected cruise which he has been planning for some time.

NEW YORKERS WIN ON ICE.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—In one of the biggest hockey upsets of the season, the Metropolitans of New York overwhelmed the Quaker City team here tonight, 13 to 2. It was the largest score run up on the Quakers in two years.

Tom Howard's New Yorkers virtually swept the Quakers off their feet, scoring four goals in the first period. After that they scored almost at will. Duncan, formerly of the Halifax Wanderers, was the outstanding star of the visitors with five goals to his credit. Stinson, a former Queens College player, thrilled with his dashing playing. Virtually every member of Coach Howard's "Mets" is a former Canadian college or club star, and they skated tonight better than any team seen here all season.

Philadelphia played without Captain Eddie Hill, who is ill, but even his presence would not have changed the final result to any extent.

WILLIAMS BEATS AMHERST.

Scores Third Successive Hockey Victory, Winning by 3 to 0.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Feb. 4.—Williams maintained its clean slate in hockey by scoring its third victory of the season here today, shutting out Amherst by a score of 3 to 0. The Purple skaters forced the playing from the start. R. Clark scored after ten minutes of play in the opening period. Amherst exhibited a stout defense, and prevented further counting until the last period, when the home team twice again caged the puck.

Williams excelled in team play and usually broke up the opposing attack before it was fairly started.

C. C. N. Y. SWIMMERS LOSE TO RUTGERS

New Jersey Collegians Score Easy Victory in Local Tank by Score of 39 to 14.

Rutgers College swimmers came over from New Jersey last night and tackled the aquatic team of the College of the City of New York in the latter's pool. The invaders won the match by the score of 39 points to 14, despite the fact that three of their star swimmers—Ross, Galbraith and Hearn—were unable to appear.

The score shows that it was not a difficult thing for the New Brunswick team to win, but the local students put up a good scrap. Rutgers won the relay race and four of the five other events on the program, the only event that fell to the C. C. N. Y. team being the plunge for distance, which was won by Fink with 63 feet to his credit.

Giebel proved to be the star performer and point gleaner of the Rutgers team. He was first in the 50-yard dash, the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard swim. Sherwin took the dive for Rutgers, and also did well on the relay team.

Prior to the swimming events between the two colleges, the City College varsity and alumni water polo teams met in the pool, and the varsity defeated the graduates by the score of 15 to 5.

The summary:

Rostan Judged a Fit Boxing Opponent for Johnny Wilson

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 4.—The Wisconsin Boxing Commission is satisfied that Navy Rostan is a worthy opponent to meet Johnny Wilson of Boston, middleweight champion, at Kenosha, Wis., next Wednesday night. When Bill Frazier, Kenosha promoter, announced that he had completed arrangements for the bout, the members of the commission are said to have had their doubts whether Rostan was a fighter of required calibre. They decided that Rostan's ability should be investigated before instead of after the Kenosha engagement, so he was invited to Milwaukee yesterday and asked to box five rounds with Ted Jamieson, former A. A. U. champion.

Rostan agreed, and is said to have taken the affair so much in earnest that four rounds were sufficient to convince both the commission and Jamieson that he was fully qualified to battle with a champion.

THREE SUSPENDED BY BOXING BOARD

Packey O'Gatty, His Manager, and Referee Pollack Are Set Down for 90-Day Period.

The investigation and hearing into the circumstances surrounding the Roy Moore-Packey O'Gatty battle at the Pioneer Sporting Club on Jan. 21 concluded yesterday with the announcement from the Boxing Commission and the License Committee that ninety-day suspensions had been inflicted on three individuals. The men who drew the ire of the sport governing officials are Edward Pollack, referee of the bout in which Moore was disqualified for an alleged foul blow; O'Gatty, and the latter's manager, Jimmy Twyford.

The statement of the boxing officials follows:

"The New York State Boxing Commission and License Committee announce the following suspensions: "Packey O'Gatty (Pasquale Agati), boxer, of 222 Lafayette Street, N. Y., suspended for three months, from Feb. 4, 1921.

"Edward Pollack, referee, of 1,224 Third Avenue, New York, suspended for three months, from Feb. 4 1921.

"In the case of Pollack the commission announces that there was no evidence of any wrongdoing on the part of the referee in the O'Gatty-Moore contest and the penalty of suspension is inflicted on account of his inefficiency. This action of the commission was taken following the unsatisfactory contest between O'Gatty and Moore at the Pioneer Sporting Club on Jan. 21 1921."

FAY AND SPENCER DRAW.

Brooklyn Bantamweights on Even Terms in East N. Y. A. A. Bout.

PIONEER CLUB REOPENS.

Summers Outpoints Nelson by Wide Margin in Feature Bout.

Marty Summers, rangy east side welterweight, gained the judges' decision over Wildcat Battling Nelson of Brooklyn last night in their fifteen-round bout at the reopening of the Pioneer Sporting Club. The elongated east sider, with advantages in height and reach which overwhelmed his rival's efforts at offensive work, earned the honors in every round of the bout. The decision was a popular one, for there was no question of Summers's advantage in points.

Y., Feb. 4.—Bill Brennan of Chicago won over Al Benedict of Brooklyn by a technical knockout in the sixth round of their scheduled fifteen-round bout here tonight, when the referee stopped the contest to save Benedict from further punishment. "What's the matter with it?" is what a man invariably will say when he's offered some apparently too-good-to-be-true bargain.

But fortunately there are some men who are open to conviction. Thousands of business men (thinking New Yorkers) who know of the glutted condition of the clothing market—realize the unfortunate position of Clothing Manufacturers, their need for cash—come to satisfy themselves that our claims are true—and buy.

And the New York Newspapers sent representatives to inspect our merchandise and factory before they sold us a line of space. We had to satisfy them that we were what we say we are, our offers bona fide, before they published this advertisement and the others that preceded it.

NEW YORKERS LOSE ON TENNIS COURT

SPEED IS A BIG FACTOR

Hard Stroking Gives Boston Pair Victory at Heights Casino by 6—2, 8—6 Score.

Harder stroking and a keener eye for finding the openings figured in the victory of Miss Marion Zinderstein and Miss Eleanora Sears of the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston, in the final round of the women's invitation doubles tournament at the Heights Casino, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon. The Boston pair defeated the local team, composed of Mrs. De Forest Candee and Mrs. Rawson Wood, by scores of 6—2, 8—6. There was no activity in the singles yesterday, the final in that event, between Miss Zinderstein and Miss Marie Wagner, being scheduled for this afternoon.

The doubles match was not won without the stoutest of opposition. Mrs. Candee and Mrs. Wood played excellent tennis, despite a generous sprinkling of errors through the two sets, and they nearly succeeded in running away with the second set. They led Miss Zinderstein and Miss Sears at 3—0, 4—2, 5—3 and 6—5 in this set, incidentally breaking through the service of both Bostonians, but could not put over the winning points. Their rivals' shots had too much pace in the concluding games for them to handle successfully.

Miss Zinderstein was the outstanding figure of the quartet. Her drives from backcourt had better length, speed and direction than in her previous appearances of the week, and she was brilliant in her volleying. She was inclined to be erratic at times, and twice in the second set threw away the final point of a game through double-faulting. But her errors were more than offset by her clever placements. In her ability to "hit 'em where they ain't" she was her customary skillful self. Miss Sears contributed importantly to the victory by the marked steadiness of her play, while she, too, was able to impart a good measure of speed to the ball.

Mrs. Candee Plays Well.

For the New Yorkers, Mrs. Candee was a shining light, especially in the second set, through her fine volleying. She caught many of her opponents' swift shots at the net and sent them back to the sidelines or down the centre aisle for beautifully earned points. Mrs. Wood gave her the best of support, making numerous brilliant returns from difficult positions, especially from the baseline. The teamwork of both pairs was commendable.

Mrs. Candee and Mrs. Wood took the first game of the first set on the former's service, after the points had gone five times to deuce. After that the set took on an exclusively Bostonian complexion. Miss Sears and Miss Zinderstein piled up five straight games before they dropped another on Mrs. Wood's service, and then ran out the set on Miss Sears's dependable delivery.

The New York pair braced astonishingly in the opening of the second set. They broke through Miss Zinderstein's service for a lead of 3—0, and then, after the Boston team had retaliated with a break through Mrs. Candee, the New Yorkers again upset Miss Zinderstein's service for a count of 4—2. Miss Sears, too, lost her service, and Mrs. Candee had a fine chance to finish the set on her own delivery, with the games 5—3 in her favor.

New Yorkers Make Errors.

The Boston pair realized their danger, however, and speeded up their play, making aggressive shots which forced Mrs. Candee and Mrs. Wood into errors. The New Yorkers took but one point in this game. They led again, 6—5, and Miss Sears served out a love game, and their chance was gone. The two final games went to Miss Sears and Miss Zinderstein rather easily, with Miss Zinderstein serving the game that gave her side the set and match.

Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Candee won their way into the final in a morning match, in which they defeated Mrs. D. C. Mills and Mrs. Albert Humphries, 6—2, 6—4.

Conquers F. S. Appleby, 250-160, in First of Double Cue Match.

Edward Horemans, the Belgian billiardist, who doesn't care whether the game is at 18.2 balkline or 18.1, played a double-header exhibition match last night at the New York Athletic Club with Francis S. Appleby, the recently crowned Eastern 18.2 amateur champion. Both games were for 250 points, the player reaching that score to finish his run. In the first match both contestants played 18.2, Horemans winning by 250 to 160. The winner's average was 17 2-14, that of the loser 11 6-14.

The Belgian likewise won the second encounter, but by the closer score of 250 to 207. As in the first game, Appleby had the distinction of making the high run, this time an accumulation of 118 points. The high cluster for Horemans was 96 tallies. The average of the winner was 12 10-20; an average of 10 17-19 stood to the credit of the loser.

N. Y. A. C. WANTS CUE MATCH

Is Negotiating for Five-Day Play Between Hoppe and Horemans.

The Billiard Committee of the New York Athletic Club, of which Robert Weld is the Chairman, announced last night at the close of the double header exhibition match between Edouard Horemans and Francis S. Appleby, that negotiations were under way for a five-day competition at the New York A. C. clubhouse between Horemans and Willie Hoppe.

The contestants would play at 18.1 balkline, the game to go to 2,000 points, in blocks of 400 points each night.

The idea which the club committee has in mind is to make this match, which would be the first encounter between the two, an affair for the various clubs of the city to which tickets would be allotted. Shepard G. Barclay, manager for Horemans, expressed himself as hopeful that the plan would go through.

Schoolboys Defeat Soldiers.

Stuyvesant High School's senior class basketball team defeated the Fort Slocum quintet last night at Fort Slocum by the score of 38 to 4. Spinelly and Spatt scored 36 of the 38 points for the victors, while Lieutenant McCann tallied all four points for the soldiers. The director of athletics at the fort has arranged for a game between the victors in last night's game and a United States Army medical team from Washington, to be played at Fort Slocum next week.

Australasia and British Isles Enter Davis Cup Tournament

Challenges for the Davis Cup from Australasia and the British Isles were received here yesterday at the offices of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. Word was received in both cases by cable with the announcement that the challenges were being mailed so as to reach here before March 15, which is the latest date for receiving challenges according to the rules governing the cup. Spain's challenge had previously been received by the U. S. L. T. A., so that three entries for the team championship of the world are now formally assured. India, France, Canada, Belgium and South Africa are expected to swing into line in the very near future.

LAUBACH CLINCHES 3-CUSHION TITLE

| Player. | Won. | Lost. | P.C. |

| G. Gardner | 3 | 5 | .375 |
| L. A. Servatius | 3 | 5 | .375 |
| G. Wyatt | 2 | 6 | .250 |

George Laubach won the final game in the New York State three-cushion tournament at the Rational Recreation Academy last night and with his victory went the State amateur title. His adversary was Harold L. Turk and the score was 30 to 20. The game proved to be quite a surprise, not so much because Laubach won, but because he won by such a large margin.

It proved to be an off night for Turk in more respects than one. In the first place the balls kept rolling badly for him, with the result that he missed many shots by a hairbreadth, and then, to make matters worse for him, he lost a toss of a coin with Robert Crespi and as a result lost second place in the tournament. Ray Naughright, who has scored the same number of victories and defeats as Crespi and Turk, did not have an equal number of points and so could not compete for second place.

At the conclusion of Thursday night's play Turk and Laubach were tied for first honors with five victories and two defeats each, while Crespi was next in line with five victories and three games lost. As the result of the game between Laubach and Turk last night Laubach received a clean title to first honors and the championship, but it tied Turk and Crespi at five victories and three defeats each. They were also tied in the number of points scored, making it impossible to decide the deadlock by the Olympic system. It was decided that they should toss a coin for second place. They did and Crespi won.

West Virginia Mat Star Injured.

CROZIER DOUBLE WINNER.

Scores Two Victories in Handicap Balkline Billiard Tourney.

Two games were played yesterday in the continuation of the 18.2 balkline billiard handicap tournament at Doyle's Broadway Academy, and Emmet Crozier proved to be the winner of both of them. His first game was with Bert Cressey, who plays for 130 points, while Crozier, according to his handicap, has to play for but 115. Crozier tallied his 115, while Cressey was able to make but 96 points. The game lasted thirty innings, and each had high runs of 17.

The other game brought together Crozier and Nelson Mayo, who is one of the scratch players in the tournament and has to play for 150 points, but last night, not being in form, he scored only 96, while Crozier tallied 115. The game lasted thirty-four innings, and Crozier, the low handicap man, clustered 22 as his high run, while the scratch man could get but 10 as his high run. There will be no further play in the tournament until Monday.

Tailoring Sale Extraordinaire!

Many Yards of fine woolens consigned to us by overstocked Eastern woolen mills for immediate disposal at bare salvage prices

WE CLAIM no credit for the remarkable cost sacrifices made at this sale. They are fathered by plain old-fashioned business necessity.

You know the situation with the big Eastern woolen mills. For eight weeks, many of the looms have been at a complete standstill. And cancellations, returns and stop-orders have piled up woolen stock until it is imperative, with some of them, to seek an immediate cash conversion of their fabric surplus.

Knowing our first-hand contact with the clothes-buying public in Chicago and New York, they have put it up to us to help move their accumulated stocks, regardless of all cost and profit sacrifice. With inventory time close at hand, they want action—and want it quickly.

So, for the double purpose of co-operating with these mills—and simultaneously giving our friends the greatest values we have ever offered—we have arranged to dispose of these consigned fabrics, regardless of their original cost and high worth—for THIRTY DOLLARS—genuinely custom-tailored to order.

MRS. HARDING SEES TWO PLAYS IN A DAY

CHORUS GIVES HER BOUQUET

Applause in Theatres Pleases and Slightly Embarrasses Future White House Mistress.

Mrs. Warren G. Harding varied her usual daily program of appointments with costumers and visited the New York theatres yesterday. During the first four days of her visit here she accomplished much in deciding the more important details of her White House wardrobe and practically all of her orders have been placed.

As usual, she devoted yesterday morning to fittings and also had a final conference with her furrier. Accompanied by Mrs. E. B. McLean and Mrs. Harry S. New, she left the Ritz-Carlton at 2:30 in the afternoon and went to the Hippodrome. Mrs. Harding wore a walking suit of black duvetyne, topped with a black velvet hat, somewhat larger than the hats she usually wears and trimmed with an uncurled ostrich plume of royal blue. She also wore a small neckpiece of sable.

She appeared to enjoy the spectacle and led the applause when the orchestra played "The End of a Perfect Day," her favorite number, played especially for her. The performance was halted when Madge Loomis, one of the Hippodrome's premiere dancers, whose home is in Cincinnati, presented a bouquet of red carnations, the Ohio State flower, to Mrs. Harding from forty Ohio girls, who are members of the company. During the presentation the orchestra played "Beautiful Ohio." Mrs. Harding accepted the bouquet and smilingly acknowledged the applause. The party remained throughout the performance, and Mrs. Harding expressed interest in the eighty orphan children from Jersey City who were guests of the Children's Society.

Mrs. Harding permitted photographers to take her picture when she left the theatre, returning to the hotel. She rested until dinner time and dined in her suite.

In the evening Mrs. Harding and her companions accompanied by a Secret Service Agent, attended "Lightnin'" in the Gaiety Theatre. The curtain was held until after the arrival of Mrs. Harding and her friends. She was recognized and the applause continued for several minutes. She bowed and smiled. Over her black evening gown Mrs. Harding wore a new black satin evening wrap, with a soft turned collar to match. The skirt of the wrap was decorated with several deep rows of jet fringe.

Yesterday morning the Campfire Girls of America left at the hotel a large bouquet of pansies, sweet peas and carnations, with an invitation to Mrs. Harding to become Honorary Chairman of the National Advisory Committee. Mrs. Harding announced that she would be glad to accept.

CORA CHASE GETS OVATION AT DEBUT

Young Metropolitan Singer as Gilda in "Rigoletto" Touches Heartstrings of Audience.

The Metropolitan, packed to the doors, gave last evening a welcome of unwonted cordiality to a new Gilda in rare old "Rigoletto," a welcome the more remarkable in that the young artist, unknown to her own countrymen when she stepped on the stage at 9 o'clock in the opera's second act, was heard quietly in a single duet with her stage father, Mr. De Luca, being the Rigoletto, and at 9:10 the pair were interrupted with an ovation that refused to wait longer for either the "Caro Nome" or the "Rigoletto" quartet.

Charming Cora Chase of Haverhill, Mass., tall, strong, slender, a New Englander every inch of her, had somehow instantly touched the heartstrings of the most aloof and difficult musical audience in the world. There were those in the Golden Horseshoe who recalled long ago the coming of the brilliant Nordica, the statuesque Eames, the still present Farrar. It may have been a greeting to past as well as future Yankee prima donnas, but the newest yet knew her fortune before ever the nervousness of the début had warmed the icy edge from her voice or the grateful tears from her eyes.

Miss Chase's voice, still naïvely girlish, unequalized, oddly "unaffected" in quality, fortunately served her most faithfully at the most crucial points; she once refused a high C, taking an octave lower in the "Caro Nome's" last refrain, but later in the third act "Vendetta" duet she sang freely, with nearer dramatic than lyric tone, to the top of her scale. In personality, in simple dignity and ease, never hurrying a phrase, she made the impression of one who artistically still had far to go but who might be trusted to learn from the very attentive and critical public that had followed the progress of so many greater predecessors.

Mr. Hackett, returning for the season in the rôle of the Duke, represented an American artist's further progress in the finesse of the stage; he appeared to have some difficulty in holding his high notes true at first, but, like Miss Chase, he had youth with him, and they entered into the spirit of madcap make-believe that made Verdi's tragedy last night, not a solemn melodrama, but a "just suppose" sort of play, in which the house took both a quick interest and active share.

Mme. Perini and Mr. Mardones were members of the fourth act "quartet" at the inn. Mme. Berat, the Misses Mellish and Borniggia, Messrs. Ananian, Laurenti, Paltrinieri and Reschiglian completed a familiar ensemble, and Mr. Moranzoni conducted.

SINGS WITH PHILHARMONIC.

Dmitry Dobkin, Russian Tenor, Makes American Debut.

The Philharmonic Society, which tonight has a popular "all-Russian" program, gave to its sold-out matinee subscription in Carnegie Hall yesterday a more general selection, two items of which, however, were a Russian tenor, Dmitry Dobkin, singing for the first time in this country, and a repetition of "The Swan of Tuonela," by Jan Sibelius, the Finnish composer, soon coming to join the Eastman Musical Foundation at Rochester, N. Y. The matinee was directed by Henry Hadley, who has been Mr. Stransky's associate conductor this year, though his name does not appear in plans just told of a coming reorganization.

Mr. Dobkin was heard with interest in the "Song of the Hindu Jeweler," from Rimsky-Korsakoff's opera, "Sadko," well suited to a roughly, fiery and impassioned style; he was on less firm ground in his Italian aria, the familiar "E Lucevan le Stelle," from Puccini's last act of "Tosca." Mr. Hadley conducted also Berlioz's "Roman Carnival," Herbert's "Woodland Fancies" and Strauss's "Don Juan."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Leo Ditrichstein's next play will be entitled "Toto," and is the work of Achmed Abdullah and Mr. Ditrichstein. It will be presented here this Spring under the direction of Lee Shubert. Phoebe Foster will be Mr. Ditrichstein's leading woman.

A benefit performance will take place at the Brooklyn Academy of Music tonight in aid of the Brooklyn Hebrew Home and Hospital for the Aged.

The New York Drama League will present Stark Young of Amherst University in his lecture on "Life and Its Relation to the Craft of the Theatre" at the Garrick Theatre, Sunday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock.

Conductor—Gino Marinuzzi.

The Chicago Opera Company at the Manhattan Opera House last evening presented the first new opera of its current repertory: "Jacquerie," by its conductor, Mr. Gino Marinuzzi. The opera was first produced at the opening of the season in Chicago; and of course had not been heard here till last evening. There was a large audience and an obvious friendliness shown for Mr. Marinuzzi, and so there was a first night enthusiasm and a success, at least of esteem.

"Jacquerie" is written to a libretto by A. Donaudy, based on a story by Eugène Sue. Its starting point is, of course, the episode in French history known as "la Jacquerie"; the insurrection of the French peasants in the fourteenth century, in the midst of the Hundred Years' War with England, led by one Caillet of Clermont, who took the name of Jacques Bonhomme. They were smarting under the oppression of the nobles and driven to desperation by the burdens resulting from the war, and especially from the defeat at Poitiers. The rising was at first successful; more than 100,000 peasants swept through the country around Beauvais, northwest of Paris, in May, 1358, and destroyed many castles. But, of course, they were before long overwhelmed and routed; and Jacques Bonhomme, with many others, was put to death by torture.

No doubt one of the causes of bitter resentment on the part of the peasantry against the nobles was the iniquitous privilege claimed by them under the "jus primae noctis." Whether or not there ever was a general recognition of such a right in medieval times is a subject for historians of medieval law. The subject is one not appropriate for discussion in daily newspapers; and, it might also be thought, not fitting for operatic treatment, even though it is the basis of the intrigue in Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro"; and some of those who have fashioned the librettos of other operas have not hesitated to treat of matters similar and as distasteful. Perhaps none have forced it quite so squarely as the authors of "Jacquerie."

The dramatic tragedy on which "Jacquerie" is based turns upon the exercise of the "jus primae noctis," and there is hence necessarily much reference to it by the personages of the drama most involved. The motive is treated in a melodramatic fashion. The marriage of the peasants Mazurec and Isaura having just been celebrated, they return home to find a symbol above their cottage door signifying that the Seigneur, Corrado, though on the eve of his own marriage, intends to claim his right. William, the father, hopes to buy immunity for his daughter. Corrado passes with his retinue and the prayer is addressed to him. But the crowd of peasantry has shown a feeling of bitterness that irritates him, and he refuses. Thus the first act.

In the second the peasantry appear in the castle, bringing their taxes, and condemned prisoners sue for mercy, while William instils rebellion among them. Finally Isaura, the bride, is brought in, given back, broken and crushed by her ordeal, to her husband, in whose arms she dies.

The insurrection is raging in the third act; William and Mazurec are preparing their own revenge, the seizure of Glorianda, the lord's bride, demanding "eye for eye, tooth for tooth," vengence in kind. The Jacquerie storm the castle; Glorianda is brought a captive to Mazurec; but at the last his purpose is relaxed; he sees a vision of Isaura, and he lets Glorianda escape, as the castle burns and the hymn of the oppressed rises above the confusion and ruin.

Both liberettist and composer have known how to go to work to make an opera, and "Jacquerie," notwithstanding a somewhat long-drawn exposition of affairs in the first act, is effective. Mr. Marinuzzi writes as the modern Italian that he is. The music did not seem in a first hearing to be lighted with the fire of a strong inspiration. He has striven much for orchestral color and atmosphere, and his skill in the matter has produced numerous passages of striking power. It must be confessed that there are other stretches in which a purely musical interest is not apparent.

Mr. Marinuzzi, like his fellows, does not hesitate for a moment at biting cacophony when he calculates to heighten his effects by it. For the voices he has written in a somewhat formless arioso style, which at moments assumes a greater shapeliness in an approach to melody. But it must be said that the singers are sometimes cruelly tried by the mass of orchestral sound they have to surmount.

Musically the first act is the least interesting of the three. The mood is a grievous one, and the composer has asserted it by much wailing in voices and orchestra, perfectly justified in the posture of circumstances, but dull in a dramatic sense. The choruses in the second act come refreshingly after what has preceded. The climax of this act and, indeed, the high point of the opera, is the scene between Mazurec and Isaura at the end of this act, where the bride is restored to her husband to die.

Here the tide of passion and grief rises high and the composer has found music truly beautiful and truly expressive of the situation. There is violence in the substance and expression of the last act; and something more significant in the passage between Isanra and Glorianda.

There was forcible dramatic singing on the part of Edward Johnson, the Mazurec; Miss Yvonne Gall, the Isaura, and Carlo Galeffi, the William Galliet. Their acting, while it rose to no great heights of eloquence, was sincere and, especially Miss Gall's, of no little tragic power.

The performance was on the whole a rather rough one. It was pitched in a shrill key, and all the singers sang most of the time with a tremendous outpouring of tone; to which, in part, the orchestra constrained them.

There was much calling of the principals and the conductor before the curtain when it fell, and when Mr. Marinuzzi appeared alone he was given especially enthusiastic applause.

Cyril Scott in His Own Works.

Cyril Scott, the English composer, who has already participated in the production of some of his own compositions since he has been in this country, gave a recital devoted entirely to them in Aeolian Hall yesterday. They consisted of piano pieces and songs, and in the songs he had the assistance of Miss Eva Gauthier, soprano.

There are few composers—though there are some—who can furnish the matter for a concert entirely from their own compositions without suffering for it. It is in itself no serious reproach to Mr. Scott to say that he is not one of these. There was a certain sense of monotony engendered by his short piano pieces, though many of them have a seductive charm of their own in color and in ingenuity of pianistic effect. Some of the songs which Miss Gauthier sang are poetical in their musical expression and in their hint of folk-song spirit. Her interpretation of them was of great skill, fully discerning their significance, technically finished and of a beautifully clear-cut and intelligible diction.

The centre of interest was no doubt intended to be Mr. Scott's sonata. This has been played here by some of the younger and more daring pianists; and by some it has been fervently lauded as among the most important of modern compositions. Mr. Scott played it with great skill, and, it may be supposed, with the fullest expression of all the significance and effect that he meant it to have—for he is an excellent pianist and makes little ado over the difficulties of his own works.

But the importance of it was not disclosed to all yesterday. It is in three movements, apparently, of which the first two are enchained. The last begins with a brisk fugato on an eccentric theme; the musical material of the others is not easy to grasp, and seemed vague and of uncertain value, the treatment of it leading to no certain or firmly conceived issue.

THE PLAY

By Alexander Woollcott

Synthetic Shakespeare.

The Little Theatre has been the scene of many a strange and fleeting enterprise in theatrical production and it was true to this tradition yesterday afternoon when its stage was taken over for a matinee of "A Winter's Tale," which was interesting from two standpoints.

To begin with, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Armfield, who have done some work for the theatre in the West, put this forward as an example of synthetic production, which, in this case, is taken to mean an interpretation of the text not only by the significance of the spoken word but, rhythmically, by every sound and movement and color involved in the performance. The term, then, is simply a hanky-panky expression for something that every intelligent director of a play is supposed to do without talking about it and which many of them have done without knowing it.

Its effects were chiefly visible in the pleasing compositions into which the dissolving groups of players were forever falling. Some of them, it is true, fell into their required postures a bit self-consciously and rather more in the manner of Egyptian ballet than the directors seem to have intended; but, for the most part, they kept the simply set stage a continuously agreeable picture. How the Armfields would have managed had they had an ordinarily competent company to work with remains a matter of speculation. With the material at hand yesterday, it is greatly to be feared that the wages of synthesis is debt.

The second standpoint which lent an interest to yesterday's proceeding was its aspect as a matinee for children. According to the program, the production was "organized by a group of parents and others interested in the establishment of a theatre for young people," and the audience yesterday was largely made up of extremely bored youngsters who, it is to be believed and hoped, had very little notion of what it was all about. The selection of "A Winter's Tale," with its trial for adultery and other complications, as a play for children might drive the cynical onlooker to a suspicion that some one was grimly determined to stage the piece and hit upon the children as an afterthought. For some reason best known to themselves the children shrieked with amusement over the scene on the seacoast of Bohemia—perhaps in recollection of Mr. Chesterton's recent whimsies about it—and they were doubtless filled with admiration and envy during the brief scene of the infant Mamillius.

The play will be repeated this morning. Then, toward the end of the month, Mrs. Armfield is scheduled for six lectures on "A Winter's Tale"—all about its historical significance, its inherent symbolism, its rhythmic structure and so forth.

Mrs. James Duane Livingston has been appointed dramatic director of a club being organized which is to present mystery and morality plays in the large parish hall of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, 222 West Eleventh Street. There is a movement among some of the churches located in Greenwich Village to interest the young people in the art centre in work of this sort, and organization meetings are being held on Sunday afternoons at the parish hall.

Mrs. Livingston was the founder and President of the Educational Dramatic League, being succeeded as President by Mrs. August Belmont.

TRADE REVIVAL DUE, SAYS J. S. ALEXANDER

PREDICTS NEW EFFICIENCY

Other Speakers Optimistic at Annual Dinner of Stock Exchange Firms—Officers Chosen.

Speaking at the dinner of the Association of Stock Exchange Firms in the Hotel Astor last night, James S. Alexander, President of the National Bank of Commerce and a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, said that a "boom period" was unnecessary to business revival. He expressed confidence that business would soon settle down on sound fundamentals.

"Business cannot idly wait for the public to resume active buying," he said. "It must stimulate buying by reduced prices for goods and acceptance of reasonable margins of profits. The growing tendency of labor to become more efficient and its willingness to accept some liquidation of inflated wages is encouraging. The readjustment now going on in respect to labor supply and demand is beneficial to the individual worker. The excess of jobs over workers, inflated wages and lax supervision from employers which characterized the boom period were all influences contrary to labor's best interests.

"Competition for work means the stimulation of efficiency and stanch Anglo-Saxon individualism as opposed to radicalism. But employers must not attempt to lower wages unduly or to enforce greater curtailment than circumstances warrant. Wage earners in the United States are entitled to the opportunity to receive more than merely the means for a bare and joyless existence in return for real work well done.

"It may be said that, in the securities markets, speculation has been more orderly, more in accordance with predetermined rules and more on a basis of voluntary participation than in most other directions."

William H. Remick, President of the New York Stock Exchange, thanked the association for its co-operation with the Stock Exchange, and added:

"Some time ago I was informed that it was never intended that loans secured by collateral of stock or bonds or both should be re-discountable at the Federal Reserve Bank because they were not liquid. To this I naturally took exception. It is quite true that unlike silk or wool or cotton and many other commodities, securities are not consumed or worn out, but they are gradually retired from the market and the loan accounts and disappear quite as effectually through the investment of the savings of the people."

As an example, Mr. Remick told how Wall and La Salle Streets firms aided a corporation that was one of the oldest in its line, and added:

"The Federal Reserve act, however, denies to the financiers who afforded them a maximum of relief, even a minimum of assistance. Why should the plain, unsecured promise to pay of a corporation be more acceptable at the Federal Reserve Bank for rediscount than a note of a firm of undoubted credit secured by the same corporation's mortgage obligation, pledged at 70 to 75 per cent. of its face value?"

Samuel F. Streit, Chairman of the Stock Exchange Clearing House Corporation, told of the work of the organization for the last year and announced that beginning on Feb. 15 Liberty bonds would be added to the list of clearances.

Officers elected were: President, Andrew J. Miller, of Boissevain & Co.; Vice President, Arthur Myles, of Moore & Schley, and Jules S. Bache, of J. S. Bache & Co.; George M. Woolsey, of Trippe & Co. Bernon S. Prentice, of Dominick & Dominick; Henry Rogers Winthrop, of Harris, Winthrop & Co.; G. R. Dyer, of C. I. Hudson & Co., were chosen for the Board of Governors.

DRUG HEADQUARTERS HERE, SAYS SIMON

Nearly Every Ship Coming to New York Brings Consignment for Smugglers, He Asserts.

Some of the leaders of the international drug smuggling ring against which the activities of Byron Newton, Collector of the Port, and Dr. Carleton Simon, Special Deputy Police Commissioner in charge of the Narcotic Squad, are being directed, are in New York, said Dr. Simon yesterday. He has put the whole of his squad at the disposal of the Collector.

Mr. Newton said yesterday that he was convinced that most of the grafting by customs inspectors, with the exception of men who are mixed up in the smuggling of drugs and liquor, was petty. Many of them have gone to his office and offered to help clean the record of their department.

Thirty pounds or opium was seized yesterday on the steamer Blair, lying at the foot of Java Street, Brooklyn, by Customs Inspectors Hokenson and Grumminger, acting under instructions from Thomas E. Rush, Surveyor of the Port. The opium would have brought $200 a pound if sold to addicts, the customs men said. No arrests were made.

Thomas E. Rush, Surveyor of the Port, said last night that the report of graft among customs inspectors had been greatly exaggerated, that only two inspectors had been dismissed, and only ten were under suspicion, instead of the forty or fifty mentioned in the newspapers. In a statement, written in the third person, Mr. Rush referred to Collector of the Port Byron R. Newton, and said:

"Mr. Rush disbelieves that the Collector personally issued the interviews because they show such a gross lack of information readily accessible to public officials."

EX-MARINE SLAIN IN MEXICO.

Standard Oil Employe Stabbed by Robbers, Message Says.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 4.—Virgil Shelton Purdy, 19, a former member of the United States Marine Corps, was slain in Mexico on Wednesday and his body taken yesterday to Amarillo, Texas, according to a telegram received by his sister, Mrs. H. P. Ireland, she said today.

Robbery was the motive, according to the telegram, which was sent from Amarillo and signed "Superintendent Willard," who is said to be an official of the Standard Oil Company, for which Purdy recently went to Mexico to work. The message stated that Purdy was stabbed, and that one finger had been cut off by his slayer in an effort to obtain a diamond ring. Failing to remove the ring, the robber gouged out the setting.

SEES $25,000,000 SHIP LOSS.

But Tweedale Expects Them to Begin to Pay Late in 1921.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—At least $25,000,000 will be lost in the operation of the Government merchant marine fleet in the first six months of 1921, according to the estimate of Alonzo Tweedale, General Controller of the Shipping Board, in the report of hearings made public today by the subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Present conditions will probably continue for two or three months thereafter, Mr. Tweedale said, but then conditions, in his opinion, would get back to normal and the Government would begin to make a profit on its fleet.

HYLAN URGED TO ACT FOR MORE SCHOOLS

City Education Head Says Board of Estimate Should Approve Plan to Spend $66,000,000.

President Anning S. Prall of the Board of Education has sent a letter to Mayor Hylan urging immediate action by the Board of Estimate to grant $66,000,000 for new school houses and additions, to do away with part time in the schools. Mr. Prall told the Mayor that the Board of Education on Feb. 1 adopted a comprehensive plan for the erection of forty-seven new elementary school buildings and additions to present buildings; new portable buildings for elementary sittings; six new high schools and an addition to one; a training school for teachers; a parental school; a vocational school building; improvement of playgrounds, fire prevention, &c.

"On Jan. 1, this year," said Mr. Prall, "there were 79,512 pupils in part time classes and 176,604 children in double or duplicate session classes. To relieve these conditions you are aware that there are now in course of construction twenty-seven new elementary school buildings, some nearly ready for occupancy. When these buildings are completed they will provide new sittings for 35,928 children in elementary schools.

"By the erection of all of the buildings and additions included in the program just adopted, 61,680 additional sittings will be provided for children in the elementary grades and 11,500 for children in the high schools. This will give a seat to every child on part time throughout the entire city, and will materially reduce the number of double-session classes.

"This school building program is the most comprehensive educational measure ever proposed by any Board of Education or ever submitted for the consideration and approval of any administration in the history of the City of New York.

"The Board of Education will give its official approval to this matter on Wednesday, Feb. 9 next, and information in detail will be submitted to each member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment after that date.

"Your early approval of our action will be appreciated."

KILLING OF DRUGGIST DESCRIBED BY BROWN

Confessed Slayer Boasts He Went to College and Never Drank Nor Used Tobacco.

Coincident with the indictment yesterday of Mrs. Rose Schmertz of 70 Adams Street, Hoboken, and Robert Brown, an escaped convict, for the murder last Saturday of Dr. Israel Turk, a druggist, in his apartment at 271 East Broadway, Brown talked freely about himself. He admits that he shot Turk.

Brown and Mrs. Schmertz were taken to the Essex Market Court for arraignment before Magistrate Edgar V. Frothingham on affidavits charging murder and burglary. Brown was in an anteroom when he consented to reveal his connection with the killing.

"They shouldn't hold Mrs. Schmertz for that murder," he said. "All that poor woman did was to tell me where I could get Mrs. Turk's jewelry. She didn't know there was going to be a murder committed. Neither did I when I entered Dr. Turk's apartment.

"I am not the kind that is easily led into committing a crime of this sort. I was graduated from a college in Canada, and at one time I owned two cabarets in the Dominion.

"On the night of the killing I went to Dr. Turk's apartment to get the jewelry I had heard that Mrs. Turk always carried. I waited for Dr. Turk and his wife to go to sleep, but he came to the room in which I was hiding, and a struggle began. I fired one shot. Then I ran out of the apartment. I didn't mean to shoot him in a vital spot."

Brown had a seat between Detective Sergeants Trainor, Martin and Kenny, who arrested him, and turning to them he said: "If I get a chance to get away from you men, you can bet I'll do it."

"I can give Commissioner Enright a 'tip' on how to solve this crime wave," he added. "The way to stop men from committing crimes is to remove temptation. A movement should be started to keep women from wearing high-priced sable and fur coats and jewelry."

"I never smoked or drank liquor in my life," he said with no small degree of pride. "I have accumulated a considerable sum of money and I'm going to spend it freely to defend myself."

DUEL WITH KNIVES, ONE MAN IS KILLED

Follow a Code in Fatal Encounter at Bridgeport—Slayer Escapes.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 4.—A duel with knives, believed by the police to have been carefully planned by the participants, resulted in the death late today of Gionann Dirosa, 29, a shoemaker of this city, and sent the police out on their second man-hunt in a week here. The police arrived at the scene, in a woods in the northern section of the city, a few minutes after the fight ended. Dirosa was still alive, but he died before he could be taken to a hospital and without making a statement.

The police investigation disclosed that there were at least three witnesses of the combat, although they were some distance away. Lyman Hadden and John J. Doyle were waiting for a street car on a nearby corner and saw part of the fight. They thought it was a fist battle, however, and went on their way. Peter Marsonick also believed it was a fist fight, but when Dirosa fell and failed to arise he investigated. In the clearing in the woods he found Dirosa dying and two knives lying on the ground.

The story of the duel gathered by the police indicates that the fight was a fair one. Walking together into the woods, the two men removed their coats, vests and hats and placed them on the ground. Then each drew a knife from his pocket and they faced each other for a few seconds.

Each strode backward ten paces and then they approached each other with knives held even with their shoulders. They clinched in the first tilt. Then they separated and again backed off ten paces each. They parried several thrusts and then Dirosa's opponent drove his knife into Dirosa's heart.

Boards of Trade Arrange Loans Here for New Construction.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—The Allied Boards of Trade of Pittsburgh have arranged with New York interests to lend funds for home building in this city. The Housing Committee of the boards, in an announcement made public today, expressed the opinion that such loans would go far toward remedying the housing shortage here.

The money will be lent at 6 per cent. in amounts up to 50 per cent. of the appraised value of the property. Payments are to be made in monthly instalments for a period of fifteen years. Under the plan the home builder is privileged to choose his own location and the type of construction.

KINGDON GOULD WINS IN MRS. BLUM'S SUIT

NOT OBTAINED IN GOOD FAITH

Woman Says Defendant Financed Divorce She Got on His Promise to Wed.

The allegations in the suit of Mrs. Elsa Erpf Lefkovics Blum, divorced wife of Dr. Richard Blum, against Kingdon Gould for $500,000 for breach of promise to wed, were set forth yesterday in an opinion handed down by Supreme Court Justice Finch granting Mr. Gould's application to vacate an order for his examination before trial. The court ruled that the order was not obtained in good faith.

Justice Finch says in his opinion that the allegations are that in 1915 Mrs. Blum was living with her husband and child, "and that the defendant requested the plaintiff to obtain a divorce from her husband on the ground that he was unfaithful to her, and marry the defendant." It is alleged that Mr. Gould promised to marry the plaintiff as soon as she was free, and thereafter Mrs. Blum left her husband and employed detectives to follow him, "defendant paying the expenses," and the detectives got the evidence required. It is also alleged that Mr. Gould told the plaintiff not to ask Dr. Blum for alimony because the defendant was able to support her, and that he again promised to wed her as soon as the divorce was obtained.

It is also alleged, the court says, that after the divorce had been obtained and Mrs. Blum told Mr. Gould she was ready to marry him he again agreed to carry out his promise as soon as he "could arrange to do so." Thereafter he married another person, and the suit was brought not long afterward, in 1919.

Justice Finch says that Mr. Gould denied all the allegations in the complaint except that he married another, and asked that the order for his examination be vacated on the ground that the alleged promise was void and that the examination is not asked for in good faith. In his opinion the court further says:

"The plaintiff apparently acquiesces in the contention that the promise made while the plaintiff was a married woman is void and states that all the allegations regarding such promise were merely inserted for the purpose of establishing a claim for special damages, that the plaintiff relies to recover upon the promise alleged to have been made subsequent to the obtaining of her divorce.

"It is clear that the promise to marry made while the plaintiff was the wife of another man is void, as against public policy, and that such alleged promise cannot sustain either recovery for a breach thereof or be used as a basis for special damage.

"A reading of the complaint would seem to show that this void promise, however, was originally relied upon as a basis of the recovery, and that the allegation of 'again' promising immediately after the obtaining of the divorce was but a reiteration of the same promise made before and merely a confirmation of the former void promise.

"It is not, however, necessary to rely upon this contention, since it appears that there is not sufficient to justify the court in believing that this examination is asked for in good faith for the purpose of obtaining the evidence for the action."

ASSERTS COUNT CAUSED WARSHIP'S DESTRUCTION

Tilinski, Jailed at Berne, Said to Have Been Bribed by Japan to Sink Petropavlovsk.

GENEVA, Feb. 4.—A sensational international case, involving Count Igor de Tilinski, a friend of the former Emperor of Russia, and the sum of 60,000,000 yen, is to be tried shortly in Berne. The Count was arrested in Berne for alleged fraud, at the instance of a London syndicate.

The Count is declared to have told how he negotiated with the Japanese Government and how in the Russo-Japanese war he succeeded in the destruction of the battleship Petropavlovsk by changing the mine charts aboard the battleship. He is alleged to have said that he received for this a reward of 60,000,000 yen, with a promise of a similar sum in ten years if Japan was not at war.

Count Tilinski arrived in Geneva in 1912, and then went to London, where it is said that an English syndicate advanced him large sums on scrip. Other private English, American and Swiss financiers are understood to have advanced funds to him.

The newspapers say that the scrip, examined by Geneva experts, was found to be genuine. Count Tilinski is in jail at Berne, where he owns a sumptuous villa, being unable to find the required bail.

CATHOLICS ARE SILENT ON Y. M. C. A. ATTACK

No Comment in Absence of Archbishop Hayes Concerning Decree by Vatican.

Officials of the Catholic Church and of the Young Men's Christian Association declined yesterday to comment on the papal decree issued in Rome on Nov. 5 last, attacking the Y. M. C. A. and other organizations for proselyting members of the Catholic faith, the full text of which has just been received in this country. The decree is accompanied by instructions to Archbishops, Bishops and priests throughout the world to preserve the members of the Catholic faith, and particularly the young folk, from "contagion of every society of this kind."

So far as could be learned, no steps have been taken by the Church here to carry out the instructions. It was said that the document had not been formally brought to the attention of the local clergy. What action may be taken is a matter of speculation, for there was no one in authority who cared to make a prediction in the absence of Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes, who is in Europe.

The decree, which is aimed at the Y. M. C. A. in particular, warns that this and other organizations have made it a practice for some time to "lay dangerous snares" for the faithful, especially the young folk. Abundant facilities for physical culture and intellectual and moral training, it is pointed out, are provided, "in point of fact, to corrupt the integrity of the Catholic faith and snatch children from the Catholic Church, their mother."

It is set forth that Catholics who are "too confident, and are ignorant of what it is in reality," give their support to the organizations.

Priests are warned that they should "employ all their zeal" in preserving the young folk from the "contagion of every society of this kind whose good works, presented in the name of Christ, endanger the most precious gift that the Grace of Christ has given them." They are urged to organize societies of both sexes among their communicants to combat the influence of the Y. M. C. A. and other kindred organizations. The decree urges that pamphlets and books containing information about the "real aims" of these organizations be disseminated among the members of the faith.

EARNINGS

Certain public utilities have doubled their earnings in the past five years. Recent rate increases insure even larger earnings in the future.

The stable earning power of public utilities is due to the fact that they supply a vital necessity to industries and communities and that they are run on sound business principles along progressive lines.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks and Foreign Exchange Irregular—Silver Lower, Money Not Above 8%.

Call money, after having risen last Monday to 8 per cent. for the first time since November and having touched 9 on Wednesday and Thursday, loaned at 8 per cent. all of yesterday, thus ending the money market week with perceptible relaxation. The reasons for this slightly easier rate will be more apparent when it is plain what single specific cause has been at work this week outside of the known requisitions of interior banks, and to what extent the position has been corrected through the week's higher bid for day-to-day loans. The Federal Reserve Bank's marking up of its rediscount rate for loans secured by the Treasury's short-term bills had no special bearing on the general money market.

The Stock Exchange seemed to be favorably affected even by yesterday's slight change in call money rates. After two or three hours of distinct weakness, affecting both railways and industrials, an upward turn of prices occurred with increased trading, and the market closed with more net gains than losses. This was again quite evidently a matter of professional activities, but it proved at any rate that neither the spirit of despondency lately prevalent nor the decline in prices which accompanied it had caused any extensive selling by real holders.

Judging from yesterday's returning dullness in the foreign exchange market, with rates varying irregularly and as a rule only slightly from the preceding day, it might be supposed that the upward movement of exchange on Europe has been checked by the new uncertainties which the Paris proposal of a week ago threw into the reparations controversy. The very striking movement of Paris exchange on London continued; a movement which has brought the pound sterling down from 61¼ francs in the middle of January to 54⅝ francs yesterday. Whatever else this striking shift in favor of Paris means, it at least indicates unmistakably that last Autumn's heavy purchases of sterling bills by France, in order to sell them in New York and create American credits, have definitely ceased. It was that manoeuvre which, reflected in October and November by a rise of Paris exchange on London from 52 francs to 58, was also indicated by the simultaneous weakness of sterling at New York. Silver bullion, having risen at London from 34¼ pence last Tuesday to 37¾ Thursday, broke yesterday to 36¼.

Probably it will surprise most people who have listened to the gloomy talk on this week's markets to read at the end of the week the by no means uncheerful reviews of the mercantile agencies. "Improvement, slow and cautious but nevertheless sustained," is the description of the week's trade conditions by one of them; the other finds that "while commercial movements lack uniformity, the more favorable trend is maintained." These conclusions appear to be based on the facts that resumption of work by lately closed-down mills is increasing; that purchases of middlemen for the Spring trade are somewhat more confident; that an easier condition has in many sections followed abandonment of the policy of holding farm products back from market, and, what is equally important, that offerings of retail goods at continued reductions are "leading to a growing demand for small lots of merchandise for replacement purposes."

None of this can be called an enthusiastic view of the situation or outlook and it is coupled with the remark that, even in wholesale markets, the price of 57 articles out of 78 has declined this week. But genuine recovery cannot come, either in trade activity or in prices, until it is evident, first, that the consuming public has begun to buy again, and, second, that prices have reached some kind of stability. These two remedies are in a sense interdependent, because the consumer hesitates to buy if he thinks postponement will mean the chance of buying cheaper, and because prices will lack support, even on the wholesale market, if the public is not a free purchaser. The teaching of experience, however, is that at some point (which the markets are trying to reach) prices will stand at so manifestly low a level that the buyer's doubts will be removed, and that simultaneously the discovery will be made of an unexpectedly large accumulated demand because of the long postponement. How soon such a situation will arise is not so easy to determine.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Irregular Movement of European Rates—Francs Higher, Sterling Down 1¼ Cents.

With perceptible slackening from the recent active trading, the foreign exchange market moved irregularly yesterday. Sterling declined 1¼ cents and closed at the lowest; but French and Belgian exchange, although reacting slightly from the day's highest, closed above Thursday. German exchange was also quotably higher, as were rates on Denmark and Norway. Central European rates were practically unchanged, with Rumania and Czechoslovakia slightly lower.

Argentine exchange ended the day without change, Brazilian ⅛ cent lower. The Montreal rate declined to 88.6 cents, as against 89.1 on Thursday, 89.5 a week ago and the recent high of 90.2.

PHONE EARNINGS DROPPED LAST YEAR

OPERATION TAX WAS CAUSE

This Increased by $1,682,059—Government Helped to Pay $3,616,000 War Losses.

The report of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company, which was formerly the Chicago Telephone Company, for last year shows a sharp decline in earnings as compared with the preceding year. This was due in large measure to a big increase in operation taxes. Net for the year, after deducting charges and taxes, was $1,426,461, which was the equivalent of $3.56 a share earned on the $40,000,000 capital stock. In the preceding year net was $3,032,180, the equivalent of $7.58.

The total net for the year before interest and taxes was $5,167,372, as compared with $2,374,538, an increase of $2,793,334, while there was an increase in operation taxes of $1,682,059. The company in 1919 enjoyed additional income due to Government accounts amounting to $2,431,427, but this item was not apparent in last year's statement, so that after interest charges the net showing was considerably less than in 1919. To stockholders President Sunny says, in part:

"At the end of 1916 the surplus was $2,495,400. In 1919 the United States Government paid the company $1,875,600 to cover the loss incurred in the operation of the property while in its control, from Aug. 1, 1918, to July 31, 1919. The losses indicated above of $3,616,000 in four years had been paid from the surplus and the payment by the Government.

"The war appears to have cost the telephone company, the Government and the subscribers, who have paid increased rates of about $4,300,000, a total of $8,000,000 in four years."

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Scattered Covering by Shorts.

The moderate upturn in many of the active issues yesterday was considered merely another manifestation of the trading character of the stock market recently. The 9 per cent. call money rate of earlier days had led to the putting out of some short lines, and when the rate dropped to 8 per cent. yesterday there was a disposition to cover. This was evidenced by an advance of 2⅛ points in Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, an upturn of 2⅝ points in Sears-Roebuck and a gain of 1⅝ points in Mexican Petroleum. There has been a determined endeavor to drive all three of these issues down, with the result, it is believed, that the short side became a bit overcrowded. American Sugar, Crucible Steel and American Hide and Leather preferred also presented a firm front. As to volume of trading there was little change from preceding days. The turnover was in the neighborhood of half a million shares, with the great majority of the issues showing less than 1,000 shares as the total for a day's business.

A Novel Financing Plan.

There is more than ordinary interest in the plan of the copper interests to issue debentures against the pooled surplus of copper. Plans to bring about such an issue of securities were practically concluded yesterday, the syndicate offering the debentures to be headed by the National City Bank and the Guaranty Trust Company. This stands as the first instance of a serious endeavor to issue a marketable security against commodities and hence has a position of greater importance than its direct bearing on the copper industry. It is understood that if the plan meets with the success that has been predicted, the experiment may be tried in other lines, notably cotton, which, with relation to the foreign and domestic market, stands somewhat in the same position as copper. In essence the plan provides for the taking of a goodly portion of surplus goods entirely out of the domestic market, thereby strengthening the position of the home market.

Crude Oil Price Falls.

Reductions in the price of crude petroleum in the various fields are coming with a frequency that is a bit amazing. Yesterday another reduction was made in the price of Pennsylvania crude, the cut as announced by the Joseph Seep Agency amounting to 25 cents a barrel. This brings the price down to $4.75 a barrel, as compared with a high for last year of $6.10 a barrel. The cutting yesterday was general, several other grades of crude suffering to an even greater extent than did Pennsylvania. A reduction in crude was undoubtedly foreshadowed by the reductions which have been made throughout the country in the price of gasoline. "It may be perfectly true that gasoline has come down," remarked one Wall Street operator yesterday, "but my garage man won't hear about it until next November."

Money Slightly Easier.

Call money ruled at 8 per cent. throughout the day, with none of the 9 per cent. of previous days in evidence. That made the money market look a little easier, but there were other evidences of a somewhat easier tone besides this. Offerings, for one thing, were slightly freer, and there was not the tenseness to the market that had been noted earlier in the week. Whether this presages a further decline in loans in today's bank statements remains to be seen, but observers would not be surprised if loans did come down a little. Also, there was a feeling last night that there would not be much change in Federal Reserve notes, and some inclined to the belief that there would be gains shown in the gold settlement fund. But whatever the changes, today's bank displays will be awaited with much more than the usual interest.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. were informed yesterday that $2,850,000 additional gold is being forwarded to them from England, of which $750,000 is aboard the Adriatic, which sailed Thursday, and $2,100,000 will be shipped today on the Finland. These new shipments will raise the amount of gold sent on these engagements to above $100,000,000 for the period since Jan. 1, 1920. The exact total when this gold gets in will be $101,375,000.

The Bond Demand.

When a bond issue, even such a prime one as the Tide Water Oil offering of $12,000,000 ten-year 6½s, can be fixed up late one day and then oversubscribed some four times on the morning of the next, it would seem that there is nothing serious the matter with the bond market. And that was what happened yesterday. The bankers did not complete negotiations for the Tide Water offering until late Thursday, and the books were held open to noon yesterday, when subscriptions amounted to something in excess of $40,000,000.

The Northern Pacific Decline.

Continued selling of Northern Pacific shares yesterday bore the earmarks, some believed, of the same professional interest which ran the stock up sharply earlier in the week. The decline was accompanied by bearish rumors, just as the advance of a few days ago was accompanied by bullish gossip, and when these rumors were run down they led in all instances to other than official sources. It was asserted that an active pool was operating in the stock, but so far had managed to effectually mask its makeup. One of yesterday's professional bearish rumors was to the effect that the Burlington plan for an issue of new bonds and stock is liked in some particulars by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but that other phases have proven extremely objectionable. In authoritative quarters this was classified as "a figment of imagination." Other rumors were of about the same quality and the conservative element paid them but scant attention.

Guessing About Reading.

Reading stock attracted more attention than usual yesterday by moving forward more than a point on heavier buying than has been witnessed for some time. The shares have proven to be a remunerative medium for the activities of professionals ever since the dissolution decree of the United States Supreme Court was handed down, and the price movements have been over a fairly wide range when the professionals have paid the shares more than passing attention. And along with almost all of the pronounced movements of the stock there has been a great deal of guessing and rumor regarding the date upon which the segregation plan would be presented and how the Reading issues would fare under it. It was asserted only recently that the final segregation of the Reading properties probably could not be settled for years, while speculative interests in the financial district have been talking of a settlement within a comparatively few months.

MILLIONS IN LOANS, FEW FOR HOUSING

LEGISLATURE IS BLAMED

Millions of dollars have been placed in mortgage loans since the first of the year, but only a small fraction of the amount has been or will be put in new housing.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on Thursday authorized mortgage loans aggregating $7,500,000. Of these loans about $1,400,000 were on seven apartment houses in New York City. About $435,000 were on 125 single-family dwelling in the States of New York, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Kansas, Missouri and Louisiana. Seventy-five thousand dollars were on four apartment houses in Kansas City and $50,000 on six apartment houses in Los Angeles, Cal. One hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars was loaned on hotels in Tennessee and Ohio. Over $3,200,000 was loaned on farms. The rest was on business buildings in Louisiana and Connecticut.

In order to help the housing situation in New York City the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, according to one of its officials, is confining its loans to new construction consisting of apartment houses, private and two and three family dwellings. All of the loans authorized Thursday are on new buildings.

William A. White & Sons have also recently placed real estate mortgage loans aggregating more than $6,000,000. Not one of these loans went into new construction.

Speculative building in Manhattan is absolutely dead. This is proved by the fact that the first building plans of 1921 calling for the erection of an apartment house were filed with the Tenement House Department Thursday. The plans provided for the erection of a ten-story apartment house on the southeast corner of Lexington Avenue and Ninetieth Street, on a plot 100 by 145. It will contain sixty-seven apartments with a total of 369 rooms, seven apartments to the floor. It is estimated that the building will cost $500,000. The Rhinelander Real Estate Company is the owner. Maynicke & Franke, architects, estimate the cost at $500,000.

A six-story apartment will be erected at the northeast corner of Riverside Drive and 152d Street, 70.2 by 199.10, by the Crimson Realty Company. G. F. Pelham, architect, estimates the cost at $250,000.

When asked how it was that the building of commercial structures, garages and places of amusement had increased last year, while apartment house construction had stopped short, George M. Hubbard of the mortgage department of William A. White & Sons said: "About a year ago, when various lending institutions announced publicly they would be glad to make loans to help the housing situation, we started a campaign to secure applications for loans from the builders who had been active in past years in upper Manhattan and the Bronx.

"We failed to secure a single application, and the general expression from nearly every builder was that of vague fear that further legislation might be enacted that would deprive him of what he considered his property rights.

"With sufficient money available for housing loans, we have repeatedly solicited applications for loans from builders without result, although we have been readily able to find plenty of borrowers for office, loft, store, garage and theatre buildings, on which we have arranged loans of many millions of dollars. Had the Legislature refrained from passing any housing legislation whatever it is my opinion we would have a surplus of apartments, as we now have of lofts and offices. In other words, the result of the recent legislation seems to prove that to try to legislate against the economic law of supply and demand can only result in failure."

BUSY SPRING IN DRY GOODS.

Western Retailers Buying Stock Confidently—Road Orders Good.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Marshall Field & Co. in their weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade, say:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods has again shown a steady increase during the last week. There were more customers in the house than during the corresponding week a year ago, and the orders sent in by our road salesmen continue to be satisfactory.

"The substantial volume of orders for Spring merchandise which are being received clearly indicates that most retailers now have their stocks in a healthy condition and are preparing to do business with a renewed confidence in the general situation.

"Our mills are running at full capacity, and the demand at the present time for certain lines of cotton goods, particularly ginghams, bedspreads and sheetings, is actually in excess of the supply.

"Collections are still somewhat slow, but are showing an improvement."

LONDON EXCHANGE CHEERED

Stocks Rise on Announcement of Withdrawal of Excess Profits Tax.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The speech delivered by J. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, at Birmingham yesterday, in which he announced that the excess profits tax would be withdrawn, had the effect of cheering all sections of the Stock Exchange this morning. The oil shares section was distinctly good in tone, quotations on the Shell, Eagle and Trinidad shares favoring holders. Commercial securities, Argentine rail stocks and the war loan were fractionally better.

The removal of the excess profits tax is expected to cause a further rise in the securities of companies which have been so heavily taxed since 1916.

REDISCOUNTS RAISED BY RESERVE BANK

FIRST CHANGE SINCE JUNE

Ends Preferential in Favor of Certificates as Against Other Federal Securities.

The first change in rediscount rates at the local Federal Reserve Bank since June 1 of last year was announced yesterday, when it was stated that beginning today the rate for short advances and for sixteen to ninety day rediscounts based on Treasury certificates of indebtedness would be advanced from 5½ per cent. to 6 per cent.

This action does away with the preferential rate in favor of Treasury certificates as opposed to Liberty bonds and Victory notes. The preferential has been in force since last June, when the rate on Liberties and Victories was advanced to 6 per cent. and the rate on commercial paper was moved forward to 7 per cent.

The action was not much of a surprise to the financial community, in view of the fact that several other Reserve banks have this last week eliminated the preferential in favor of Treasury certificates. But the fact that the first alteration in Reserve Bank rates should come in the form of an advance was not relished by that part of the financial community which had been predicting that Reserve Bank rates would come down directly the year was turned. In November and December and for the first week or so of January predictions were freely and confidently made that Reserve Bank rates would have to come down. However, the present credit situation has become so stringent that little has been heard of reductions in rates for some time.

Accompanying its announcement of the new rate on Treasury certificates, the New York Federal Reserve Bank yesterday issued a statement, which said:

"The broad open market which has developed for certificates of indebtedness and their ready absorption by investors make a special discount rate on loans secured by certificates, as distinguished from other Government securities, no longer necessary. There has been an almost complete distribution of the certificates, which were formerly so largely used as collateral for loans at the Federal Reserve banks. At the end of January there were $2,351,000,000 certificates outstanding, and of these only 6½ per cent., or $157,000,000, were held by the twelve Federal Reserve banks as security for loans. The rest presumably were held by investors or non-borrowing banks."

English Gold Here From Sweden.

The National Bank of Commerce in New York has received a shipment of $1,400,000 in English gold bars from the Sveriges Riksbank, the Government bank of Sweden. This consignment arrived on the Swedish-American Line steamship Drottningholm, which on Dec. 21 brought the same bank $1,300,000 from the Sveriges Riksbank.

Bank in Kansas Is Suspended.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 4.—The Farmers' State Bank of Le Loup, Franklin County, was closed today by order of the State Bank Commissioner. C. F. Pettijohn of Olathe, whose personal affairs were placed in the hands of a receiver a few days ago, was President of the bank.

PAYMENT FOR INJURY NOT TAXED BY STATE

LEVY ON TEACHERS' SALARY

Losses on Securities May Be Deducted, but Not Those Incurred by Bad Debts.

The New York State Income Tax Bureau made public yesterday questions and answers on a number of points relating to the administration of the State Tax law, as follows:

Auditor—My employer during the year paid me an extra $180 for "supper money." Is this a gift or income? Answer—Such amount is additional compensation and should be included in your income.

Non-resident—I am a member of business organizations which have clubs both within and without New York State. May I deduct the dues of these organizations in my New York State return? Answer—No. Deductions of non-residents are restricted to those incurred in connection with their sources of income from New York State.

Principal—Some teachers have asked me if they are taxable on that part of their salary paid indirectly by the State through the local board. Answer—Yes. Teachers in public, private or high schools are taxable on their income derived from all sources. You probably confused the State requirements with the exclusion of teachers' incomes under the Federal statute.

Reamer—How shall I treat $400 which my employers paid to me in settlement of injuries received in their shops? Answer—You should exclude it from your income. In New York State personal income tax return amounts received either by settlement or as the result of suit in the way of insurance or compensation for injuries are not taxable.

Uneasy—From my State salary of $3,000 the pension deductions yearly amount to $126. Upon what amount am I taxable—the total amount of the salary or the salary less the pension deductions? Answer—You should include in your income the entire amount of your salary, inclusive of income deducted for the pension retirement system.

N. P. D.—I earn a stated salary each year and speculate a little in stocks and bonds. If I make a profit I know I must report it. If I lose may I deduct it from my other income? Answer—Yes, if you are a resident you are entitled to deduct losses which you incurred in connection with the purchase or sale of securities.

B. & B.—"X" endorses a note for "Y" in 1919, which is renewed once in 1919 and once in 1920. In 1920 "X" is obliged to pay the note. On Jan. 1, 1920, "Y" was solvent but did not have sufficient money to meet the note. Can "X" take any loss? Answer—No. Bad debts are not deductible unless facts are disclosed showing "that legal action to enforce payment would in all probability not result in the satisfaction or execution of a judgment."

Security—"These bonds will be the direct obligation of the Company, specifically secured by pledge with the Trustee of a like par amount of the Company's First Mortgage 6% Serial Bonds, due annually February 1, 1922, to 1933, inclusive. The cash received by the Trustee through these serial maturities will be applied to the sinking fund redemptions.

The Property—"The Milwaukee Coke & Gas Company, which has been in successful operation for over seventeen years, owns and operates a by-product coke oven plant of 160 ovens at Milwaukee, with capacity for coking approximately 1,000,000 tons of coal per annum, to be increased approximately 25% through the present construction program which will increase the number of ovens to 190. The Company controls its principal source of coal supply through ownership of a 75% interest in the Elkhorn Piney Coal Mining Company, whose coal reserves are estimated by independent engineers to aggregate approximately 250,000,000 tons of high grade bituminous coal.

"The coke production of the Milwaukee Coke & Gas Company is sold for metallurgical and domestic purposes. The Company's gas production is sold to the Milwaukee Gas Light Company under a favorable contract running for 15 years from 1919, for distribution and consumption in the City of Milwaukee, where gas requirements are constantly and steadily increasing. The plant capacity is now being increased from 8,000,000 to approximately 18,000,000 cubic feet per day.

$150,000,000 IN LOANS ABOUT TO BE MADE

New Financing Expected to Be Very Heavy During Next Week.

BIGGEST ISSUE IN COPPER

Gulf Oil Corporation to Float $35,000,000—Chile Wants $25,000,000.

New financing totalling upwards of $150,000,000 is being arranged and announcement is expected during the coming week. This total may be considerably exceeded if some of the issues which have been under negotiation materialize in time for public offering next week.

The largest will be that of $40,000,000 copper metal financing.

The second largest offering is of $35,000,000 in twelve-year 7 per cent. bonds of the Gulf Oil Corporation, which is due for announcement on Monday and will be handled by a syndicate composed of the Guaranty Trust Company, the Bankers Trust Company, the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Halsey, Stuart & Co. of Chicago, and Brown Bros. & Co. of New York and Philadelphia. The offering price is expected to be slightly below par.

A loan of $25,000,000 to the Republic of Chile is expected to be announced about midweek by banks and banking houses in the so-called South American group. This probably will be in fairly long term bonds at an attractive interest rate, and will be the first of the South American financing undertaken this year.

On Wednesday Kuhn, Loeb & Co. is expected to announce an offering of $15,000,000 fifteen-year 6½ per cent. bonds of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company. The Chicago & Northwestern has two maturities between now and May 1 to provide for, including one of $10,000,000 thirty-year sinking fund debenture 5 per cents., due April 15, and $5,000,000 Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western Railway Company consolidated mortgage 6 per cents, due May 1. The Chicago & Northwestern may also appear in the market with an issue of equipment trust certificates, as the road has recently applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to issue $15,000,000 of such obligations.

The Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies has an issue of $10,000,000 in marine equipment trust certificates which also is scheduled for offering next week, and one public service corporation has been carrying on negotiations with a trust company here for the flotation of $10,000,000 in new securities.

The fact that the $12,000,000 of Tidewater Oil Company ten-year 6½ per cent. bonds was some four times oversubscribed yesterday within an hour or so, and that other offerings of the week have been so well taken, leads bankers to believe that even the huge amount being arranged for distribution next week will go without much difficulty. The bond market is said to be absorbing new offerings with greater speed and vigor even than was shown in some of the big investment markets of last year.

COTTON PRICES RISE, WITH FIRM CLOSING

The cotton market displayed a better tone yesterday than anything it had shown on the previous day. Possibly this was because Liverpool was steadier and certainly there was less selling pressure from the South, while in the afternoon profit-taking purchases made the market look strong for a time. In the late bulge prices went up about 40 points and at the close they were up 22 to 30 points from where they had closed on Thursday.

The steadier condition at Liverpool was ascribed in the private reports to a better feeling engendered by the announcement that the British Government is to abandon the excess profits tax, on the ground that the tax does not accomplish its purpose and makes for extravagance. Pretty much the same argument could be used against the impost in this country, and yesterday cotton men, in company probably with others, were hoping that the United States would follow the example of Great Britain.

Manchester was as depressed as usual and reports from there spoke of the yarn and goods market as "very weak." However, spots at Liverpool were slightly higher than on the preceding day and the trade here professed to be encouraged by this development.

The South was much less in evidence as a seller yesterday, a fact which not only allowed the market to show a better tone, but also cut down the volume of business noticeably. This falling off in offerings was a reflection of the Southern spot markets, which were very dull but steady, with few price changes and those few mostly on the up side. When the late profit-taking by local shorts came into the market, our list improved and the firm closing resulted.

| | Open. | High. | Low. | Close. | Previous Day. |

| Dec. | 14.50 | 14.68 | 14.50 | 14.68 | 14.40 |

PENNSYLVANIA SEEKS FUNDS

Asks Authority to Issue $120,000,000 Worth of Gold Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today for authority to issue $120,000,000 worth of gold bonds. Half of the amount, bearing interest at 6½ per cent., would be sold and the other half, bearing interest at 6 per cent., would be pledged as security for the bonds placed on the market.

Of the funds to be derived from the sale of the $60,000,000 of bonds to be marketed, $20,000,000 would be used to purchase equipment of the Pennsylvania Company, of which the railroad owns the majority of stock, and $22,000,000 would be used in purchasing shares owned by the Pennsylvania Company in the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, and in other units of the Pennsylvania system. The balance would be held and spent for capital expenditures authorized by the general mortgage to be contracted to secure the $60,000,000 second issue.

The Louisville & Nashville Railway Company applied for permission to issue $3,500,000 of first mortgage bonds to be secured by a general mortgage on the properties of the Southeast & St. Louis Railway Company, of which the Louisville road is the lessor. The money is to be used to retire a like amount of bonds maturing on March 1.

COPPER POOL PLAN NEARLY COMPLETED

Details of Project for Financing Export of 400,000,000 Pounds Expected Next Week.

$40,000,000 IN DEBENTURES

If the Operation Succeeds, a Similar Effort Will Be Made With Cotton.

Plans for the pooling of 400,000,000 pounds of copper for export and the issuing of debentures against the trusteed copper were completed yesterday, and a formal announcement will be made early next week. It is reported that the debentures will be put out by a syndicate headed by the National City Bank and the Guaranty Trust Company. The amount will probably be $40,000,000, the copper being put into the pool at 10 cents a pound, and the debentures will mature in one to three years or one to five years. By this method a portion of the debentures will be retired annually as the copper is exported.

Two meetings were held yesterday, one of bankers and the other of representatives of the copper companies. So far as the copper men were concerned, it was said that they had agreed on the plan. The bankers were reluctant to discuss the situation, but one of them remarked that it was possibly a bit too much to say that the plan had been closed. It is not believed, however, that this means that there was any serious hitch in the proceedings, but merely that the representatives of the bankers had not had opportunity to confer with their banks. Inquiry as to what rate of interest the debentures would carry brought no response. It has been the gossip in Wall Street, however, that they would be on an 8 per cent. basis.

This is the first instance where bankers have undertaken to make a marketable security based on commodities, and the success or failure of the plan will be closely followed. Should this operation prove successful, it is considered highly probable that an endeavor will be made to duplicate the operation with relation to other commodities, notably cotton.

ECUADOR'S EXCHANGE CRISIS

Rate on New York 320 Per Cent.—Drafts for Millions Can't Be Paid.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Feb. 3.—The exchange rate on New York reached 320 per cent. today, due to the scantiness of exportations. Accepted drafts valued at 20,000,000 sucres will not be paid on maturity, it is stated in financial circles, because of the impossibility of obtaining New York checks. (A sucre normally is worth 49.7 cents.)

The commercial situation is a complex one at present, with the Government making every effort to control it. President Tamayo today conferred with the managers of the various banks, the Chamber of Commerce and the Cocoa Planters' Association on the subject.

WILLYS STOCKHOLDERS JOIN

Howard Bayne Heads Protective Committee of First Preferred Owners

A protective committee for the first preferred stockholders of the Willys Corporation has been formed with the Columbia Trust Company as the chief depository and the subdepositories the First National Bank of Boston, the Central Trust Company of Illinois and the Girard Trust Company of Philadelphia.

The members of the Protective Committee are Howard Bayne, Chairman; U. N. Bethell, Stedman Butterick, Thomas B. Gannett, Robert E. Hunter, Leclanche Moen, Robert L. Montgomery, Joseph P. Cotton, counsel, and Willard C. Mason, Secretary.

Mr. Cotton said last night it was his understanding that other protective committees were being formed.

The Willys Corporation was incorporated July 24, 1917, in Delaware as the Electric Auto-Lite Corporation and its present name was adopted in September, 1919. In that year the company acquired the capital stock of the New Process Gear Corporation and the Duesenberg Motors Corporation. The company has been known as a holding corporation, having 27 per cent. of the stock of the Willy-Overland Company and also stock of the Fisk Rubber Company and the Federal Rubber Company. There are outstanding 4,450,000 shares of common stock of no par value, $15,000,000 first preferred and $10,000,000 second preferred.

TO TAKE UP CABLE DISPUTE.

Davis Will Call International Board to New Conference.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—A call will be issued next week by under Secretary of State Davis for a reassembling of the international communication conference, which met in Washington in December and adjourned without agreement on any plan for the allocation of the former German cables. The Versailles Treaty assigned these cables to the five principal allied and associated powers for allocation among themselves by joint agreement.

The conference, at the last moment, adopted a modus vivendi, under which, beginning Jan. 1, the former German cables were to be operated to the joint account of the five powers, but providing also for the institution of a new modus vivendi in the event that an agreement concerning the cables should not be reached by Feb. 15, the new modus vivendi to go into effect March 15.

The long adjournment was taken in order that the delegates to the conference might communicate with their respective governments on questions raised at the conference here and which the delegates themselves were reluctant to decide without fresh instructions. The principal contention was over the cable from New York to Brest, which had been diverted by France from Germany during the war.

One of the proposals believed to have been under consideration would create a special fund out of the profits of the cable lines to be utilized at some future time when the amount should be sufficient for the construction of new cables suited to the needs of the United States and Italy. None of the powers would in the meantime be permitted to use the proceeds from operation of the cables until the total amount of profits made possible a balancing of profits with the values of the cables so as to permit of an equitable distribution.

This plan, it is believed, might be acceptable to the United States, Great Britain, Italy and Japan, but France is expected to oppose it.

BUSINESS IMPROVES, BUT INDUSTRY LAGS

UNEMPLOYMENT A BLIGHT

Speculative Commodities Decline, With Lowest Prices of Four Years in Some Cases.

Improvement continues in the general business situation, according to the weekly trade reviews. Stress is laid on the greater degree of confidence which is manifest, but at thesame time time attention is called to the fact that actual recessions are still to be found in some of the basic lines. In the primary markets rather less business is being done, but more activity is developing in the smaller jobbing centres.

Discussing the situation Bradstreet's review says in part:

"Improvement, slow and cautious, but nevertheless sustained, is still the keyword in the distributive branches of the leading apparel trades, which led in the turning of the trade corner in January and are still in the van of what progress is visible in the general trade and industrial situation. Less decided progress or actual recessions, however, still characterize some of the big basic lines, as, for instance, iron and steel, coal and lumber and impart an irrregular tone to the general situation. Mail-order trade is not equal to a year ago.

"Industry still suffers from the blight of unemployment, an aftermath of last year's lessened demand, and numerous reports of resumptions or of increases in time worked in some lines are partly balanced by reductions in employment in others, notably the railroads, due to lessened traffic. Prices of commodities, especially of those articles dealt in in speculative markets, incline downward, the lowest prices of this year, and in some cases of four years, being touched by many, especially the grains and cotton."

Dun's Review says:

"While the orders that flow to manufacturers are seldom of magnitude, business of moderate size is being placed somewhat more freely, and the large attendance of buyers in primary markets is a feature commented upon in various dispatches. The policy of these interests not only remains one of limiting commitments to actual and well-defined needs, but there is a disinclination to operate in quarters where the indications appear to foreshadow a further yielding of prices.

"Liquidation of retail stocks, however, is being stimulated by offerings of goods at continued reductions, and this is leading to a growing demand for small lots of merchandise to be used for replacement purposes. Purchasing for Spring is also becoming rather more confident, but it is still characterized by very noticeable caution and is likely to be restricted mainly to essential requirements for some time to come."

LOANS FOR FRENCH TOWNS.

Government Will Let the Devastated Areas Float Issues Abroad.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—The departments and towns of devastated France will be allowed to borrow money for reconstruction on their own account, according to an announcement made today at a meeting of a group of Senators from Northern France. Mining companies and sugar refiners will also be authorized by special legislation to float loans for the same purpose.

Louis Loucheur, Minister of the Liberated Regions, announced that the Government would help solve the problem of building materials by distributing at minimum prices the 400,000,000 francs' worth of material on hand.

The expectation is that a large part of these loans will be floated abroad. Negotiations already are under way involving a total of 560,000,000 francs for Rheims and Verdun. The amount needed for Verdun will probably be furnished by London, which "adopted" the city as its godchild.

APPROVES DYER BILL.

Committee Favors Tax Exemption for American Concerns in China.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Dyer bill proposing Federal incorporation of American companies doing business in China and exempting them from excess profits taxation on business in that country was approved today by the House Ways and Means Committee. It was sent to the Judiciary Committee for approval pending action by the House.

The American companies have contended that the excess profits tax handicapped them because their competitors in China were free from such a tax levy.

CHICAGO GRAINS IN SLIGHT RALLY

All Jump to Higher Levels When an Oversold Market Starts Shorts to Cover.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Liquidation was on in grains early; and, with reports of a failure of a Boston grain firm and of Argentina and Australian wheats being offered 12 to 15 cents under domestic, prices declined readily, May wheat selling at a new low on the crop, while corn and oats equaled the old low. At the inside figure, March wheat was 1.48½, or within 1½ cents of the low made last November. As compared with the high of last week, prices were off 21½ to 23¼ cents, with May leading, the March-May spread at the last being around 8¼ cents, a drop of 4¼, as compared with the finish on Monday.

A heavily oversold condition was disclosed when shorts started to cover and a bulge of 4 to 4¼ cents followed, with the finish at net gains of ½ to 1 cent. Corn finished ⅞ to ½ cent, oats ¼ to ⅜ cent, rye ¾ to 1¾ cents and barley ½ cent higher, with shorts the best buyers.

The Boston failure which was reported today actually took place last Saturday, and the trade were advised at that time to close out all open contracts, which was done that day and on Monday. Estimates as to the liabilities ranged from $30,000 to $500,000. There have been numerous rumors of late of New England firms being in trouble as the result of buying of corn for deferred shipment some time ago when prices were much higher.

Little hope is expressed that the Emergency Tariff bill will be passed by Congress, although a misconstruction placed on a Washington report today led to considerable buying. The trade is greatly puzzled over the reports that foreign wheat is offered so much cheaper than domestic and yet has the same countries in the market here for supplies. The British resale price of wheat has been reduced 2 to 10 shillings per quarter, with Argentina showing the largest decline.

In discussing the slow flour demand the head of an important Ohio mill says that the small miller has made the best of his opportunity and has been grinding a greater percentage of the actual flour used in his immediate territory than ever before, on account of the high freight rates.

Sentiment after the close was mixed. A majority of traders believed that the markets had had advance enough for the time being, as there had been no change in the fundamental conditions; but others regarded the markets as still oversold and looked for a further rally. The country has practically stopped selling cash grains, and, with unfavorable weather in prospect, some reduction in the movement is to be expected. Farmers in the Central West generally have been very hard hit by the decline in grains and live stock.

Primary points received 832,000 bushels of wheat, compared with 989,000 a week ago and 562,000 last year. Shipments were 1,023,000; week ago, 797,000; year ago, 535,000.

Corn receipts were 954,000 bushels, against 1,923,000 a week ago and 913,000 last year. Shipments, 422,000; week ago, 877,000; year ago, 427,000.

COMMODITY PRICES.

Weakness Continues in Some Staples—Flour, Butter and Lard Recede to New Lows.

There was another day of new low prices made in yesterday's wholesale markets, but in number they are fewer than the previous day. In the grains, wheat was unchanged, corn advanced ¼ cent per bushel, oats was unchanged, but flour declined 25 cents per barrel to a low for the year. In the groceries, coffee was unchanged, with sugar at an advance of 35 cents per 100 pounds. In the dairy products, butter ruled unchanged, eggs receded 4 cents per dozen to a new low. Lard dropped 20 cents per 100 pounds to a new low, with beef and pork unchanged. There were no changes recorded in the metals. Spot cotton recovered, advancing 25 cents per 100 pounds, and printcloths ¼ of a cent per pound.

SHOWS MORE COAL PROFITS.

Statistician Reveals 100 Per Cent. Gain for Several Operators.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Estimates of large profits made by some coal mining companies during 1920 as put before the Senate committee considering the Calder Coal Regulation bill, were extensively analyzed today in cross-examination by Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri.

David L. Wing, Federal Trade Commission statistician, read the operation returns of fifty-one companies from figures taken from the National Coal Association offices. These showed that one or two companies had cleared above 200 per cent. last year, and only one as little as 4 per cent. on its stated capital. The largest of the percentage profits went to operating companies in the Pocahontas field, West Virginia, several exceeding 100 per cent. A Central Pennsylvania producer, on a capital of $2,250,000, had a net income of $357,000 for nine months of 1920, Mr. Wing said, while another mine cleared $239,000 on $453,000 capital in the same period. A larger concern, valued at $9,000,000, produced 1,687,000 tons of coal, and netted profits at the rate of 22 per cent.

WHEAT DROPS IN ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 3.—Wheat futures have broken severely in the Bolsa de Commercio here during the last week, prices falling the equivalent of 30 cents per bushel on a tremendous speculative turnover equal to 2,000,000 bushels per day. It is asserted that Argentina is beginning its great annual crop movement with a surplus for exportation estimated at 3,500,000 tons of wheat, and that this country is a dominating factor in the world's grain market.

The decision of the Chicago Board of Trade on Wednesday to discontinue the posting of Argentine grain quotations is characterized by members of the Bolsa as equivalent to "an ostrich hiding his head in the sand." Many prominent members agreed today it was impossible for the Chicago board to ignore Argentine quotations, and they said that if the board refused to post them officially, grain firms in the United States would be compelled to obtain the figures on their own initiative.

Reference made on Wednesday by J. P. Griffin, President of the Chicago board, to the alleged fact that Argentine quotations did not "intelligently reflect the supply and demand situation" resulted today in local speculators bringing forward North American statistics showing that the world's wheat production exceeds consumption requirements by 170,000,000 bushels. These figures were cited to prove that the recent fall of prices, both here and in Chicago, was in obedience to economic laws.

It was pointed out that, as domestic consumption in Argentina is small in comparison with that of the United States, Argentine prices must be governed to a great extent by export demand. European buyers at present refuse to enter the market here, chiefly, it is said, because of the uncertainty as to whether the Argentine Government will reimpose the export surtax on wheat, which expired on Dec. 31. Such action was intimated recently in Government sources, and this, with the lateness of the crop and the heavy yield, is said to have caused the break in futures.

Assertion is made in authoritative quarters that in such a big market and with such a huge crop being moved it is impossible for any group of firms to dominate quotations, as was charged in the statement issued in Chicago on Wednesday. It is added that prices of wheat here represent the true situation. Brokers on the Bolsa today greeted with ironic cheers and jeers the arrival of Chicago noon quotations showing big declines.

A grain trade committee called upon President Irigoyen today, asking him for a definite declaration regarding the export surtax. The President replied that if the trade could agree on a minimum price which would safeguard the interests of farmers, "the Government would study a solution tending to satisfy all interests."

INSIST SUBWAY SUN IS OPERATING COST

But Transit Commissioner Denies Plea of Interborough on Charge of $423,000.

USED IN HIGHER FARE FIGHT

Part Paid to Lawyers and for Publicity Expense—Committee to Adjust Dispute.

The Interborough Rapid Transit Company notified Transit Construction Commissioner John H. Delaney yesterday that a disputed charge of $423,000 against the cost of operation would stand because in the opinion of the company the money was spent for operation.

Mr. Delaney's protest against the charge was printed last Monday. Under the agreement between the city and the company the latter is obliged to reply to any protest concerning the division of costs within five days. Yesterday was the fifth day.

Among the charges made by the company against operation was $181,047.58 spent in the campaign for an increased fare. This amount was used in employing the law firms of Nicoll, Anable, Fuller & Sullivan of this city and Hiscock, Doheny, Williams & Cowie of Syracuse to smooth the way for an increased fare, for reports on the financial condition of the company from two engineering concerns, and for the services of Ivy Lee, editor of The Subway Sun and The Elevated Express.

During Mr. Delaney's talk with the representatives of the company yesterday he declined to modify his protest against the charges being listed as operating costs, thus delaying the time when the city will be able to get any return on its investment in the rapid transit lines.

In closing the discussion, the company's representative asked:

"Then your position is that you will consent to no charges against operation that are not for the purpose of actually running the trains?"

"I accept that definition," replied Mr. Delaney, "as an exact description of my position."

The next step will be an attempted adjustment of the matter by two representatives which the city and the company will name. If these two fail to agree they will select a third.

J. F. AHEARN'S WILL FILED.

Tammany Leader's Estate All for His Sisters and His Widow.

The will of John F. Ahearn, Tammany leader and one time President of the Borough of Manhattan, was filed yesterday for probate in the Surrogates' Court. According to the accompanying petition filed by Lawyer Charles L. Hoffman of 141 Broadway, Mr. Ahearn left no real estate, and the best that is told as to the value of his personal estate is that it exceeds $10,000.

Dated in October of last year and witnessed by Abraham Erlanger, theatrical manager, and by Lawyer Hoffman, the will bequeathes $5,000 to each of Mr. Ahearn's sisters, Julia and Mary Ann, who live at 242 Madison Avenue, Flushing, and gives the rest of the estate to the widow, Elizabeth, of 296 East Broadway.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 4.—As a result of his confession of guilt in connection with the numerous thefts at Wesleyan University, Seymour W. Ely, a freshman at the college, who on Wednesday was arrested, was expelled from the institution today. He was released from jail late last night under $1,000 bonds furnished by his father and uncle, who live in Bridgeport. The boy and his father left the police station together.

BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday .....7¾ per cent. for the best names
Thursday .....7¾ per cent. for the best names
The quotations are for six months' paper.

Gray Goods Business Fair.

A fair volume of gray goods was moved in this market yesterday, mostly of printcloths, for delivery during this month. Buyers paid 10½ cents for 39-inch 80 squares, 10 cents for 39-inch 72-76s, 9 cents for 39-inch 68-72s and 8 cents for 38½-inch 64-60s. February shipments of 48-square four-yard sheetings were also sold at 8 cents. For 39-inch 64-104, 4.20-yard sateens 13½ cents was paid.

Agree on Carpet Openings.

Thomas A. Fernley, Secretary of the National Wholesale Floor Covering Association, has sent a letter to the members of that organization showing that the Tapestry and Velvet Carpet Manufacturers of Philadelphia agree with the wholesalers that Spring and Fall openings should take place on definite dates. The manufacturers suggest, in a resolution just passed, that the first Monday in May and November be set for the Fall and Spring openings, respectively. The Association of Wilton and Brussels Manufacturers of America has been informed of the tapestry and velvet men's action in hope that they may see their way clear to pass a similar resolution.

Skirting Demand Active.

From the present active call for skirting materials in the dress goods trade a large volume of business is expected to develop on separate skirts during the coming Spring and Summer. The initial orders taken by the manufacturers have been so satisfactory that reorders on a fairly large basis are going into the mills for additional yardage. Plaids and block stripe designs are mostly wanted, indicating that pleated effects are still regarded as the most popular type of garment. Brown and gold appear to be the favorite combination, although novelty black and white effects are very active.

Novel Handbags Sell Well.

Steady increase in the demand for women's novelty leather handbags is reported here. Among the new bags offered is a novel one with a large one-piece shell handle, the body of the bag being developed in moiré, mottled calf, vachette or pin seal leather. These bags range in price from $8 to $12 each at wholesale. Another novelty seen here, which is offered in dull morocco and bright pin seal leathers, has the body pleated near the ends. These bring from $5 to $7.50 each at wholesale. At $24 a dozen and up is offered an attractive line of tooled leather bags with "swagger" handles and narrow "flap" catches. A good call for vanity boxes also is told of, principally in black, brown, navy and gray leathers.

Hard Coal Decline Checked.

The easing tendency in the hard coal market here has been checked, temporarily at least, by the increase in the number of buyers seeking premium coal for prompt delivery, Saward's Journal will say today. In part it will continue: "It is the usual thing for consumers of the domestic sizes who stocked up early in the season to come across with repeat orders around the first of February. Because of the mild Winter there has been some doubt as to when these replenishing orders would make their appearance this year, if at all, but they seem to be coming along at the usual time and in about the normal number." The local bituminous market is in a somewhat healthier condition by reason of the cleaning up of pier accumulations.

Linen Rug Company Resumes.

Julius H. Barnes, President of the United States Grain Corporation and the Klearflax Linen Rug Company of Duluth, has announced that the Klearflax factory has been restored to operation on a full basis of two eight-hour shifts a day. At the same time the Klearflax Employe Industrial Organization has voluntarily voted to reduce the wage scale 10 per cent. In stating the intention to resume, Mr. Barnes said: "We have confidence that the daily necessities of 100,000,000 people will support our judgment in time to relieve us of accumulated product. We are influenced also in this by a sense of responsibility toward the employes dependent on this industry, and we are naturally proud of the fine spirit they have shown in meeting our proposal for a wage reduction."

St. Louis Fur Sale to Go On.

Rumors current in the local fur trade that the St. Louis fur auction was again to be postponed for two weeks were denied yesterday by J. L. O'Neil, Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company and chairman of the committee of bank representatives which is acting in an advisory capacity to Funsten Brothers & Co. of that city. Mr. O'Neil asserted that the sale would positively start on Feb. 21. No further progress in the settlement suggested by dealers indebted to the Funsten concern for goods bought at the 1920 sales was made yesterday, according to Mr. O'Neil, who asserted that the moratorium proposal of the dealers involved in the case was not being seriously regarded by the banks. He further said that proof of solvency on the part of dealers would be required in any settlement agreement reached.

Silk District to Close Monday.

Most of the silk houses in the Fourth Avenue district will close down at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon for the purpose of permitting employes to be present at the opening of the Silk Exposition at the Grand Central Palace. Orders for tickets have been very heavy, it was stated yesterday at the offices of the Silk Association of America, in some individual cases as many as four or five thousand being requested. One order for 6,000 has been received. It was pointed out that many concerns not exhibitors are proving to be among the best patrons. This is particularly gratifying to those in active charge of the exposition, since it indicates the extent to which the whole industry is supporting the event, regardless of direct benefit. Almost a hundred Fifth Avenue retail stores have promised to display silk during next week.

A Heavy Week for Buyers.

Next week promises to come near setting a record for the number of out-of-town buyers to be in this market at one time, even though March may eclipse the number reached. The visitors next week will combine several kinds of business in their trips, owing to the various commercial events scheduled. The Silk Exposition will bring many silk buyers and the convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association will bring on a large number of department heads, store owners and executives. It is known that quite a few buyers put off their trips here until conditions should become more settled and give clearer evidence of the trend of prices and styles. Others were more concerned with cleaning up stock accumulations than in purchasing new goods. The retail sales, however, are understood to have depleted stocks to a point where further buying is necessary.

Well Wishers for Men's Wear.

Probably the most sincere well wishers for the men's wear woolen business are to be found at present among sellers of dress goods, although ordinarily this branch of the market is not so interested in what happens to the other. The reason why dress goods sellers would like to see some evidence of demand for men's wear fabrics is that competition from the allied branch would be removed. A dress goods representative stated yesterday that fully 85 per cent. of those equipped to manufacture tricotines in the men's wear division are making such goods to the detriment of established mills producing fabrics for the garment manufacturers. While this may be considered a high estimate, it is quite generally accepted that the continued slump in men's wear business has caused many mills to take up tricotines and twills for sale to the women's wear trade.

W. J. FALLON IN CONTEMPT.

Nicky Arnstein's Counsel Fails to Explain Failure to Account.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 4.—Surrogate George A. Slater today declared William J. Fallon, former Assistant District Attorney of Westchester County, and who was counsel for Nicky Arnstein, in contempt of court for failing to obey a court order to show cause why he should not account as administrator of the estate of Pietro Cartaino Sciarrino of Pelham.

Mr. Fallon was appointed administrator of the estate, which is valued at more than $25,000, on Nov. 1, 1918, and on Aug. 6, 1920, Surrogate Slater revoked the letters and named the New Rochelle Trust Company in the place of Mr. Fallon.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Meetings of the hosiery and underwear buyers of the Dry Goods Alliance will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday next at 404 Fourth Avenue.

The American Export Corporation, 103 Park Avenue, has been formed under the Webb-Pomerene act to sell hosiery and underwear abroad. The corporation will represent seven mills making those goods.

THE WEEK'S PRICE TREND.

Declines in the Dairy Products Were a Notable Feature.

A slight increase in the number of advances over last week and quite a marked decrease in the number of declines featured Dun's wholesale commodities price list for the current week. Twenty-one advances were shown this week against seventeen last, while the respective totals of declines were fifty-seven and eighty-one. In the foodstuffs the excess of changes favored the declined by a slight margin. Numerically, at least, no one market or group of markets showed price strength this week.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities this week. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago.

Of the twenty-six changes in the foodstuffs list this week, fifteen were declines. Flour was cheaper here, as was lard and bacon. Hams advanced. At Chicago live hogs advanced, but live beef and live sheep were cheaper. Mess pork and short ribs both advanced.

Further weakness developed in dairy products. The best butter declined 4 cents a pound, to a point 21 cents below that which prevailed at this time a year ago. The best eggs dropped 8 cents a dozen, making a total decline of 15 cents in two weeks, and they now stand 11 cents below the 1920 comparative price. The best Western eggs also declined to the tune of 7 cents a dozen.

In the dried fruits apples and prunes advanced. In the fresh ones there were no changes listed. Choice pea beans advanced, while cabbage dropped 25 cents a barrel. In the coffees No. 7 Rio was quoted lower, while No. 4 Santos went up. Teas were unchanged. The spice list showed rises in black and white Singapore peppers and a drop in cloves. Both the best raw sugar and fine granulated dropped again.

The grain list again showed a solid decline, excepting for hay and straw. Leather was quotably unchanged, but lower prices were asked for No. 1 kip hides and No. 1 calfskin. There were no advances in hides. Hemlock, cypress, long leaf yellow pine and Douglas fir timbers and redwood bevel siding were included in the lumber declines. The only advances shown was in air-dried pine roofers.

Metals again showed price weakness, although most of the declines occurred in the minor metals. Aluminium and electrolytic copper showed advances. Antimony, spelter, lead and tin all went down. Changes in the naval stores included resin and turpentine.

The combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils showed nineteen revisions, of which onyl four were upward. Three of these were seen in the soda products. Other features were few. Eastern crude rubber was quoted lower during the week, but there was no change in the Brazilian rubber.

Textiles were not dealt with very kindly during the week. Trading lagged more or less in all branches, particularly in the unfinished cottons. The result was that a number of printcloths, sheetings and other gray cottons showed declines.

CITY TO RUN BRIDGE LINE.

B. R. T. Subsidiary Will Quit Williamsburg Service on March 1.

The Bridge Operating Company, which is controlled by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and the New York Railways Company, and operates trolley cars over the Williamsburg Bridge, will be compelled to abandon the service on March 1 when the city will operate the line as a municipal venture. The permit under which the company operated cars, expired last Summer when the company notified the city that it would be unable to meet the payments provided for, in its agreement with the city. The company was allowed to continue operation for the benefit of the public.

Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, who will have charge of the city line, announced yesterday that he had ordered forty-two cars for the new service, that a new car barn had been built by the city under the Williamsburgh end of the bridge and that the tracks and trolley wires were owned by the city. The fare over the bridge will be two cents or three tickets for five cents.

An alleged threat by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company that it would not run its surface cars over the bridge after the city takes over the bridge line was not considered seriously by Mr. Whalen.

EIGHT BANDITS ROB BANK OF $40,000

Robbery Near Reading, Pa., Follows Warning to Police That Criminals Planned Raid.

Special to The New York Times.

READING, Pa., Feb. 4.—Leaving so many clues that officers were unable to follow all of them, eight men today robbed the People's Trust Company at Wyomissing, a fashionable suburb near here, of $40,000 in cash and securities and escaped. They scattered, some in automobiles and others in trains, it is believed. The robbery was carried out in a way that indicated several days of preparation. Before executing their crime they cut the bank's telephone and burglar alarm wires.

A week ago the Reading police were informed that Reading banks were being inspected preliminary to a robbery and all of the fifteen banks were warned. The gang that executed today's robbery arrived in Reading on Wednesday and looked over the field. It is believed all the banks were visited. The Wyomissing bank is situated in a big open space on the line between West Reading and Wyomissing boroughs, two miles from the centre of Reading, and has only a small force on duty at noon.

Today at that time only three employes were on duty, L. P. Leibensperger and Charles Miller, tellers, and Agnes Bredbenner, bookkeeper. Glen Oliver and Frank Bingaman, depositors, were also in the bank.

Leaving one of their number outside in their auto, a sedan stolen on Wednesday evening from R. H. Raudenbush, a contractor, seven of the bandits rushed into the bank, presented revolvers and ordered everybody to lie down on the floor. Glass partitions were smashed to avoid delay in getting inside the enclosure. The bandits then began scooping up all the money in sight and putting it into a big bag. Some of them compelled one of the tellers to unlock boxes in the vault and dump out their contents. Then the employes and depositors were locked in the vault, the robbers shutting the door and turning the bolt, but neglecting to set the combination or time lock.

Dr. John Livingood walked into the bank while the bandits were preparing to go. One ordered him to get out and another smashed his glasses, hitting him with the butt of a revolver and taking a twenty-dollar bill from his hand. Then they fled in their car.

Mrs. Mary D. Ridgway, a woman physician who was motoring past the bank, saw the bandits struggling with Dr. Livingood and took their car number, New York 195-596. The bandits pointed revolvers at her driver and compelled him to stop while they gathered speed. Mrs. Ridgway telephoned to the Reading police, and soon city and State police from Wyomissing were at the bank.

When the captives were released from the vault Miss Bredbenner, who had been knocked down by one of the bandits, was suffering from shock. She described all the men as being well dressed and young, wearing caps pulled down over their eyes.

The bandits' automobile was found abandoned at Church and Buttonwood Streets, this city. Eight men, strangers, had bought tickets for the 12:20 Reading Railway train for Harrisburg. In the automobile were found envelopes each containing a $50 Liberty bond and eight caps, five with labels ripped out. The three remaining labels were marked Detriot, Chicago and Milwaukee.

At 2 o'clock a telephone message from Temple, five miles north of Reading on the Allentown Road, said eight men in a large automobile passed through there at high speed a few minutes before. Allentown, Pottsville, Lebanon and Harrisburg police were notified. Reading and Allentown police covered the highway between the two cities without results.

Rob Scranton Plants of $250,000 in Machinery and Materials.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 4.—Efforts are being made to round up a number of men, most of them at one time employes of the Derry Silk Company, who are said to have taken a sufficient amount of machinery from nine plants operated by the company in this section to allow them to equip a complete mill in an old factory building on Capouse Avenue.

The thieves also carried away a large amount of raw silk from the Derby plant. The value of the goods stolen is placed at $250,000.

Bill in West Virginia Legislature to Bar Agreement in Labor Contracts.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 4.—A "bill of rights" introduced into the Senate and House of Delegates at the instance of Samuel B. Montgomery, State Labor Commissioner, is being carefully reviewed by persons interested in the labor situation in West Virginia. Two important paragraphs in the bill follow:

"It shall be unlawful for any individual, firm or corporation, or agent thereof, to coerce, require, demand or influence any person or persons to enter into any agreement, written, verbal or implied, not to join or become a member of a labor union, or from associating together under the name of Knights of Labor or any other name they may desire for any lawful purpose, or for using moral suasion or lawful argument for inducing any one to join such craft or union."

"It shall be unlawful for any individual or members of any firm or any agent, officers or employes of any company or corporation to solicit or require, demand or influence any employe to enter into an agreement, verbal or written, to vacate the premises and surrender his or her domicile as a condition precedent to becoming a member of a labor union, or from associating together under the name of Knights of Labor or any other name they may desire, provided that surrendering the domicile or house shall be governed by the laws of landlord or tenant."

Violation of the law, should it be enacted, will carry a penalty of ten days' imprisonment and a fine of from $50 to $200, the money to be distributed to the school districts that are not self-sustaining."

TO BEGIN NEXT TUESDAY

Reform of Building Trades Associations, Both Unions and Employers, Foreshadowed.

Preparations were begun yesterday by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Lockwood committee, for the trial early next week of the associates of Robert P. Brindell, head of the Building Trades Council, who is now locked up in the Tombs, following his conviction on Thursday of extorting $5,000 from Max Aronson toward terminating a building strike.

The trial of John T. Hettrick, who formulated and operated the builders' "Code of Practice," which begins on Tuesday next, will not be conducted by Mr. Untermyor, who, on account of ill-health, has arranged to leave the prosecution in the hands of Colonel Henry L. Stimson, formerly United States Attorney for this district, and former Secretary of War, who will be aided by Kenneth Spence. Colonel Stimson's experience as United States Attorney has particularly fitted him for the prosecution of such a case as Hettrick's.

Mr. Untermyer also made it known that he intended to take charge of the prosecution of George Backer when the latter's case is called for retrial. The jury in the first trial disagreed.

Mr. Untermyer gave out the following statement:

"I do not care to say or do anything beyond what my official duty requires of me to add to the misery of a fellow-being or to that of his unfortunate family who must bear the consequences of his act. The State does not want victims. Prosecutions are conducted not in a spirit of malice or revenge but with sadness and reluctance and solely in order to preserve and protect organized society.

"There never was a case in which the entire community was so completely at the mercy of a single, lawless individual or where the protection against him and his kind was so essential to the community at large as well as to our great army of splendid workers and loyal citizens whose destinies he absolutely controlled.

"The next step will be to place on trial his grafting lieutenants and the master mind and men among the employers who combined together to levy tribute on every man, woman and child who occupies a home. These cases will be pressed as rapidly as possible.

"The trial of the first will begin on Tuesday morning. It will be the beginning of a series in which John T. Hettrick is involved with certain labor leaders in the attempt to coerce employers into an illegal combination by denying to employers the use of labor until they became part of this criminal conspiracy.

"On account of temporary ill health I shall be unable to take part in this prosecution, but Colonel Henry L. Stimson, with the aid of Kenneth Spence, have kindly agreed to take charge of it, so that I am sure it will be in the very best of hands.

"The day of Brindell's conviction should be celebrated by the workmen in all callings as a day of thanksgiving, not only in this city but throughout the country. In the building trades it marks the first sign of renewed light and hope for the 115,000 workmen whom he ruled with a rod of iron. To them it means the initial glimpse of real industrial freedom.

"It is right and necessary and in the public interest that there should be a council or consolidation of all the labor unions affecting the building trades so that strikes may be avoided and collective bargaining between the men and their employers may be conducted freely to the best mutual advantage. Up to this time this has not been possible.

"Rotten to the core as has been the council under Brindell, with its despotic, blackmailing methods—its grafting underlings and fawning favorites—and its thoroughly undemocratic constitution and form of government, it has not been much worse than is the Association of Building Trades Employers, under its present management, in collaboration with whom the council has worked its despotic and destructive ways hand in hand.

"For the first time there has been opened up an opportunity for reorganizing both associations so that they may hereafter serve the public that they have together robbed and betrayed. It goes without saying that the present control in both organizations must be completely wiped out and a new régime inaugurated.

"As Brindell automatically disappears from the council, his friends and supporters, Eidlitz, Donnelly and Kelly, must get out of the management of the employers' association. Strange to say that a man who has borne the reputation of Eidlitz should be a mere pawn in Brindell's hands. He and those who, with him, pursued this unfortunate policy are, at least, to some extent morally responsible for his having wrought his cruel and wicked will and of having held this town in bondage like a captured city.

"The American Federation of Labor, which has thus far shirked its duty in permitting this den of thieves to exploit the building industry, must immediately take in hand the long-neglected obligation of reorganizing the labor end, as I have been urging them to do ever since the storm caused by the Lockwood committee broke over the city and country.

"They are men of splendid integrity and high purpose whom I have learned to respect and admire, but they are too timid and bureaucratic in their methods.

"The Building Trades Council should be put back into the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor and its government should be democratized to conform to that of other unions connected with the federation, so that the workers in their local unions will again have the selection of their own representatives and will know what is going on.

"Laymen from among the workers themselves in the unions must replace the professional delegates or so-called 'business agents,' like Aldermen Keneally and Farley, who are more active in practicing city politics than in attending to the duties of their unions. Instead of being selected, as the delegates in the council now are, for a term of three years at a salary of $75 per week to do about two hours a day of work and spend the rest of the time as tenders to Tammany Hall local politics, the workers should elect them, as they formerly did, for terms of six months, and they should be real workingmen. It is, however, right that they should be well paid."

The Executive Committee of the council, according to Mr. Untermyer, instead of being a mere rubber stamp, as it has been under Brindell, should be selected by popular vote from among its delegates, and should be responsible to the members of the council.

He urged that the Employers' Association must cease to be a "cover for the practice of extortion." He said the reorganization of both associations could be effected within a few weeks, and he promised to lend his aid to effect this result.

HOOVER GIVES RED DATA TO STANFORD

In the lot already deposited in the university's library in California are more than six thousand volumes of court documents covering the complete official, and secret proceedings of the Kaiser's war preparations and his war-time conduct of the German Empire, every record, in fact, except those of the Grand Military Headquarters itself.

The only records of the Bolshevists' initial meetings and organization plans are in the collection. During a troubled period a doorkeeper sold these first Bolshevist records to a Hoover agent for $200 cash. Another large factor in the collection consists of volumes discovered in Finland. Allied permission was given to Professor Adams of Stanford, a member of the Food Relief Commission, to take possession.

From the first of his association with the interallied relief of European peoples Hoover realized the value that original documents or attested copies of them would be to future historians, and through his 1,000 agents in Europe appeals were made in every country for such material.

DECIDES AGAINST TENANTS.

Appellate Division Forbids Municipal Court Rule on Dispossess Suits.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court decided yesterday that the rule of the Municipal Court Justices providing that suits to dispossess tenants must be brought in the district in which the property is situated, in order to make it convenient for the tenants to defend the action, is illegal. The court ruled that no rule can be passed by the Justices which is in contravention of an act of the Legislature, and in this case the Legislature decided in passing the Municipal Court Code that a suit may be brought in the district in which either the plaintiff or the defendant lives.

The ruling makes it possible for an owner of property in the outskirts of Brooklyn, but who lives in the uppermost part of the Bronx, to hale the tenants to the Bronx district to defend dispossess proceedings.
